FALL 1985

My Kind of Fraternity . . .

45th Convention
A Real Winner!

FOUNDERS' DAY MESSAGE

Greetings to all brothers in the Bond of Delta Chi and to their families on this the ninety-fifth observance of our founding. As we gather to talk about events and happenings of our undergraduate days and to renew the fellowship that sets our Fraternity experience apart from most other associations and friendships, we should remember how important it is for each of us to be good stewards and continue to support our Fraternity with our God-given time, talents and monies. Without these contributions from each of us, our Fraternity will not continue to grow and prosper. Our "Brotherhood of a Lifetime" needs your participation and support if it is to flourish and prosper as each of us desires.

Our Fraternity has embarked upon an ambitious expansion program in hopes of achieving one hundred active chapters by our 100th anniversary which is only five years away. To accomplish this means we will need more alumni willing to volunteer their time, talents and monies to help us achieve this goal in an orderly and business-like fashion. Our new colonies and chapters will need mature guidance and direction from our alumni members so that they will grow and prosper too. I have observed in my thirty-one years as a Delta Chi that our best chapters are strong because they have a loyal and dedicated group of alumni members who continuously oversee and guide our undergraduate members in their development as chapter officers and caretakers of our Fraternity's future. These alumni volunteers may come from persons who were undergraduate Delta Chi members; but, lacking this source, our chapters are encouraged to initiate those adults who are not members of any other college fraternity and are willing to serve on the Chapter Housing and Alumni Boards. Good sources of these volunteers are: family members of the undergraduate brothers (such as fathers, brothers, uncles, etc.); members of the clergy; faculty members; members of the local Masonic Lodge and Knights of Columbus. Others, not eligible for initiation but who can serve on the Alumni Control Board, are mothers of the undergraduate brothers or fathers who are members of other college social fraternities. By this broadening of our volunteer alumni base, we can more easily provide for the support team necessary to assure our continued orderly growth and success of the new expansion chapters.

This is my first Founders' Day Message as your forty-first "AA" of The Delta Chi Fraternity. It is indeed my pleasure to serve. I ask that all of our members throughout the world remember the benefits of our Fraternity as they wear their badge and a white carnation and recall the words in our song, "The Bond of Delta Chi".

Fraternally,

Fredrick B. Hammert

CONVENTION '85

"I had more fun than humanly possible. I learned a lot and have made memories which I will cherish for a lifetime!"

NEWEST RETIRING "AA" SALUTES THE MEN OF DELTA CHI . . .

... at our 45th Convention, Chicago 1985. It was clear that Delta Chi had set a new standard by which we shall measure our Fraternity for the future. All members, alumni and undergraduates, have every reason to be proud of their Fraternity. We have just concluded our Convention which had the largest delegation (274) and the largest Alumni Banquet (389) ever. In our history, never have we had so many men of Delta Chi at one place at one time. Finally, we now have the largest number of chapters and colonies (87) since 1890. My personal thanks to the Headquarters Staff, Board of Regents, undergraduate members, and alumni for making this possible. Indeed — this is our "finest hour" and a challenge for all of us for tomorrow.

Fraternally,
Raymond F. Borelli, IL '58
Retiring "AA"

"I am very proud to be a Delta Chi and this weekend has enhanced my pride."

"The brothers I have met, the friendships I have made, all add to my idea of what belonging to a fraternity is all about. They have solidified my belief that Delta Chi is not only the brotherhood of a lifetime, but the best fraternity ever!" ΔX

1984-85 Award Winners are ...

The Delta Chi Awards Program is designed to recognize and promote those areas which are critical to the success of a chapter. The oldest award, the "E" Key, combined with the Outstanding "C" Award recognizes the individual performance of two vital chapter officers.

In recognition of a chapter's performance on campus and within the community the Outstanding Campus Leadership Award, the Outstanding Intramural Program and the Outstanding Service Projects Awards are presented.

Four awards deal with the alumni program of the chapter: The Outstanding "BB" Award, The Outstanding Alumni Association, The Outstanding ABT and The Outstanding Newsletter.

For the Award of Excellence, the Fraternity was divided into two divisions: Red and Buff. The Red Division contains those chapters which compete with 15 or more fraternities on their campus or whose Greek System has over 40% of the undergraduate student body. The remaining chapters then make up the Buff Division. The winners of the Award of Excellence showed strength across the board. In most cases they were award winners in several of the special award areas. When they were not, they simply showed consistently above average performance in all areas with no area of weakness.

From the recipients of the Award of Excellence, the "AA" selects at least one and no more than three President's Cup winners in each division.

Notes From the Road

... clean sheets, good friends and the art of parallel parking

By David Surber, Colorado '83

Eleven months goes a lot faster when you're logging somewhere in the neighborhood of 40,000 miles between the car and various airborne conveyances — I hesitate to refer to some of them as "airplanes" — and are thrust in among, on average, 60 or so new faces every few days.

In case you didn't know, we've been doing a lot of expansion lately. Of course, when doing an expansion, there is no chapter; therefore, no chapter house. So we find a motel. Now as luck would have it, on many excursions into uncharted territory, the Holiday Inn has been home. You know, Holiday Inn smells the same everywhere. Really! The miracle of franchising. With some exceptions, it is not the name we look for when the motel need arises — it's a little rich for our blood — but you take what's available. Some of these towns only have three motels, and two of those are usually rather rustic, if you know what I mean. ...

But I digress.

What I really want to talk about is friendship. And the spirit of service. I continue to be moved by the depth of commitment to the Fraternity exhibited by many alumni, wives and undergraduates. And by their generosity too — with time, money, with their trust and enthusiasm. I probably notice it more because during the last year I've so often found myself on the receiving end of large and small favors alike.

In the case of undergraduates, it may involve leaving behind for a couple days studies, girlfriends or that precious weekend at home, usually going out of their way to be accommodating. It's a true indication of character and class when you find that not only has someone at the chapter house volunteered their bed for you to use, they've also set out some bath towels.

And laundered the sheets. Little things make all the difference.

Nevertheless, I'm sure that more than one officer's steady has cursed me and my unscheduled executive committee meetings, and no matter how well the visit has gone everyone relaxes a little when the consultant finally trundles off toward the horizon.

Alumni and their wives open their homes and their lives to you, taking time away from families and careers, never expecting any more than a simple "Thank You," which in most cases seems completely inadequate.

It's humbling when you consider the enormous personal investment these people have made in Delta Chi. There's no way for us to measure the impact they continue to have on the Fraternity. Some of them tell of having had to close their own chapter, yet in the same breath talk of the excitement they feel being part of a fraternity that is getting better.

Most impressive though is that they're almost always immediately prepared to become your friend, simply on the strength of the Delta Chi connection. One reason is probably the lack of time, but I think it has more to do with two people recognizing at once that they can communicate; that each shares with the other some basic underlying values which attract like a magnet. You stay close through periodic notes scribbled or hurriedly typed between stops, and the occasional phone call. The letters coming back go a long way towards filling the void caused by leaving your friends behind almost as fast as you make them.

They're almost always immediately prepared to become your friend, simply on the strength of the Delta Chi connection.

But there are opportunities for reunions, like Convention. And always the knowledge that if the road passes through Denver or Atlanta or New York or Chicago or Oklahoma City — or Oshkosh, Kirksville or Chico — I'm not alone. Most fieldmen would probably agree that it's a particularly warm feeling to meet up with someone who got involved, or reinvolved, as the result of a visit made while on staff.

A special camaraderie exists between those who have worked for the Fraternity and the ones currently living out of a suitcase. (OK, two suitcases, a garment bag and a briefcase). There's always the offer to come sleep in a real home for a night, and the promise that Delta Chi won't be mentioned. But of course the talk is of little else.

With one important difference: instead of explaining, or analyzing, or defending, you trade stories. And laugh at the experiences you both share.

It's been largely through conversations with former fieldmen and older alumni — not necessarily old, just older than me — that the history and heritage of Delta Chi has been brought much closer to home. A number of us, young and old, don't realize how much the Fraternity has changed since the radical years of the late '60's and early '70's. Some find it hard to believe we have really come so far. Others, perhaps recently initiated, can't conceive of anything less than what we now have, and hunger for more.

For many years we had been a small, distinguished fraternity with limited resources and relatively autonomous chapters. Quality control on a national level was spotty at best, but early on that wasn't much of a problem. We were law students, after all, from the best schools in the country, with tightly knit small chapters. In the early years there was even a stated maximum membership of 15 in the Constitution! In some circles it was thought that unique differences in the ritual and other aspects of the organization gave each chapter "individuality." The nature of the organization lent itself to decentralization and a lack of standardization.

Imagine what we could do if the chapters, colonies and alumni spoke with one voice on the big issues.

Today the story is a little different. Since 1975, our number of initiates has jumped from 1129 to over 1700 this year. Average chapter size has risen from 39 to 52. Twenty-three percent of our active chapters are less than ten years old, and those we have started during the last four years average 55 members each. As we have frequently mentioned on the road this year, it is an exciting time to be a Delta Chi!

But you might say that much of this progress has occurred in spite of ourselves, because Delta Chi is accomplishing all this with, on average, one-third as many staff positions as other fraternities our size; with considerable variations on how the theme of the Fraternity is interpreted locally; with over $90,000 in overdue bills owed to the Fraternity by its own chapters!

We need a better-equipped maintenance arm. It's a challenge to muster the resources and enthusiasm for servicing — and monitoring — each outpost in a far-flung and growing enterprise, including a widely dispersed body of alumni. But do

ANNUAL REPORT 1984-'85

The strength of our fraternity is based on our members' lifelong commitment

Those who remember their Bond ...

NOTE: Any member who donated after July 1, 1985 will have his name listed in 1986.

Our records of consecutive giving go back only nine years. The number following the class year denotes the number of years as a consecutive contributor. We recognize many brothers have contributed far longer than this and we appreciate their lengthy and continual support of the Fraternity.

STANFORD

we have any choice? We decided in 1923 to pursue a future as a general social fraternity, and with that vote, assumed the responsibility for acting like one. We've never really made a complete shift away from the loosely organized, independently programmed association concept of our past. Remnants of that style remain with us today, and have a significant impact on Delta Chi in its present state.

Not too many of our seventeen-hundred-and-some initiates this year — and none of the Founding Fathers at our nine new colonies — have been sold on the idea of joining a cheap fraternity, or one where few carry the load for many.

They want value and are willing to pay for it with money and effort, and also in the hard decisions they are making locally to help ensure healthy, long-lasting, "class" operations. In return they expect consistency in the concept of Delta Chi. They want to be able to point with pride to neighboring chapters, and to know that those brothers in other states hold close the same values and expectations.

Imagine what we could do if the chapters, colonies and alumni spoke with one voice on the big issues, on the nation-wide standards required to win — and keep — a Delta Chi franchise. Only with enthusiastic affirmation at the local level can the General Fraternity — and by that term I mean each of us, not some abstraction known as "Nationals" — cease to support, encourage or condone through inaction, substandard performance.

More than anything else, we need more consensus.

It's the same idea as with cars. I mean, how many cars mess themselves up? When a part fails on an automobile, it's for one of two reasons — it either just wore out and needs to be replaced, or the driver abused it. If the manufacturer used enough care putting the car together, then with regular maintenance and a few preventative measures — like rustproofing — most of the first kind of problem can be dealt with simply, if not avoided altogether.

But what about the second kind? Whether through drunkenness, stupidity or garden-variety ignorance, a negligent driver can, in as little time as it takes to read this paragraph (some acts of ignorance will take longer; your mileage may vary), turn the same carefully prepared machine into modern art or landscaping. Preventive maintenance here — in the form of education and legislation — can reduce somewhat the threat of driver failure, but a bad law can just as easily make the problem worse.

Likewise, incomplete or inferior education can create a menace on the road. It's no big secret that more than a few "drivers" couldn't parallel park their way out of a paper bag, let alone control a skid. The false confidence instilled by providing a license — acknowledgment by the state that sufficient skills are present — to obviously underendowed members of the motoring public just drives up our insurance rates, and provides additional ammunition for those who would reduce both the vehicle and the art of driving itself to the lowest common denominator. . . .

Just as we could do much to improve the quality of drivers, the condition of our highways, the performance capabilities of our vehicles — so can we work as a group to improve those aspects of the Fraternity which are in need of attention, while refining our strengths. We could then raise the speed limit!

The catch of course is that the General Fraternity can only implement as much as the chapters are willing to support — both philosophically and financially.

In order to maintain a true sense of "Delta Chi" throughout this expanding assemblage of ours, in order to ensure that consistency which we spoke of earlier, we need more of everything. Money. Staff. Programming. Undergraduate commitment. Alumni support. More than anything else though, we need more consensus.

Complaints are often heard at chapters who stay current with their financial obligations regarding those whose bills continue to mount. They're right to complain. Others look at those who owe and use them as an excuse not to pay in full and on time. Shouldn't we instead encourage each other to look for examples to live up to?

Are we willing to close chapters — even old ones — for non-payment? How about for hazing? Or for poor management, basement-level scholarship, or chronic non-compliance with the Ritual? In most cases (except for hazing) a number of the previously mentioned conditions will, in combination, interact to drag the chapter down.

What does "diversity" mean? For some of our groups it has been defined as the absence of any commonly accepted standards of behavior or achievement, while taking academic, social and financial hardship cases in order to "round out the membership."

For our future it seems a more appropriate definition would be, "... a collection of individuals who share the same basic aspirations — academic, social and financial success, well-developed personal and professional ethics, a sincere concern for other people — but who excel in various areas and seek to make their mark on the world in their own way."

It is admirable that in all these years, without a major change, we have been able to attain the level of quality and sophistication which we currently enjoy. However, some of our chapters are operating on the second tier in terms of overall quality. By reflection, this makes us all appear less successful. Besides the internal problems they cause, chapters which are not holding their own cost us opportunities to expand at other schools in the area, or dissuade good men from rushing other Delta Chi chapters. Don't laugh — I've seen both.

If we truly believe in our ability to rush the highest caliber men we must consistently provide a first-tier experience. If we will in fact move permanently and wholly into the first tier, the impetus must come from the chapters and colonies together with the other elements of our organization. We need to permeate every crevice and dusty corner of Delta Chi with the notion of success, and with the expectation of excellence.

After all, we've never come to believe that second tier is high enough, have we? My friends tell me no.

DAVID SURBER is a Chapter Consultant for Delta Chi. He graduated from The University of Colorado in December, 1983 with a degree in Journalism, and is one of the Founding Fathers of the Colorado Chapter. He joined the Delta Chi Headquarters staff in July, 1984. During the last year, Dave has visited 33 chapters and colonies, and has been involved with seven expansions.

Directory Questionnaires To Be Mailed

Work on the Alumni Directory is well under way. Soon all alumni will receive a brief questionnaire with a follow-up request to be sent one month later. The prompt return of these questionnaires is essential so that the information in the directory will be current and complete.

Alumni will then be contacted directly by the Harris Publishing Company to verify information for the directory and to see whether they wish to purchase a copy. Alumni with current addresses who have not responded to the questionnaire and are not reached by phone by Harris representatives, will appear in the directory with the information provided by alumni records.

Watch for your questionnaire and be sure to return it promptly!

Chico: Off to a Great Start

Dear Mr. Galbreth,

My name is Chris Douville, and I am a Founding Father and the IFC Representative at California State University, Chico Colony.

I would like to start by saying how much we all deeply appreciate the support given us by Dave Surber and the Headquarters Office. We are all thankful for your support and confidence in us.

I have been at Chico State for one year now. From the second week of the Fall 1984 semester I had considered pledging a fraternity. During Rush Week I visited as many of the 13 fraternities in town as I could. There are many good men in the fraternities I visited that week, but the fraternities as a whole just didn't provide what I wanted. Nevertheless, I was about an inch away from pledging Tau Kappa Epsilon or Theta Chi. Jeff Albright, now our president, told me that Delta Chi was a general fraternity that placed emphasis on academics, community service and the promotion of friendship. I knew that night that I would like to help Jeff start a colony.

Interest in this new project spread throughout our off-campus dorm. I'm not exaggerating when I say that at least 20 of our original 24 members had also considered joining a fraternity. After talking to them I found that they had most of the same misgivings I did. Hazing, indiscreet drunkenness and a general disrespect for non-Greek affiliated students seemed to be a trademark of many of the Greek organizations in Chico. It is no wonder that only about 9 percent of the student body is Greek affiliated. From our first meeting as Nu Delta Chi (local fraternity), we decided upon, and like to consider ourselves "a class act." I, for one, am determined to not perpetuate the typical "frat boy" image in Chico. It is for these reasons and many more that I am proud and extremely honored to be a member of Delta Chi. Your confidence in us, demonstrated by recognizing us as a colony on April 17, is very much appreciated.

As soon as I was named IFC Representative I began attending the weekly meetings. I presented our request to be recognized in early March. I was unprepared for some of the accusations and animosity thrown at us during the next meeting. The two main thrusts of their arguments were that 1) Our presence would deny them potential pledges and that 2) We started our own fraternity because we didn't have the courage to go through their pledge programs. When they finally voted on us during the last week of classes, eight of the 10 representatives present voted against us. We all anticipated that this would happen, so enthusiasm remained high.

Despite the high ratio of "no" to "yes" votes, Delta Chi does have some allies in IFC. President Chris McLean, a Sigma Nu, has been favorably impressed with us and has gone far out of his way to see that Delta Chi gets a fair chance. The Greek system in Chico, after years of sub-adequate performance, is on the verge of positive reform. Rick Rees, the faculty Student Affairs Director, told us that Chris is the best president IFC has had in many years. An idealist, Chris has written articles and given radio interviews in Chico about hazing and defying the negative "frat boy" image. His presentations are parallel to the beliefs and philosophies of Delta Chi. He has been a staunch supporter of our efforts and we are grateful to him. Also very helpful in our efforts has been Steve Henderson, former IFC representative and new president of Theta Chi's Chico Chapter. Chris and Steve have both termed Delta Chi as "progressive." Chris even went so far as to say that we could be the "movers and shakers" of the Greek system in Chico in as little as a year.

I am very happy to be a Founding Father of Delta Chi. It was extremely hard and time-consuming work. To be frank, there have been times when I have second-guessed my decision to help Jeff. In all honesty, I didn't know what I was getting into. But I have no regrets. There are 62 men in Chico whom I call brothers. I am confident and proud of all of them, and I cannot overemphasize how happy I am to be a member of Delta Chi. I will strive to make our colony the best it can be. We are all grateful to you, Dave Surber and the Headquarters office for your time and support.

Sincerely and In the Bond,
Chris Douville

Florida '60-'65 Reunite

"Dear Comrades, Let Our Voices Mingle. . . ." And mingle they did, at the Florida Chapter of Delta Chi reunion for classes of 1960-65 in Winter Haven, Florida, over the weekend of May 4th, 1985. For most it was the first time seeing their fraternity brothers again since college days.

The reunion idea was developed by Don MacDonald and Horace Dinkins of Florida Chapter and capped a four-month effort to contact all brothers from those years. Only six brothers were "lost," and, of brothers contacted, the reunion had a 65% attendance. Most remarkable were the brothers who came from halfway across the country to attend — some coming to Florida from Colorado and Maryland.

A table of memorabilia was set up and pictures, paddles, letters and trophies were there for all to see. A vintage juke box with records of music popular in the early '60's provided a musical backdrop. In the evening all were present at a dinner with several speakers. After the dinner all were invited to a house party where the evening was spent in fellowship and fun with nick-elodeon pianos and antique juke boxes to entertain.

Nicknamed "The Last Chapter Meeting" it was unanimously decided that this should, in any event, NOT be the "last" meeting of any sort, and a promise to do it all over again in five years met with great enthusiasm. But the most emotional moment of the evening was the singing of The Bond, as most brothers had not sung it since Delta Chi college days.

All brothers attending the reunion were given a list of updated addresses and phone numbers of their brothers from 1960-1965, and from that list anyone can arrange for local parties or get-togethers. And efforts are continuing to locate those brothers (and some of the outstanding pledges) whose addresses we did not have, so that the next reunion may include them.

To say that "a good time was had by all" would fall far short of the great times all had with their Brothers of the Bond that evening.

Cecil Coleman '50, has been selected the 1985 winner of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics' James J. Corbett Award. The award honors athletics administrators with particular devotion to intercollegiate sports.

Brother Coleman, former University of Illinois athletic director and presently commissioner of the Midwestern City Conference, has had 34 years of involvement with intercollegiate sports. He has served as athletics director at California State University, Fresno, and at Wichita State University.

MISSOURI

Ronald R. Day '58, was honored as 1985 Reproductions Manager of the Year by the printing and publishing magazine In-Plant Reproductions. Brother Day, director of Indiana University Office of University Publications and Printing Services, was chosen for the award for his skills "particularly in the areas of personnel relations, financial and production reporting and installing new technology." He was the subject of the magazine's April 1985 cover story. Following are excerpts from that article.

Starting out his career with a bachelor's degree in journalism, Day sold advertising for newspapers before turning to writing for the Stewart Howe Alumni Association. The experience there (as publications manager) qualified him to be hired as a production editor of the University of Illinois Press. In 1971 he was promoted to assistant director of publications.

In 1975, Day received a call from the retiring director of publications and printing at Indiana University, asking if he knew anyone who might be interested in the job. "I really applied for the job to get a feeling of what it is like to compete." Before long he had the feeling of what it is like to be the director.

He started with a plan to spend $100,000 a year in equipment replacement. "I took a lot of heat from my supervisors who said, 'You can't spend that much money on replacing equipment — that's just crazy.' Well, it doesn't seem so crazy at today's market value."

It was the installation of a computer used for typesetting that most dramatically changed the printing services operation in recent years. "We came to the conclusion that technology was roaring in on us. We had to have something that could bring work from the university's computer mainframe and minicomputers in any fashion so we could typeset it. The production of the class schedule used to take two weeks. We now have overnight turnaround."

Day really wears two hats. As director of printing services for the university's eight campuses, he is responsible for production and procurement of printing. As director of publications, he oversees a staff of editors, writers, graphic designers, clerical and business personnel who create the official information of the university. The total staff numbers about 75.

Planning is a keystone in Day's operation, because he thinks it is the sign of a mature organization. Therefore, regular meetings are held with representatives from various departments.

They in turn go back and discuss the subjects of the meeting with their staff. "We reach out to find if anybody else in the organization has a solution that we hadn't thought of."

"I think it's part of a manager's role to make employees feel that they are professionals." One way to reinforce that is through delegation of responsibility. Another is by entering work in national contests, in which Indiana University has won several awards. Still an additional method is by having employees attend printing shows or
