FOUNDERS' DAY MESSAGE

We need to talk . . .

There is a famous allegory in Plato's Republic concerning a cave. Chains hold men living in the cave so they cannot leave or even look out of the cave. All they know of the outside world is what they can see from shadows cast on the walls. Plato goes on to speak of the contrast in the views and knowledge of these men and those of one of them who has been to the outside.

They can understand little of what he now knows or describes, but he also finds it difficult, even undesirable, to understand their view of life, shaped as it is by limits in their knowledge and experience that no longer bind him.

At an autumn lunch three Delta Chi alumni spoke about the difference that being a fraternity alumnus makes in the value of Homecoming. They recounted the difficulties they have had over the years explaining their fraternity experience, and especially the reasons why they place such an enormous value on having joined Delta Chi, to those who are not Greek alumni.

Only a few weeks ago, I sat in a chapter meeting and listened to the brothers debate and vote on motions to extend bids. Some complained that more than one of the rushees had spoken of little more reason for wanting to join than a desire to play on the chapter's successful intramural teams, questioning whether anyone with such a limited interest in the fraternity's activities was suitable for membership. Another brother, however, forcefully reminded them that in fact nearly all he had heard the brothers talk about during rush was athletics, so they could only blame themselves for the rushees' limited perspective.

These stories all relate to one of our chronic problems, namely, the inability to explain to non-Greeks just what we are and why we value our fraternity. One would think that an experience that is so comprehensive and affects us so profoundly would be easy to describe, but for the most part we are like the man who is revisiting Plato's cave, utterly unable to convey what we know and have experienced. As with Plato's "enlightened" man, part of our problem is that we find it difficult to remember how we fewer and fewer non-Greeks have the opportunity or the desire to understand us viewed the world before Greek life — through challenge and growth and brotherhood — changed us, and so we often fail to explain fraternity in terms that our non-Greek listener can understand. Unprepared or unwilling to make the necessary effort, we resort to superficial simplicities, speaking of things like athletic victories or parties, which actually matter little by themselves because they are really only symptoms of something far deeper, more emotional, more personal, and even more intellectual and spiritual than we are comfortable discussing. It is ironic that the fraternity experience, an ultimate example of male bonding and the realization of emotions among us, leaves us somehow debilitated in our capacity to discuss the brotherhood that we treasure.

There is no simple solution, but there are steps that we can take. Think back to before we joined, and remember and appreciate how non-Greeks view the world, especially how they view us. Then, starting from their perspective, explain what we are. Learn how to find the words by sitting among ourselves and talking about the reasons we joined, the reasons we have stayed, the reasons why we would want our best friend (or younger brother, or son) to join, the reasons why our families and friends have come to understand our loyalty and devotion, and the reasons why we would never give it up. To put it bluntly, we must find the words, or we run the risk of being unable to justify our existence whenever, however, or by whomever it is challenged. For the most part those challenges are not new, but as society grows and our world becomes ever more diverse and complex, fewer and fewer non-Greeks have the opportunity or the desire to understand us. We must rise to this new challenge or it may overwhelm us. The response begins with each of you, whenever you discuss Greek life with a non-Greek. If Delta Chi is truly a thing of value, we will be able to show those who have not been where we have been by describing the joys of our journey.

Hard Work Pays Off for Montevallo

If asked what caused the change at Montevallo, "A" Chris Royal would answer, "hard work."

The chapter decided two years ago that it was time for a change. "We decided the best way was to bring in new people with new ideas, so a big emphasis was placed on rush," said "B" Pat Conn. Chapter size doubled to 56, the largest since the group chartered.

"I've been here through the hard times, and it's been great to be part of the changes that have turned the chapter around," stated senior Tom Carlton. "All the changes have not been big ones. Some were small, but they have made us stronger."

Some of the biggest changes occurred because of the insight and direction of alumni and of O. J. Carson, who has been Chapter Advisor since the chartering. "O.J. is great; he is always there. He talks things through, and helps us make the decisions we need to make," Royal said. Another great help is "BB" Brian Collins. "He is quiet, but we know he will be there when we need him." With the help of Carson and Collins the chapter began the changes which made it stronger.

According to Bob Ward, "The changes really started to become evident after we purchased the house. There was a lot of work to be done and not a whole lot of time to do it in."

Richard Sturm explained, "The house was purchased late in November and the goal was to have it ready to live in by January. There had to be a joint effort on the part of every active and alumnus and that is just what we got." Sturm, who was elected as the first house manager, continued, "We Painted it inside and out, built a deck, and furnished all the rooms. All this was done before the deadline." The house, which sleeps seven, is small, but it is a start and has become the pride of the chapter.

Along with the new house came a new commitment from the actives and the alumni. According to Bobby Deavers, "Brothers who had not visited since they graduated came back to see the house. It gives the active brothers a place to get together and talk or watch TV, and it gives the alumni a place to visit. It is turning out to be more of an investment in brotherhood than in real estate."

The house, located across from the school, is one of only a few zoned by the city for use as a fraternity house. When it was discovered that the house was for sale, members of the ABT and the chapter moved quickly. Among the active brothers who participated was Kerry Horton. "It was during my last few days and I really wanted to be a part of it." Horton, who graduated in December, recalled, "The first problem to overcome was money. Luckily, the brothers back in the early seventies had started putting a little money back each year for a house so with additional money and donations from other sources we were able to buy it."

"The house is a great addition to the fraternity, but it is still the people who make the difference." That is the view of Kelly Forrest. "Even though I've only been here for a year I can see how good people make good things happen." The drive to increase the size of the chapter has not been at the expense of quality people.

"We're lucky because most of the students here have admirable qualities." That, according to Pat Conn, is one of the main reasons the chapter has won the scholarship award the last three semesters. The chapter has also won the athletic award.

"We've proved that if you work together and help each other, you can excel at academics and athletics," said Blake Williams.

"It's a good feeling to be part of a group of men who carry themselves with pride," stated Conn, "and to be recognized as one of the strongest organizations on campus." Chapter activities include the Adopt-a-Friend program, which involves working with hearing-impaired children, and the Adopt-a-Mile campaign.

Delta Chi Leads the Way

The 1991 Senator Henry M. "Scoop" Jackson Leadership College was held in August in Iowa City with over 50 Delta Chis in attendance.

The program took place at the Iowa Memorial Union on the campus of the University of Iowa. It was the first year that the College, now in its sixth year, was located in the same city as the Headquarters.

Brothers from all over the country, Massachusetts to California, made the trip to Iowa City for the College. This year's program divided the participants into three "tracks," one for emerging leaders, one for current leaders and one for alumni. Each program contained intensive leadership training that the attendees could use in their individual chapters. The response from the men was extremely positive.

The College kicked off on Friday August 2 with tours of the Headquarters, icebreakers and an opening session focusing on "Values and Ethics in Leadership" which was presented by Bud Richey, Director of Greek Affairs at Louisiana State University. A reception was held that evening at the Delta Chi Headquarters. The attendees then had an opportunity to interact on their own by having dinner at several different Iowa City locations.

The College divided into tracks on Saturday for the intensive Leadership workshops. Dick McKaig, Ball State '67 and Dean of Students at Indiana University, facilitated the current leaders track while Jim Sturm, a Fredonia faculty member, met with the emerging leaders and Larry Audlehelm, Iowa '71 and Retiring "AA", along with Keith Shriver, Florida '79, spent the day with the alumni participants. The Myers Briggs Personality assessment was part of the days activities as well. The workshops were followed by a reception and banquet in the Triangle Ballroom of the Iowa Union.

The Jackson Leadership College concluded Sunday with brunch and the closing ceremonies. The participants presented skits they had or the airport with a few more pleasant Delta Chi memories and a wealth of information that will directly affect their chapters and the strength of Delta Chi as an International Fraternity. Most if not all of them agreed that it was a great way to spend a weekend.

The College is sponsored by the Delta Chi Educational Foundation. Just prior to his death, "Scoop" developed throughout the weekend, including a play featuring "Ethics Man" and a rap song written by brothers from several chapters. Diplomas were distributed to all who had completed the program.

After the College had ended, a group of about twenty Delta Chis hit the road and drove about an hour and a half north to Dyersville, Iowa and the Field of Dreams movie site. The afternoon was spent fading into the corn and playing ball on the field Kevin Costner made famous. Most of the men then headed for the highways granted the Foundation the right to name its planned leadership college after him. He pledged $10,000 to the Foundation to get the program started and had made the initial payment. The Henry M. Jackson Foundation, which was established to carry on his work, honored his pledge and contributed the remainder of the original pledge.

Soon after Senator Jackson's death in 1983, the Delta Chi Educational Foundation received a sizeable, anonymous gift from an alumnus of the Nebraska Chapter in Jackson's name. It was that gift, along with Senator Jackson's original pledge, that made the College possible.

In the past, the College had been held during off-convention years in Birmingham, Alabama to provide a generally accessible location to chapters in Regions III and VIII. The College was moved to Iowa City to encourage greater attendance from throughout North America. Because the response was so positive, the College will probably remain in Iowa City for some time. Although still in its infancy, the Jackson Leadership College is expected to grow in size and stature. It is hoped that the 1993 College will be even bigger and better than its predecessor.

Start planning now for 1993. Don't miss the next Senator Henry M. "Scoop" Jackson Leadership College!

The Wand

During the four years, two months and three days I worked as a professional for Delta Chi, I saw many things, from the unbelievably inane to the incredibly heartwarming.

In that sense, I imagine little will change for anyone who takes the same path I chose to follow by working for Delta Chi.

I witnessed enormous positive change in Delta Chi. In June of 1987, there were 91 chapters and colonies. Now there are 125. At the Headquarters, there were three computers (really glorified word processors), four phone lines, eight employees, and no unused space in the building; Ray Galbreth talked about his nine years as Executive Director; "F," "I," "P," and "G" were four random letters in the alphabet; and there was great anticipation of Delta Chi's 100th Year. Now, there's a computer network of six Macintoshes plus three independent Macs, a FAX machine, six phone lines, 13-plus employees, and less-than-no unused space in the building; Ray talks about the last 12 years as Executive Director; "FIPG" represents a monolithic change in "risk management" (a term which for many used to mean 'just making sure 17-year-old little sisters don't drive home drunk'); and the Centennial is an unforgettable memory.

Most men who are chosen to join Delta Chi's professional staff come to Iowa City with goals they wish to accomplish while serving on staff. I was no different — I wanted to do what I could to see Delta Chi continue to expand. I also wanted to leave a positive mark on each chapter and colony I visited. These goals seemed realistic and I felt reasonably sure I could accomplish them. After all, why would any group not want to improve?

For the most part, I succeeded, more so with some groups than others. My single major regret from those years, though, is never finding the Delta Chi Magic Wand. I believed for some time that there was a particular tool that would have enabled me to elicit positive change with a sweep of my arm. Not materialistic changes like building beautiful houses for groups without them or instantly creating awesome colonies, but milder changes that would empower our members to make changes themselves or at least minimally to lay the foundations for future members. Whoosh! — the apathetic group now sees the enormous potential of their own combined efforts. Whoosh! — alumni who have drifted away (or were scared away) their begin to return and make the vital difference only they can make. Whoosh! — a dose of common sense for the chapter that believes kegs, little sisters, and hazing were good for fraternities.

When I was a Leadership Consultant, I thought that my experiences as an undergraduate

Better than a bottomless bank account and my staff training would be The Wand. Regrettably, by the middle of the second fall term (my third semester) when new consultants were traveling my former territory, it was obvious the "magic" I thought I was working and the "revolutionary" changes I thought I had effected were, too often, illusions. Sometimes, whether or not my efforts even lasted beyond my departure, let alone the rest of the term, is unclear. But I still had hope.

I figured my second year of traveling would grant me a more powerful Wand than the one I believed I possessed when I first started traveling. Even my advancing knowledge and improved techniques proved to be impotent at many groups.

When I became the Director of Programming, I thought I had lots of Wands: being able to create perfect new colonies, develop new programming, oversee the consultants and plan the Centennial Convention. I believed that Delta Chi would benefit immensely from the addition of some mid-level executives. But that in itself has proved to be no miracle Wand.

Each year returning and new staff members develop great programming ideas, with high hopes that they will really change things. Tons of time is spent on these new projects, yet the more things change, the more they stay the same. Don't misinterpret this; I am an enthusiastic advocate of new approaches and better programming, but I realize that without the Wand, they are useless.

A Wand of sorts has been present all along. It's a different Wand for every person and no one can tell another how to use it. Although others can identify someone's Wand, only the individual can make his Wand work. What is the Wand? It is attitude. And it is more powerful than a bottomless bank account, a huge house and the most awesome social schedule. Unfortunately, it is not used as much as it could or should be used. Some chapters haven't identified it. Sadder yet, others know it's there, but choose to try to find a different Wand (they won't). No chapter will succeed without the right attitude.

As for me? Yes, I think I made a difference. How much will never be known. But as we like to profess to our membership, "We should all try to leave a better Fraternity than the one we joined." If we each do that, then all of Delta Chi will have finally discovered the elusive "Wand."

PROGRESS

This past year has seen Delta Chi improve in many areas. In the area of expansion Delta Chi established seven new colonies: American, East Carolina, Johnson & Wales, Southwest Texas, Temple, Virginia Tech, Western Carolina, and Wyoming. The Bryant, Frostburg, Georgia Tech, Maryland, Montclair, and Western Ontario Colonies were chartered. The Georgia Southern Colony voted to close itself and the Fraternity closed the North Dakota Colony for failure to comply with our standards.

While we intend to continue our expansion efforts we have also been working hard in the area of chapter services and standards. While the "industry" norm is one visit per chapter per school year, Delta Chi visited every chapter and colony at least once and 68% received at least a second visit. Paul Picclani, Conn '89, working as Director of Chapter Development, did 27 special visits, seven extended visits and one reorganization. At that reorganization, the entire membership of the Buffalo Chapter was inactivated and interviews were held to determine who would be invited back. The chapter is still small and needs to work hard on rush but there has been a renewal of alumni involvement. As this article is being written, the same process is being used at the Penn State Chapter, one of Delta Chi's proudest chapters. Repeated violations of Delta Chi policies forced the issue. Paul's title has been changed this year to Director of Fraternal Standards. He will be concentrating his efforts on chapters and colonies that have fallen below Delta Chi's standards in hope of the extra attention having a positive effect.

Steve Bossart, Kent State '90, is now Director of New Chapter Development. His job is expansion and overseeing all the colonies from their establishment through their chartering.

In addition to Paul and Steve we now have five Leadership Consultants: Rusty Brink, Lehigh '90; Kevin Kostoff, N. Colorado '89; Scott Leigh, Southwest Missouri '89; Andrew Loos, Northwest Missouri; and Brett Sherbert, N. Colorado '89. We also plan to hire a Director of Programming to start in January. This is Delta Chi's largest professional staff ever. Two main factors, expansion and the willingness of our chapters and colonies to vote for the necessary dues increases, have made this possible.

Our written programming is recognized by many as among the best in the business. This past year we published our brand new Committee System BRIEF and totally rewrote our Scholarship BRIEF. Although it was actually accomplished in the 1991-92 year, we have also totally rewritten or made major improvements to our ABT BRIEF, our Chapter Management BRIEF, our "C" Manual, and our Membership Education BRIEF. By the time this magazine is printed we will have published our first Risk Management Manual for our chapters. It covers a wide range of topics from crisis management to house safety to event planning to educational programs. Now, if we could only get someone to read them!! We've even jokingly thought of putting the name of another Fraternity on the covers because most people always think that the "other guy" has better stuff than we do.

HOUSING FUND

As of June 30, 1991, our Housing Fund stood at $1,312,008 with $1,114,158 out in loans to 28 chapters. This past fiscal year resulted in a $153,581 increase in the fund.

The purpose of this fund is not to replace the banking industry but to provide seed money and to help with down payments that will enable our chapters to obtain primary loans from local financial institutions. In some cases, however, it is the only source of financing available. It was started in 1964 and has been primarily financed through a "head tax" that was self-imposed by our chapters at Convention. Last year, this assessment brought $56,661 into the fund. The rest of the increase in the fund is from interest on the outstanding loans to our chapters and their respective house corporations ($96,820) as well as interest on the unloaned portion of the fund ($14,309). Because so many of our groups have been started or restarted in the last 12 years (70 of 125) and so many of our established chapters have houses built in the 1920s or earlier, more is needed but our undergraduates can only afford to pay so much into the fund.

FINANCE

On our $1,003,670 general fund budget, our surplus prior to changes in accounts receivable from our chapters totaled $39,468. When the increase in accounts receivable from our chapters is factored in, we had a deficit of $27,622. Our general fund expenses were $22,158 (2.2%) under budget, while our income was $9,075 (4.4%) under budget. The lower than expected income was mainly due to the accounts receivable problem and a small drop in initiations and associate members (pledges). This budget was the first million-dollar budget in Delta Chi's history but it had included $281,980 for a liability insurance program which was in its first year. The 1991-92 fiscal year budget has been raised 5% to $1,053,000.

1990-91 AWARD WINNERS

The Delta Chi Awards Program is designed to recognize and promote those areas which are critical to the success of a chapter. The oldest award, the "E" Key, the Outstanding "BB" and the Outstanding "C" Award recognize the individual performance of three vital chapter officers.

In recognition of a chapter's performance on campus and within the community the Outstanding Campus Leadership, Outstanding Intramural Program and the Outstanding Public Service Awards are presented.

Three awards address the alumni program of the chapter: the Outstanding ABT, Outstanding Alumni Association and Outstanding Newsletter Awards.

Chapters that have shown a marked improvement in their overall operations are given the Certificate of Achievement. The "AA" selects the winner of the Most Improved Chapter from the recipients of this award if he deems that one of the chapters excelled in comparison to the others.

For the Award of Excellence, the Fraternity is divided into two divisions: Red and Buff. The Red Division contains those chapters with 19 or more fraternities on their campus or whose Greek system has over 40% of the undergraduate student body. The remaining chapters then make up the Buff Division. The winners of the Award of Excellence showed strength across the board. In most cases they were award winners in several of the special award areas. When they were not, they simply showed consistently above average performance in all areas with no area of weakness.

From the recipients of the Award of Excellence, the "AA" selected the President's Cup winners. There is a maximum of three Cups in each Division but no minimum.

Take Delta Chi Wherever You Go

THE DELTA CHI CLASSIC VISA

Wherever your pursuit of pleasure or success takes you, there's no better traveling companion than your Delta Chi Classic Visa. It's the card to carry around the block or around the world.

The Card For You.

We want you to try the Delta Chi Card, and to entice you, First Tennessee Bank has agreed to waive the annual fee for the first year. Even after that your annual fee will be only $18. Cards with comparable features frequently have annual fees of $25 or more!

Compare our low 17.9% Annual Percentage Rate with the APRs of cards you're carrying now. It is one of the lowest available. And, if you choose to pay your balance in full each month, you can avoid interest charges on purchases altogether.

As a Delta Chi cardholder you'll be entitled to free membership in the Premier Travel Club. With Premier Travel you can be assured that you are always getting the best travel value. Whether you are booking the ultimate vacation cruise or a quick business trip, Premier is the best connection you can have in the travel business.

You'll also qualify for a 5% cash bonus whenever you make your travel reservations through Premier Travel Club and pay for them with your Delta Chi Card. And, you'll get $250,000 free travel accident insurance on all trips charged to your card.

And, there's more. You'll save every time you rent a car with your special member discounts from Hertz, National and Avis anywhere in the USA.

Your Premier Travel membership also means that wherever you go you'll be able to use our 24-hour travel message service for those times when it's hard to make connections. And, if you're ever stranded away from home without your card, we can provide you with up to $1,000 emergency cash and an airline ticket home.

The Card For Us.

We have a right to be proud of our Fraternity, and every time you use your Delta Chi Card you'll be showing that pride.

And, of course, every time you make a purchase with your card First Tennessee will make a contribution to the Fraternity at no cost to you. The more we use our cards the more our Fraternity will benefit.

The Time Is Now.

Call the toll-free number today and start putting your credit card to work for Delta Chi.

This is what we heard from you . . .

"An Open Letter to the Undergraduate Brothers"

As an alumnus who has been quite active in the affairs of my chapter over the years, both as "BB" and alumni Board of Trustees member, I frequently hear comments made by young men who are members of the undergraduate chapter to the effect that they sure would like to see more participation by more alumni. So would I. I can recall sending a letter to every known alumnus within a 100-mile radius of the University of Florida campus asking them if they could consider contributing their time and efforts to help further the health and welfare of the Florida Chapter of Delta Chi. I received no replies to that letter.

Whenever young men in our chapter raise the age-old question of "Why aren't the alumni here?" I suggest to them that in a very few years they, too, will become alumni. Certainly, the first few years out of college involve starting a career and sometimes a family as well. These are busy and frantic years loaded with responsibilities and in many cases financial limitations.

However, we still depend on these graduating seniors to come back to their fraternity someday to participate and contribute to that from which they have received. To all of the young men who wonder "Where have all the alumni gone?" look in the mirror and you may see the missing alumnus.

In the Bond,
Jim Fisher, Florida '52

"Let's See What Others Have to Say About This"

During my 12 years as Executive Director I have heard the same concerns over the level of alumni involvement expressed by countless undergraduates. I can only assume those concerns pre-date my involvement. As you so aptly point out, most of these men are now alumni and the same concerns are still heard.

The potential reasons for non-involvement are too numerous to list here and I doubt if anyone could compile an exhaustive list. I will however mention some possibilities and fully expect that we will be hearing from other alumni as to their reasons as well.

• Until they have experienced working with peers in an effort to help young men develop, many alumni don't realize the rewards and personal growth involved.

• The majority of our undergraduates are unskilled at making an alumnus feel welcome.

• Many of our chapter houses are so poorly maintained and unclean that no self-respecting person would set foot in them.

• Expectation levels are not clearly defined and alumni may believe the potential demands are more than they could handle.

• There are a limited number of alumni within a reasonable distance of most of our chapters.

• Many alumni have "drifted away" and need to be "cultivated" before they will get reintroduced.

Let's see what other alumni have to say and hope that they will send in workable solutions as well. Maybe we will be able to develop an article from their feedback.

Fraternally,
Raymond D. Galbreth
Executive Director

"Thank You for a Truly Memorable Experience"

As a graduate of the Jackson Leadership College, I would like to take this opportunity to commend the Delta Chi Staff on a job well done. The College was one of the best undergraduate experiences I have had so far and only affirms my belief that I made the correct decision in agreeing to help start Delta Chi at Fredonia State.

Keeping the college in Iowa City would be a wise move in my opinion as it would give more brothers the opportunity to attend and also lead to a great diversity of brothers and chapters in attendance. I also believe that the policy of placing individuals from different chapters in the same room and the use of social groups were excellent ideas and should be put into use at the Fraternity's Regional Leadership Conferences.

In closing, I would like to share with you the contents of the dedication page of George Will's book Suddenly (The Free Press, New York, 1990):

To the memory of Henry M. Jackson. Suddenly freedom prevailed. But only because freedom's friends, such as Scoop Jackson, waged the long twilight struggle.

In the Bond,
Joseph J. DeFazio II, Fredonia Colony

MICHIGAN STATE

McDonald's Corporation has named Thomas W. Glasgow, Jr. '68, executive vice president and chief operations officer. In this position, his responsibilities are to oversee restaurant operations and direct the company's product development, training, equipment engineering and security functions.

Glasgow began his career with McDonald's in 1969 as a restaurant management trainee in St. Petersburg, Florida. He advanced through several field staff positions before he became regional manager for McDonald's Miami region in 1978 and was named regional vice president of the Atlanta region in 1980. He was promoted to vice president of operations and product development at the company's home office in Oak Brook, Illinois, in 1983 and served as senior vice president of operations, product development and engineering from 1985 until his recent promotion.

Royal said, "It's important to us to give a good impression, not only on campus, but also in the community. We are aware that our actions on or off campus can benefit us or kill us so we constantly try to do things which reflect well on the Fraternity as a whole."

A new house, a commitment to excellence, and an increased emphasis on recruiting quality people are all part of Montevallo's formula to become a better fraternity and a campus leader. Royal stated, "We're on top right now and we mean to stay there. We know it will take as much if not more effort from every Brother, because when you're on top everyone is trying to shoot you down."

Tom Carlton summed it up best: "It's been a long road for us. The efforts made from the first meeting to today have all blended together to make our chapter strong and something we can be proud of."

DO YOU WANT ALL FOUR ISSUES OF THIS MAGAZINE?

In order to provide the highest quality magazine at a minimum cost, we need to know which of our alumni wish to receive all four issues of the Quarterly.

Under our current Quarterly policy, only those alumni who at least once during any five-year period either ask to receive the magazine or make a donation to The Delta Chi Educational Foundation will receive all four issues each year. If an alumnus was marked "Lost" on our records and we obtain a good address for him, we will give him a one year subscription. All other alumni will receive only the Fall issue. This policy allows us to maintain the quality of your Quarterly by eliminating the cost of printing and mailing thousands of copies which are not desired.
