CARD OF THANKS

During the last fourteen years of employment with Delta Chi, it has been apparent to me that the Fraternity is an organization of great value for its members. In a real way, the Fraternity and the people associated with it have become a part of my own family. So it is with great sincerity that I offer my thanks for the dozens of thoughtful expressions made by the men of Delta Chi when they learned of my husband's sudden death. Please be assured that these kind and generous gestures have been an enormous help to me and my children in our time of sorrow. Delta Chi has been a very significant part of my life for many years. Its worth is now even more precious in my eyes.

Sincerely,
Marge Lee
Office Manager

New Executive Director Chosen

Raymond D. Galbreth, Missouri '69, will assume the position of Executive Director June 1. Ray, through his activities as Regent for Region 4 and as one of the motivating forces behind the establishment of the Southeast Missouri Chapter, brings to the office a highly qualified background in chapter management and services. We wish Ray much luck in the coming months, as he assumes this challenging job.

"We alumni literally hold the future of the Fraternity in our hands, yet so few of us take advantage of the opportunities afforded us to continue our fraternal experience."

Alumni hold KEY TO FUTURE

by Brad DePriest, Southeast Missouri, '78

"In the usual course of things I should have been forgotten at graduation. This is the keynote of the Fraternity. The Fraternity man never graduates. He receives his diploma and leaves his Alma Mater for the larger affairs of the world, but as long as his chapter stands, he is as much a part and parcel of it as in his undergraduate days. His success is theirs and their success is his. He belongs to the family for life. . . .

"The fellow who leaves should never think that his connection with the Fraternity ends with his graduation. It has only begun. . . ." (Founder Peter S. Johnson writing twenty years after the Founding of Delta Chi)

At one time or another during our undergraduate days we have been made conscious of the concept which Founder Johnson so eloquently addresses. All too frequently though, we as alumni fail to live up to the ideals of and commitments made to this entity we call Delta Chi. The time has now come when we must change this. The ideals and commitments of the past must receive our support today for the Fraternity to grow and prosper tomorrow.

Of the 36,000 Delta Chis alive today, approximately 94% are alumni. This is obviously the Fraternity's greatest strength, but unfortunately, it is a largely idle resource. We alumni literally hold the future of the Fraternity in our hands, yet so few of us take advantage of the opportunities afforded us to continue our fraternal experience.

The following articles are included to illustrate how important active alumni involvement is to the health of our chapters and the future of Delta Chi Fraternity. Alumni of the Florida State and S.M.U. Chapters, with the support of the Headquarters Staff, are responsible for the rebirth and rejuvenation of their respective Chapters. Two similar efforts are currently underway in the West. Alumni of the Washington State Chapter have spearheaded a re-colonization effort which will begin in several weeks. In Arizona, alumni of the Embry-Riddle

Chapter in Daytona Beach have started colonization at a new western branch of that school. Stanford alumni have been working for several years to obtain the school's permission to recolonize at that campus. The efforts of these gentlemen illustrate the potential for involvement we hold as alumni, and the effect we can have on the health and growth of Delta Chi.

Granted, very few of us currently find ourselves in a situation of this nature. These are rare instances of opportunities for maximum involvement. How many of us though, have turned down or ignored requests for assistance in Rush, participation on chapter ABTs, Housing Corporations, as "BB"s or merely invitations to attend homecomings, Founders Day celebrations, or other gatherings? The opportunities for involvement are many, and as those who have continued to work for the Fraternity in various roles will readily admit, the personal satisfaction is great.

DELTA CHI FRATERNITY

Florida State

According to records in the Headquarters Office, Delta Chi began looking at Florida State as a possible expansion site as early as 1949. However, it wasn't until a decade later that formal permission to colonize was granted. In February of 1960, Dennis Stephens, a member of the Auburn Chapter, transferred to F.S.U. and began the colonization work. By the end of the spring semester, a colony of 45 members had been established.

In the Fall of 1960, the Colony members traveled to the Auburn Chapter where they were initiated into the Bond of Delta Chi. This began a period of rapid growth and a rise to campus leadership, which led to the Chartering of the Florida State Chapter on December 9, 1961. The Chapter continued to excel on the F.S.U. campus with members holding positions in student government, varsity athletics, and leading in intramurals and scholastics. The Chapter's influence was also felt in Delta Chi on a national basis at the 1966 Convention in St. Louis. The Florida State, Wayne State, and Kansas Chapters all brought plans for an officially recognized Little Sisters organization which resulted in the formation of the Chi Delphia Little Sisters of the White Carnation.

All chapters seem to operate in cycles. Due to a combination of internal and external factors, the Florida State Chapter started on a downward trend in the 1967-'68 period. This was the beginning of a time which would have a more devastating effect on fraternity life than even two World Wars. The F.S.U. Chapter managed to hang on until 1972, when the Charter was returned to Iowa City, and the Chapter became no more than a memory in the hearts and minds of its alumni.

Several years passed before fate played its small part in the efforts to re-establish the Florida State Chapter. The November 1976 elections saw Thomas Woodruff, F.S.U. '65, and John Mica, Florida '67, elected to the House of Representatives of the State of Florida. During a casual conversation at a get-together for the freshmen legislators in February of 1977, Brother Mica and Brother Woodruff discovered that they had more in common than having just been elected to office. At that time Brother Woodruff expressed his desire to see his Chapter re-established. He felt that since he would be spending a substantial amount of time in Tallahassee, it would be an opportune time to check into the possibility. Brother Mica, a former "A" and Chapter Luminary, agreed and offered his active support.

In the next few months, Brother Woodruff contacted other F.S.U. and local Delta Chi alumni to ascertain whether or not the needed support for a new group would be available. A great deal of interest and enthusiasm was expressed in the project, so in October of 1977, Brother Woodruff contacted the Delta Chi Headquarters Office. He outlined the actions which had already been taken and wanted to determine what the next step should be. He also wanted to know what support Delta Chi could offer.

The next significant step was to obtain University permission for the colonization. Brothers Mica and Woodruff initially contacted the school administration in November. Then, on January 31, 1978, a formal presentation was made to the Florida State I.F.C. by Executive Director Larry Audelhelm and several of the local alumni. After reviewing Delta Chi's colonization procedures and the available alumni support, permission was granted to colonize in the Fall of 1978. The only stipulation attached to the agreement was that recruitment efforts could not start until the end of the official fraternity rush period.

As time passed, more detailed plans were drawn. At a meeting in March, the F.S.U. and other interested local alumni officially formed an ABT. Bob Glover and Ed Duggar, both alumni of the Florida State Chapter, were elected president and treasurer, respectively. Committees on finance and housing were also established. The men who filled these key positions were all residents of Tallahassee. It was felt that this was necessary both for ease of communication and to provide close supervision of the new group once it was formed.

In August, Brother Glover sent to the Headquarters Office a set of mailing labels provided by the University. These were the names and addresses of all incoming freshmen and returning sophomore men. A rush letter was mailed from the Headquarters Office. The letter contained a reply card to be returned to Iowa City by those who were interested. The interested men would then be contacted when a Field Secretary arrived to begin the colonization.

The initial mailing netted approximately 50 replies. This was a more than adequate response, so, on October 10, Field Secretary Brad DePriest arrived in Tallahassee to begin the colonization process. He first met with some of the alumni and with the school administration. Facilities in the Student Union were reserved through the Office of Student Organizations and the interviewing process began. Additional men were recruited through recommendations from F.S.U. sororities and advertisements in the campus newspaper.

Throughout the recruitment and education process, the alumni stayed actively involved. James Wood and Ed Duggar attended an early organizational meeting and spoke about the continuing value of Delta Chi in their lives. Brothers Mica and Woodruff, in Tallahassee for an early session of the legislature, took time out of their schedule to attend a meeting. Brother Woodruff told the members of the group some of the history of the Chapter and expressed his desire to see Delta Chi functioning at Florida State once again. Brother Mica spoke of his days in the Florida Chapter and of the growth which took place during that time period.

Field Secretaries DePriest and Ken Shepard, who arrived early in November, worked with the undergraduates on a daily basis during this time. The recruitment effort brought forth a small but talented and enthusiastic group of men. None of them has a g.p.a. less than the all men's average, and all of them were highly involved in extracurricular activities both in high school and college. Of the twelve men pledged by Christmas vacation, three were members of the Student Senate, one was a member of ROTC and one had been the State Motocross Champion of Alabama while in high school. By this point, the men had elected their own officers and were planning rush, social, and intramural activities for the Spring semester.

The members of the group also actively sought out and contacted other local alumni, using lists obtained from the Headquarters Office. This gave the undergraduates an opportunity to meet several alumni in strictly social situations and to get to know them on a personal basis.

During the week preceding Fall semester finals, Brothers Mica and Woodruff, again in town on legislative business, organized a luncheon at the Capital City Country Club. It was attended by a majority of the pledges and a good number of alumni. In attendance besides those already mentioned were Ken Dunson, an F.S.U. alumnus and a Tallahassee realtor who is currently spearheading the effort to find a house for the group, and Russ Bobo and David Cardwell, two alumni of the Florida Chapter. At this luncheon, the alumni decided that they would sponsor a rush party for the undergraduates when they returned from Christmas break.

With the money they collected from dues, the pledges mounted a rush campaign of their own. They did a rush mailing to 300 new men who were starting at F.S.U. in January. The undergraduates sponsored several rush functions of their own, along with the alumni sponsored party held at the home of Ed Duggar on January 9.

At this writing, twenty men are wearing Delta Chi pledge pins at Florida State University. This is the minimum number that the Fraternity will officially recognize as a Colony. They have fulfilled all other requirements such as social activities, participation in intramurals, and grade point and individual activity requirements. They are currently finalizing their Colony Petition for submission to the Board of Regents for approval and eagerly anticipating their initiation into the Bond of Delta Chi.

DELTA CHI FRATERNITY

S.M.U.

The Delta Chi Chapter at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas has been in continuous operation since its Chartering in 1927. It has survived a Depression, a World War, student activism, and the development of eight 100-plus men chapters on the campus. Through its long history, the S.M.U. Chapter has naturally had its ups and downs, moving from periods of campus dominance to times of mediocrity, which is no different than the vast majority of our chapters.

The mid-'70's saw the Chapter start on a downward trend. Due to the restrictions of S.M.U.'s deferred rush system, and a combination of several internal factors, the Chapter was unable to reverse its course. The situation deteriorated to the point that there was only one active member on campus during the Fall '78 semester. The general opinion of the leadership of the Fraternity was that the Charter of the S.M.U. Chapter would have to be revoked at the August, 1979 Convention.

As sometimes happens though, the problem itself brought about the solution. The S.M.U. campus environment is very pro-Greek, with the percentage of students in a fraternity or sorority fluctuating around the 50% mark. This tends to make Rush a very important aspect of a student's first year at S.M.U. and a popular topic of conversation in the freshman dorms. A group of men from one floor which had grown particularly close during the Fall semester began discussing the possibility of joining one of the struggling houses as a group. This would allow them to continue living, working, and partying together as a group for the rest of their undergraduate days as well as providing them with a life-long bond.

The R.A. of the floor stopped by the Delta Chi house and talked to the remaining active. He put him in touch with Max Hoskins, Idaho '69, the "BB" of the Chapter. The wheels began to turn from there. Brother Hoskins contacted several of the local alumni who had remained in touch with the Chapter during its lean years. He also contacted Robert Weisensel, Regent #3. Weisensel obtained a list of S.M.U. alumni in the Dallas area and sent them a letter outlining the Chapter's situation and emphasizing the need for a concerted effort on what could be the final opportunity to save the Chapter.

Max Hoskins met with the group several times and brought them over to the house on one occasion. Then on November 4, during the S.M.U. Homecoming Weekend, approximately 40 alumni met at the Chapter House and formulated plans of action for the renovation of the house and for Formal Rush. Joe Cockrell, S.M.U. '74, and former Regent for Region #3 took charge of the house renovation, and Don Sterling, S.M.U. '70, volunteered to co-ordinate activities for Rush Week. Ed Shaw, S.M.U. '69, agreed to lead the fund-raising effort. Later that day, the same group of alumni took about 30 interested freshmen to dinner at a local restaurant and discussed the possibilities the situation presented.

At that point the University intervened in the matter. S.M.U. has very restrictive rules regarding contacting freshmen before the official rush week in January. In fact, no form of communication, formal or informal, is allowed. The Advisor to Fraternities, David Hill, had to ask that the alumni have no further contact with the group since it was a violation of Rush rules. The alumni took this at face value and broke off communications with the students. However, the Pi Kappa Alpha Chapter on the campus found itself in much the same situation as Delta Chi, and began rushing the group also. In order to be as fair as possible and to serve the best interests of the Greek system, Mr. Hill allowed both fraternities to make one final, formal presentation to the dorm group. Max Hoskins and Joe Cockrell made the presentation for Delta Chi, outlining the support the group could expect and a renovation program for the house.

The next step was to prepare the house for Formal Rush. The effort was spearheaded by Joe Cockrell and Chris Harkey, S.M.U. '76. Concurrently, Ed Shaw began a telephone fund-raising campaign among the Dallas area alumni. Jack Sellers, S.M.U. '51, and Gordon Wagner, S.M.U. '49, contacted the Headquarters Office for advice, information, and materials. Brother Sellers also ordered a set of mailing labels of all S.M.U. alumni in order to send out a fund-raising letter. It was also determined that Field Secretary Brad DePriest could get to Dallas to help with Formal Rush and to help the new group get oriented to operating a Delta Chi Chapter.

Field Secretary DePriest arrived in Dallas on January 7, with formal rush to begin on the 9th. At this point, very few people would have believed the house would have been anywhere near ready in two days. However, through a concerted effort of alumni, wives, friends and girlfriends, the nearly impossible was accomplished. Within 48 hours, the entrance way, living room, stairway, upstairs hallway and one bedroom were repainted and recarpeted. A parquet floor was installed in the entrance way and new furniture was acquired for the living room. The purpose of this stage of renovation was to show prospective members just how good the house could look. Those who saw both the before and after products were the ones who were most impressed.

The final touches were finished with nearly fifteen minutes to spare before the first Rush party began. The parties were opened with short talks by Don Sterling, Brad DePriest, and either Joe Cockrell or Max Hoskins. The primary concept presented to the prospectives was the opportunity to build their own fraternity chapter. The new men coming in would have the moral and financial support of the alumni, but they would not be "pledges" to anyone. They would be their own men and would develop their own programs.

The alumni soon found that rushing came back to them much easier than they had anticipated. The week was long, but most of the men seemed to enjoy it more than they would admit. Along with S.M.U. alumni, alumni from such various chapters as Texas, East Texas, Oklahoma State, and DePauw helped at one time or another during the week.

The rushers worked hard and struggled through such handicaps as computer foul-ups (of the rush lists) and an unfortunate amount of dubious rush activities conducted by some of the other houses. It was also just difficult for many freshmen to commit themselves to such a great responsibility. At any rate, there are currently 11 men wearing Delta Chi pledge pins at S.M.U. They have elected a full slate of lettered officers. The men are actively rushing with several current prospects. Several social events have already been planned, and the ground work for a Little Sisters group has been laid. The Delta Chis will be participating in intramurals this spring. They keep in close contact with the alumni, who they consider their greatest asset. Several of the alumni are actually acting as Big Brothers, and the alumni will initiate the new members.

Many more men deserve recognition for their help with the house and during Rush. They are: Larry Wilk, Jack Lovette, Tim Reifsteck, Mark Mueller, Bob Pruitt, Scott Marcus, John Leslie, Tom Hall, Leon Berry, Roger Smith, Ken Smith, Jim Smith, Merle Smith (Merle and Jim are father and son), Robert "Corky" Smith, Glen Harding, Jr., Dick White, and Bob Roach, all of S.M.U.; Karl Anderson of DePauw, and Sherman Burns of East Texas. Special thanks and commendations should be accorded Mr. Herbert Chandler who was initiated into the Texas Chapter in 1918. Brother Chandler has been involved with the S.M.U. Chapter since it was colonized. He helped draw the floor plans and acted as the general contractor for the house when it was built. Brother Chandler has maintained continuous contact with the Chapter through the years, in fact, his mother was House Mother for the Chapter for many years. He has continued to be an active participant in the current rejuvenation effort. Mr. Chandler exemplifies the living spirit of Delta Chi. Many more alumni have mailed in financial contributions, but the support must continue in order to have the house completely renovated for the new members to move in by next Fall.

Epilogue

Though some of you will not view these results as particularly earthshaking, the fact is that there are new living, growing forces where just a short time ago there was nothing. These two examples serve to illustrate just how much the alumni working in conjunction with the Headquarters Office can accomplish. It is hoped that these articles will cause some of the alumni to become more responsive to their own chapters and the chapters near their homes. For though the alumni are great in number now, without the undergraduate chapters, the death of Delta Chi would become only a matter of time. The alumni and the chapters must work hand in hand to preserve the Delta Chi Experience for the future.

Correction

On last issue's back cover it was incorrectly stated that the Delta and Chi Awards - given out by the Educational Foundation - are cumulative awards. Rather, the Delta and Chi Awards are given out to members who contribute 500 and 1000 dollars respectively, over a period of five and ten years respectively.

Delta Chi Educational Foundation

Outside the wind and temperature combine for a wind chill factor so far below zero that it is a welcome relief to think of the springlike conditions which should prevail when this issue of the Quarterly is read. (The necessary lead-time to edit, print and distribute the Quarterly dictate that this page be written at the end of the coldest January on record in the Midwest.) Of the four seasons, spring is probably the favorite by far.

Each season brings on its own special memories and recollections which are strictly private and personal. But spring also represents some common thoughts and events which are of particular importance to all of us. Our acceptance into college, and possibly graduate school, come in the spring. The decision of which job offer to accept as we prepare to leave the "sheltered" life of the academic community and face the "real world" and all of its hazards.

Sometimes we lose sight of the "real world" experience which we gained while in college. Ian Stewart, completing three years as the first Chairman of the Campus Planning Committee at Cornell University made the following observation in 1976:

Twenty-five thousand people study, work, and live here. In almost every respect it is a microcosm of a small city. As such, it has urban problems which have to be solved and certain potentials which ought to be realized. For example, it is clear that the campus has substantial parking and traffic ills, a housing shortage, problems of open space encroachment, an aging set of utilities, issues of coordination with surrounding municipalities, and, increasingly, the problems of suburbanization as the campus necessarily sprawls out most easily along its fringe. In short, then, the campus can be viewed as a small scale urban center very much in need of traditional planning and management skills.

By any measure, our college experiences have been similar. We found in our Fraternity the friendship and support which we now find in our neighbors and workers. College was just a training ground, a laboratory for our future life. At school we learned to plan our time in the context of a week or two; somehow managing to a) make it to the big party, b) get the term paper handed in on time and c) get some sleep (generally in that order!). As graduation came closer, our planning became longer term; the questions of job, life style, and the like had implications beyond the next party weekend.

By any measure the transition period between winter and spring is the time for serious planning and looking to the future. Often when we plan for the future we look only to the next "party weekend" or we make the equally likely error of considering only the "big picture" and ignore the many steps necessary to achieve an objective. We ignore the unquantifiable number of careful preparations and plans that go into making anything a reality. James Gould Cozzens's Judge Coates, in The Just and the Unjust, observed:

In the present, every day is a miracle. The world gets up in the morning and is fed and goes to work, and in the evening it comes home and is fed again and perhaps has a little amusement and goes to sleep. To make that possible, so much has to be done by so many people that, on the face of it, it is impossible.

It is easy to take the "big picture" for academic achievement. We reward those with the highest grade point average - rarely do we give any, let alone equal, recognition to those with the most improved averages. Even when we do give even token recognition to improvement, we are concerned only with the end result.

The Delta Chi Educational Foundation would like to develop and implement a program to give each Chapter and Colony a positive way to help its members sharpen and improve their study skills. Frankly we do not have the resources to be able to do this alone. We need your help.

If you are aware of some proven and effective programs which could be made available to us, or have some experience and ideas which you feel would be effective in developing such a program from the ground up, please contact us. If you would like to help underwrite such a project (perhaps even on a pilot basis in your Chapter) we would appreciate your tax-deductible support. All comments and contributions should be addressed to Mr. Victor T. Johnson, President, Delta Chi Educational Foundation, P. O. Box 110, Iowa City, Iowa 52240.

Georgia Southern begins '79 with Charter; Banquet presents opportunity to celebrate success

On January 20, 1979, some new blood was injected into the Greek System at Georgia Southern College with the chartering of Delta Chi. The charter is a result of a two-year effort that began when Brother Richard White contacted Field Secretary Dino DiBernardi — and a colony was formed.

This is the second time a chapter has been organized at GSC. The original group had a letdown after its chartering and folded quickly.

Our chapter, however, because of its tremendous involvement in the Greek System as well as strong regional relations sees chartering not as the end of a long struggle, but the beginning of a new, more challenging one — the establishment of a chapter house.

The Greek System at Georgia Southern is relatively young, with the first fraternity being chartered in 1966. Expansion set in, and now the campus boasts 13 fraternities and eight sororities. The Delta Chi Chapter is the first to be chartered in six years.

The chapter has many accomplishments to be proud of. U.S. Congressman Bo Ginn was initiated at Georgia Southern, and soon after a bid was offered to President Carter, who politely declined.

Never letting up or allowing the thought of failure to enter our minds, we set about involving ourselves fully in Greek Week activities, though our small size put us at a disadvantage.

Soon growing to over 35 members, we expanded our projects to include drives for the Heart Fund, Miller Brewing Company clean-up, and the Statesboro community.

To benefit the city's Department of Family and Children's Services, we "kidnaped" the Mayor and held him for charity ransom.

Scholastically we are the most consistent fraternity, not having finished lower than fourth in quarterly GPA for over a year.

We do not consider ourselves as an "intellectual fraternity," though. Diversity is our strongest point. There is at least one brother in every academic area, and personal interests range from war-gaming to weight lifting.

Helping to fill out a man's character while not conforming him to one set of values is our purpose, and through the intense brotherhood of the Delta Chi Chapter at Georgia Southern College, that purpose can be carried out for years to come.
