FOUNDERS' DAY MESSAGE

On this Founders' Day, the 104th anniversary of our Fraternity, I would like to address the new "image" of Delta Chi and have us all reflect on how the results of the research that went into developing this image have affected, and will continue to affect, each of us.

For many years now Delta Chi has been using the slogan "Personal Growth Through Brotherhood" not only as a catch phrase on our printed materials, but also as a goal and a sort of mission statement for the Fraternity. While "personal growth" is a very broad term that encompasses many different aspects of fraternity life, perhaps the one that leaves us with the most lasting impression is our ability to understand and get along with other people. Long after the memories of intramural sports, social events, and fund-raisers have faded, the people will live on as the part of Fraternity that we remember the most.

In the summer issue of The Quarterly, the cover story dealt with our new image campaign. That article outlined the history behind this decision and unveiled many of the new materials available to assist our chapters in membership recruitment, alumni relations, and various other aspects of fraternity operations. However, one somewhat intangible goal and benefit of that research was to determine the image of Delta Chi. This includes both our self-image and the image that others have of us. The one

theme that continually came to the forefront in the research done by the Bailey

Agency was that Delta Chi, almost universally, has a diversity that is unique to our organization. The research found that Delta Chi, much more than most other fraternities, derives its image by not being stereotypical; in essence, our overall identity is based in the strength of not having only one identity. For many years people associated closely with Delta Chi had sensed this diverse image, but this is the first time we have had objective research back up this assumption.

This research determined that there are five common characteristics that distinguish Delta Chi. They are binding brotherhood, active leadership, a broad range of personalities, mutual respect and acceptance, and an authentic fraternal experience. At first glance someone may see this diversity in a negative light. In fact, some of the slogans and logos that were proposed were turned down by the Board of Regents for this very reason. However, when one looks at the true meaning of this diversity it soon becomes obvious that this is a tremendous positive and in fact is a major part of what Delta Chi is all about. As you look closer, you begin to realize that this may well have been the way that our Founders intended it to be. Sir Edward Coke fought for the common man. We were born to promote justice and protect the rights and freedoms of all men. We then, whether intentionally or not, seem to have taken that charge and incorporated it into our membership at the most functional level: the makeup of our chapters and colonies.

Our members are experiencing personal growth at a fundamental level. They learn to accept, understand, and live with people of all backgrounds. Delta Chi is a fraternity that looks beyond the superficial and sees our individual differences as our strength. We have an amazing diversity of racial, ethnic, religious, family, political, and socioeconomic backgrounds. I would venture to say that all of you reading this article can relate to some of the brothers in your chapter that you had almost nothing in common with until you joined Delta Chi. How many times have you said, "If it hadn't been

*"Personal Growth
is our enduring strength* for Delta Chi, I probably would never have met him and now he is one of my closest friends for life"? The personal growth involved is being accepting and tolerant of individual differences, and the willingness to live and work together toward a common goal is what sets Delta Chi apart. We experience personal growth from our exposure to other backgrounds, beliefs, and customs. We experience personal growth when we expand our horizons beyond our own familiar, safe, and sometimes insulated little world. What a boring organization we would be if we were all exactly alike. In fact, some organizations have ceased to exist for this very reason.

Our members learn to accept and respect other points of view even if we don't always agree with them. We learn to work as a group in spite of some superficial differences. We learn that the membership as a whole makes decisions based on critical thinking after being exposed to these different philosophies and ideas. And most importantly, in the end we learn to take all of these differences and come to a group consensus that molds us into one unified body that works together for the benefit of the brotherhood. We learn that while we each have individual rights, those rights must mold with the rights of those around us for the common good of the Fraternity. We learn to live in a brotherhood based on that premise. Perhaps this is the ultimate definition of brotherhood. This is why our Bond, as the slogan says, truly is uncommon.

As you, on this Founders' Day, reflect on all the experiences you have had and all the brothers you have met through Delta Chi, think for a moment about multiplying that by 104 years and nearly 72,000 members. I believe that we truly do have a positive impact on our members. Let us all take this opportunity to set a goal of being a bit more tolerant and accepting of our fellow man and make this world a little better place to live because of our commitment to this belief.

In the Bond,

Delta Chi firmly planted its roots in the Southwest Texas State Greek system when it became the 16th chartered fraternity on April 23, 1994. Colonization began on March 13, 1991, with 41 brothers and the group chartered with 78.

Colonization was a very rough, enduring process for the brothers at Southwest Texas. Throughout the last three years, strangers have become brothers and fought hard to build and shape "the brotherhood of a lifetime." Delta Chi has seen both triumphs and heartaches.

We have taken campus by storm in intramurals, campus-sponsored events, mixers, parties, philanthropy activities, and community service. Delta Chi has definitely become a top fraternity. And yet, we have seen heartache. We have stood beside one another through death, accidents, breakups, and pain we thought would never end. The pain did end; however the brotherhood did not.

One of our crowning moments was our chartering ball with such distinguished guests as "AA" Michael Carroll and Regent Adrian Hunt. The festivities began Friday with an executive and guest dinner at Palmers, one of the best restaurants in San Marcos. On Saturday morning a golf tournament was held at Aquarena Springs Resort. That afternoon there was an open house with the formal that night.

The black tie chartering ball featured several speakers and awards presentations. Among them were the President's Award given to Daryn Vrazel, the Excellence Award and Scholarship Award given to Marty Madden, and Recognition Awards to Robbie Hunter, Chris Detrick, Ralph Leal and Marty Madden. Following the dinner, a dance and social were held at the house.

The weekend concluded Sunday with an alumni ritual and an ABT meeting. With charter in hand, heads following the direction of success and hearts filled with brotherhood, Delta Chi members should continue to make an impact at Southwest Texas.

CONVENTION KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Larry Craig, Idaho '67

It is a great honor to be asked to speak to you tonight. To all of my Idaho brothers in the crowd tonight, it is nice to be with you. To all of the marvelous people at the head table, to Ray – whom I have known through the years by the name on the Delta Chi Quarterly, and to the other people such as Chuck and Millicent Marshall, whom I have met tonight, this has been a marvelous evening and a grand experience for me. This afternoon, before I left, my son, Jay, packed his car with the help of one of his Delta Chi brothers, Dan Sutton. Together they headed back to Idaho for the fall semester at the University, but before they drove away, they asked me to send along their greetings to their Idaho brothers and friends at this Convention.

Tonight is truly an honor because I never imagined that I would have the privilege of standing before a group of my Delta Chi brothers as a United States Senator. After all, I came from a rural, ranching background in Idaho where only nine other kids graduated with me from high school. To make matters worse, only one of my classmates was a female. But with my parents' blessing, I enrolled at the University of Idaho in the fall of 1963. I had a cousin there who was a Delta Chi, and he encouraged me to go through rush. I remember him pulling me aside – taking pity on this wide-eyed kid fresh off the ranch.

Fraternities, he said, were like a large family. Well, I took his advice, and I pledged his – our – fraternity. In retrospect I recognize that my cousin's comparison of fraternities to families was fairly accurate. The very definition of fraternity connotes a familial relationship. Have you ever opened up your dictionary, and turned to 'fraternity' or 'to fraternize' or 'to be fraternal'? All of these definitions speak of a brotherly relationship.

You know, we Americans are an incredibly uncommon group of folks. Look around the room – we have different appearances, different religions, different ethnic backgrounds. To their credit, fraternities address these differences with a dedication to a purpose. And so when I began to plan what I wanted to say to you tonight, I reflected upon the ways in which fraternities address their memberships' diversity. In a manner similar to our own country's founding, fraternities succeeded and continue to prosper because of the inter-relationships formed amongst their members.

We – as Delta Chis and as American citizens – are a very unique people; but in our singularity and our uncommonness, there is a single bond. That bond produces a kind of unity that is unusual – unique to brothers of a fraternity and peculiar to the United States. At times, however, that uniqueness places phenomenal demands upon us. During my years at the University of Idaho, my involvement in a fraternity was not a popular activity, and my position as chapter president was even less popular. It was the 1960s. Fraternities all across America rejected the unity of purpose that the system's creators instilled into the various chapters. Americans in the 1960s did not want conformity. We were individuals. We were self-expressive. But as chapter president, and as a student-body president, I worked against that tide. I tried to keep folks together – trying to keep that uncommonness of unity working. It proved to be a tough time for all fraternities – Delta Chi included, but we passed the test. We survived those important, those extremely testing times.

The reason I mention the 1960s and Delta Chi in that context is because similar trends threaten us once again. Granted, challenges are always prevalent in our society. I think it was Woodrow Wilson who said that every generation must secure their own freedom, must assure it and dedicate it. But today's challenges are truly massive, and as Americans and Delta Chis, we must commit ourselves with uncommon unity to the beliefs of our founding fathers.

In the spring of 1993, I had an interesting lunch with a friend of mine, William Bennett. He served in both the Reagan and Bush Administrations in one capacity or another, using his many talents for the benefit of this country. The conversation during that lunch shifted from topic to topic. We talked about the future of the Republican Party and how to rebuild it after the substantial defeat in the elections of 1992, and we also discussed a little project that Bill was working on at that time. He was in the process of collecting poems, short stories, Biblical passages, as well as transcribing many of the ideas that his parents and grandparents passed on to him. His goal was to compile an anthology for his children and, possibly, America's children. Later, a publisher expressed an interest in his idea, and I'm quite sure that you know the rest of the story. Bill's little anthology, entitled The Book of Virtues, pushed the famous shock-jock, Howard Stern, off the best-seller list. This anthology, with its treasure of brief moral stories, became an instant success. But I ask you, why would that kind of a book become so popular in America today? Why would Americans standing in line at book stores across our country say, "we want Bill Bennett's book?" After all, thirty years ago when I was in college if someone would have said that Larry Craig was a "virtuous" person, you could have heard the hiss go across the room – not that I was or wasn't, but because nobody wanted to be tagged with an adjective as demeaning as "virtuous." So why then are Americans today buying thousands of copies of this anthology when a mere thirty years ago the slightest association with virtue brought ridicule? For those of you who have read the anthology, you know why. It is after all, a compilation of the important values that tie us together. It reminds us of the theme of uncommon unity – that bond which is uniquely American and which allows us to transcend our differences.

The chapters of The Book of Virtues include: Self-discipline, Compassion, Responsibility, Friendship, Work, Courage, Perseverance, Honesty, Loyalty and Faith. Today, Americans all over this great nation are in search of these qualities because these qualities are constant; they are anchors. When I was in college, Delta Chi was both my home and my anchor. I remember the strength that I drew from my fraternity, and today as I speak with citizens concerned about America's moral decay, I recognize that same yearning for an anchor similar to the one I found at the University of Idaho. Bill Bennett's book addresses that yearning, and that is why his book is on the best-seller list.

This yearning is not relegated to one particular socioeconomic class or ethnic group or age group; rather, it is a feeling shared by all Americans. That is why fraternities have in my opinion, an unprecedented opportunity, to reach out to young men across our country. I know from first-hand experience that fraternities offer an extremely attractive lifestyle. While I was at the University of Idaho, Delta Chi taught me self-discipline. It granted me compassion for others. My sense of responsibility was reestablished as a member and then an officer at Delta Chi. Furthermore, my involvement in Delta Chi cemented friendships that have survived and flourished for over thirty years. It is not unusual to get a phone call out of my fraternal-past, from friends of whom I have lost track. After a few short minutes on the phone, our relationship seems as strong as ever.

Fraternities, however, influence more than our habits and relationships. The fraternal lifestyle challenges us. One of the first difficulties we must overcome as freshmen at college is balancing social activities and academic assignments. While the physical work that often accompanies social life at college can indeed challenge a man's endurance, I think that the mental work is the toughest test.

CONVENTION

Delta Chi's 49th International Convention was held in Atlanta, Georgia from August 3 through 7, 1994. The Hyatt Regency at Peachtree Center provided a magnificent backdrop as over 400 brothers and guests from all over North America gathered to celebrate the Tradition and Character that make up our Fraternity. All but 20 undergraduate chapters and colonies were represented.

Brothers began arriving in Atlanta on the Friday before the Convention to take in a Braves' game, Stone Mountain or other Atlanta sights.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 3

The first Kimball Open Golf Outing was held and nearly 40 brothers participated. Prizes for this scramble included one free-round trip airfare anywhere in the continental U.S., a free weekend at the Atlanta Hyatt, golf balls, sweatshirts and other items. The rain that fell did not dampen the spirits of those who played (some even finished in a downpour). Brothers and guests came together that evening for a reception where "AA" Michael L. Carroll welcomed everyone to his hometown, and a representative of the Atlanta Convention and Visitors Bureau shared with us some of what makes Atlanta special. The evening was filled with introductions, reunions and good old-fashioned story telling.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 4

The Convention was officially called to order at 8:42 a.m. by Brother Carroll. The traditional items of business included the singing of Fovens Mater, led by Felix Alonso of the Ohio State Chapter, the recital of the Preamble, introductions and the oath of reaffirmation.

Past "AA" Gregory F. Hauser then read the Memorial Resolution and there was a moment of silence to recognize the brothers who have passed away in the last biennium. The first general session continued as F. Kenneth Brasted, Florida '35 was elected Convention Honoree for the current biennium and Christopher W. Johnson, Kentucky '77 was selected for membership in the Order of the White Carnation. It was also during this first session that Fraternity business was introduced and discussed and the candidates for International Office gave short speeches on their qualifications.

At the Foundation luncheon those in attendance heard from Mike Ashman of the Old Dominion Chapter and Ben Koberna of the Kent State Chapter, the 1993 and '94 winners of the Educational Foundation Speech contest. Individual awards including the Valor Award, Meritorious Service, Distinguished Delta Chi and Outstanding "BB" were presented, and a special foundation award was presented to George Obear, DePauw '30, who with his most recent gift to the Delta Chi Educational Foundation reached the $50,000 plateau (Martlet Club).

Brother Obear was greeted with a standing ovation.

The busiest day of the Convention continued as attendees moved into Regional Caucuses after lunch. These sessions provided an opportunity to break into smaller groups to discuss issues, meet the candidates for international Office and talk for the good of the order. After the caucuses came a general session.

The second general session saw the elections of Larry K. Nothnagel, Northeast Missouri '79, as "AA"; Bill Williams, Gannon '83, as "CC"; and Paul Bohlman, Ohio State '70, as "DD". The rest of the session was spent on legislative issues including the creation of the position of "EE", a dues increase, an amendment on resigning from the fraternity, the issue of convention credentials and several other things. At 5:00 p.m. the delegates gathered at the One Peachtree Center building for the Convention photograph.

Fifty alumni participated in the new alumni ceremony prior to the delegates' coming back that evening for the ritual exemplification. Several charters were revoked including the Union, Louisville, West Liberty, Clarion, and Abracadabra Chapters'. The evening concluded with the history of the Ritual.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 5

The morning was spent in Jackson Leadership College sessions highlighted by a general session conducted by Mary Peterson, Assistant Director of Campus Programs at the University of Iowa. Her "15 Ways to Haze Your Brothers" challenged the attendees to really make the members of their chapters work to become better young men. Her session was well received.

Friday afternoon, a busload of Delta Chis headed for a float trip on the Chattahoochee River while another busload went to Six Flags over Georgia amusement park. The overcast sky and eventual rain did nothing to hamper the enthusiasm of the trips. Buckhead, a trendy area of restaurants and night spots, seemed to be the gathering place at night for hundreds of Delta Chis, and Friday night was no exception.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 6

The Jackson College was again the order of the day. Sessions covered a range of topics from rush and membership education to issues such as diversity and men's health. Ed King, the author of Secret Thoughts of A Ritual, presented another general session. His ideas challenged us to look at the ritual not as a one-time thing, but as a way of life.

Bobbi Marten, an etiquette consultant out of St. Louis, used the Saturday luncheon as an opportunity to cover good table manners and proper etiquette. Everyone, from the youngest to the oldest in attendance, seemed to gain a lot of knowledge from the session. The Jackson College continued into the late afternoon.

The highlight of any Convention is the black-tie optional Banquet which was held on Saturday evening. The festivities started with a reception and moved into the beautifully decorated ballroom.

U.S. Senator and Brother Larry Craig, Idaho '67, presented the keynote speech for the evening, the text of which can be found on page 4 of this issue. It was a rousing speech in which Brother Craig attributed many of the skills he has developed to his Delta Chi membership. After the speech, the major chapter awards and a few individual awards were presented.

Durward Owen, retired Executive Director of The Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity, was presented the John J. Kuhn Award for service to the interfraternal world. His wife, Connie, joined all of the Delta Chis in applauding Durward for his work in advancing the Fraternity movement.

The 1993 and 1994 Delta Chi of the Year Awards were then presented to Mel Fisher, Purdue '45, and Charles Marshall, Illinois '51. While Brother Fisher, the world's greatest treasure hunter, was not able to attend, Brother Marshall was present, along with his wife Millicent and daughter Ruth Ann. His remarks were enjoyable as he spoke of how his involvement in Delta Chi helped him rise to his position as Vice Chairman of the Board of AT&T, the position from which he is now retired.

Steven Bossart, Kent State '90, was recognized at the banquet with a plaque for his work as Convention Coordinator for the 49th International Convention.

Another Convention tradition, the Handshake Across Time also took place. Joseph Lacchia, NYU '25 and Michigan State, passed along a greeting from the Founders that started at the 1940 Convention. Apparently, Monroe Marsh Sweetland asked several members at that Convention to pass along his greeting at future conventions. Brother Lacchia started a handshake that passed all the way around the spacious ballroom. After a few remarks the brothers formed the Chain of Brotherhood (which almost did not fit in the room) and sang the "Bond of Delta Chi," again led by Brother Alonso.

After the banquet there were countless pictures taken and many of the Brothers went off to other social gatherings.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 7

The final day of the Convention started at 8:00 a.m. with another General Session. A motion was brought to the floor on Thursday to change the minimum standards of The Fraternity and that last-minute addition necessitated the added general session.

After the business concluded the attendees attended the Awards Brunch, the final event of the Convention. At the Brunch, the chapter programming awards were presented and the new officers were sworn into office by Retiring "AA" Mike Carroll.

After the brunch, brothers began to realize the scope of what they had accomplished over the past three days. They headed for the highways and airports to go back to their chapters with new friends, new ideas and a new understanding of Delta Chi as an international organization.

GREG JONES

SHOWS THE SPIRIT OF DELTA CHI

Greg Jones and his security detail at a legal conference in Mexico City.

At first glimpse, you immediately realize that Greg Jones has much going for him. His charismatic smile, dynamic personality and keen intellect are vital aspects of this man who is the youngest Director of Operations in the history of the World Bank.

A 1987 graduate of Hobart College in Geneva, New York, he served as "A" and "E" of his chapter and is currently "BB". He graduated from Georgetown Law School in 1991 and found himself on the fast path to success as he immediately went to work for the World Bank.

The World Bank was organized after World War II to assist in the reconstruction of Europe. The focus then shifted to third-world countries and now has moved back to Eastern Europe. In his nearly four years with the organization, Jones has advanced from Principle Counsel for Poland, to Unit Chief of Currency, to his current position of Director of Country Operations for Eastern Europe. In this position, he is charged with facilitating the transition of the Commonwealth of Independent States' (the former Soviet Union) economy from a communist to a market economy.

The Country Operations branch has nearly 130 employees working under Jones.

They are involved in building infrastructure in Eastern Europe. Everything from roads and bridges, to water purification plants, to the development of a currency system comes under this branch's discretion.

"We provide the countries of Eastern Europe with the expertise they need to facilitate these remarkable changes. We have lawyers, economists, bankers, engineers, sociologists and any other adviser these countries may need," Jones said. "We often develop projects in conjunction with the governments. We tell them how a certain project should look and negotiate from there. We then help the government with expertise and funding."

This often involves Jones trying to secure U.S. investors for projects overseas. "We have a vested interest in ensuring that their economies succeed," Jones said. "In terms of monetary and technical assistance, we provide them with whatever they need to help them restructure economically."

When he joined Delta Chi in 1984, he found that Delta Chi provided the balance between academic and social elements he was seeking.

"They were a diverse group of men who made me feel comfortable from the moment I walked through the door," Jones said. He was particularly intrigued by the fact that they were involved in campus activities other than just the Fraternity. He saw membership as a great opportunity to benefit from the close association that was

The Hobart Chapter House.

Delta Chi, both academically and socially.

Greg points out that "Delta Chi created sort of an atmosphere where we all came to the conclusion that we were in this together. At the time, the school was becoming increasingly restrictive in terms of guidelines and regulations and being a part of Delta Chi helped to make me more active on campus.

"The greatest lesson Delta Chi taught me was how to deal with different types of people and different situations. In my job now, I work with people of many different personalities and nationalities... My job relies on my ability to be diplomatic and to be able to deal with people such as Boris Yeltsin who have rather difficult personalities and are resistant to change. Delta Chi really helped me to develop some skills which makes dealing with situations such as these a little easier."

As chapter "A", Greg learned a valuable lesson: All many people really want is simply to be heard. He notes that some chapter leaders make the mistake of trying to be in agreement with every one of the members. His realization that this can never be the case, which he learned as "A", is an asset today as he seeks to give everyone he works with a voice and to be open to what they have to say.

Jones has served as Hobart Chapter

Chapter

"BB" for a little over five years.

He said,

"I felt the need to be involved in an advisory capacity. My undergraduate years were an extremely important part of my life and being a Delta Chi has meant the world to me.

"I became a "BB" to ensure that my undergraduate brothers will continue to sense the fraternalism that I did as an undergraduate. I want them to explore the meaning of friendship and Brotherhood as I did. The undergraduate experience that we all cherish must have the opportunity to carry on, and it takes involved alumni to help make sure it does."

The current undergraduates of the Hobart Chapter are grateful for the involvement of men such as Greg Jones. "A" Laurence Hale had this to say about his "BB":

"Greg is always available and always willing to help out. We all know he is busy, but he is always there for us," Hale said. "Greg is also a great motivator and is able to offer good pointers to me and to the rest of the officers to help us do our jobs better.

"The brothers in the house look up to him because of what he has been able to accomplish in his career. He makes it back to Hobart several times a year and we always look forward to his visits."

Brother Hale offered another bit of information as to why Greg Jones is able to stay involved. "Greg always has a good time when he is here."

Brother Jones decided a long time ago that his staying involved with Delta Chi was important to him. "With a busy career I had to prioritize a bit," he said. "So now, I have Delta Chi and I have my job. There really is no time for other interests, and I have assured the guys that I will be around for awhile."

"It is difficult sometimes, and I have to try to make the most of my six to eight trips back to campus each year. I usually spend three or four days each trip and the guys always have a special room for me at the house. I try to schedule Board meetings, ritualistic gatherings and meetings with the campus administrators for the times that I am on campus in order to get the most out of my trips."

His message for alumni who feel they are too busy to stay involved in their chapters is simple: It is too important not to stay involved. "You have to make the time," Jones said. "The undergraduates need the advice, support and guidance that only alumni can provide. Alumni involvement is critical."

"Our members are having to combat the stereotype that fraternities only facilitate socially unacceptable behavior. Administrations are becoming more restrictive and students are facing the pressures of a poor job market and the many challenges that lie ahead of them. They need the support of their alumni."

On maintaining his involvement with the Fraternity, Jones cites the fact that "Delta Chi was responsible for the four greatest years of my life. I want to see to it that the undergraduate members get as much out of the Fraternity as I did. I make time for Delta Chi, and when I return to campus, I am a student again. Delta Chi is a part of my life and continues to be important to me despite how busy I am. Joining Delta Chi is one of the best things I have ever done."

ANNUAL REPORT

GROWING STRONG

PROGRESS

This past year Delta Chi established three colonies: Bloomsburg University (Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania) Plymouth State (Plymouth, New Hampshire) and Ferris State (Big Rapids, Michigan). The Old Dominion, Southwest Texas and Duquesne Colonies were chartered. Unfortunately, there were some losses as well with the Union, West Liberty, Clarion and Abacadabra Chapters and the Bloomsburg Colony closing.

In the fall of 1993, we visited 97 out of our 126 chapters and colonies (76%) and followed that up by visiting 74 out of our 125 chapters and colonies in the spring (59%). That is an average far above the standard among the men's fraternities. Every chapter also received from Delta Chi, at no charge, a copy of a second professionally produced "how to" rush video, "The Right Way to Rush II." We also introduced some new rush materials in the fall of 1993 as well as a new Financial Management BRIEF and a new Alumni Relations BRIEF. We have increased our services towards our alumni and the responses we have received show their appreciation. There is still much to be accomplished but we are making steady progress.

RISK MANAGEMENT

Delta Chi has a fine reputation in the fraternity world in the risk management area.

The exceptions are still there but our chapters are doing a good job overall. As is true for society in general, the abuse of alcohol is a major concern. In response to that, Delta Chi has provided our chapters with over 100 social and brotherhood ideas that do not utilize alcohol. Also available are scores of programming ideas for the associate member program to replace any questionable activities. The "F" has been designated the Risk Management officer for the chapter and has a Risk Management Manual to assist him in helping his chapter in providing a safe and enjoyable environment for its members.

HOUSING FUND

As of June 30, 1994, Delta Chi had over $1,294,000 outstanding in loans to 22 different chapters. Over $374,000 was in new loans with nine loans having been retired during the fiscal year. Unfortunately, 12 of the loans were delinquent for a gross delinquency rate of 34%. The net assets of the fund total $1,527,000. The purpose of this fund is to provide seed money and to help with down payments that will enable the chapters to obtain primary loans from local financial institutions. In some cases, however, it is the only source of financing available. It was started in 1964 and has been primarily financed through a "head tax" that was self-imposed by the chapters at Convention. The rest of the increase in the fund is from interest on the outstanding loans to our chapters and their respective house corporations. Because the majority of our groups have been started or restarted in the last 13 years and so many of the established chapters have houses built in the 1920s or earlier, more is needed but our undergraduate members can only afford to pay so much into the fund.

FINANCES

The operating budget for 1993-94 was $1,129,575 including liability insurance. Net operating income was $1,098,920 (including the $17,475 surplus carried forward from the previous fiscal year) and operating expenses were $1,082,275 resulting in a $16,645 operating surplus for the year. This operating surplus has been carried forward to the 1994-95 operating budget. The chapters' third year of declining numbers resulted in a shortfall of over $32,000 in Delta Chi's budgeted income that had to be made up by cutting staff and reducing our planned travel. Delta Chi's accounts receivable from its chapters rose $41,561 to $131,213 which is an indication of the impact the reduced membership had on the chapters themselves. Early indications point to a turnaround for the 1994-95 school year and we expect next year's report on membership and finances to reflect that. The 1994-95 fiscal year budget has been slightly (3.6%) increased to $1,170,645 thanks largely to a dues increase voted in by the chapters at Convention. The budget in 1984-85, for comparison, was only $320,725. Even with the growth in our budget, we remain only slightly above average in the cost to our undergraduate members. The average four-year cost (excluding liability insurance) of all fraternities based on 1994 data was $345 while Delta Chi's cost was $370. That works out to $6.25/man more per year. The average cost for fraternities with between 90 and 150 chapters was $374. Last year, Delta Chi charged its members $57.50/man for liability insurance. The average charge for fraternities was $67.92/man. Due to the risk management efforts of our chapters, Delta Chi has been able to maintain an excellent risk management record. This is not only living up to our long-standing commitment to the observance of and respect for the law, it is the right thing to do. It also has resulted in over a 15% reduction in our insurance cost compared to the average charge.

STAFFING

Raymond D. Galbreth, Missouri '69, continues to serve as Executive Director and is in his 16th year in that position. Steven P. Bossart, Kent State '90 is in his fifth year on the Delta Chi staff and is currently serving as Director of Alumni Services (he is also serving the Educational Foundation as its administrator). Patrick J. Alderdice, Ball State '92 is a third-year member of the staff and is currently serving as Director of Chapter Services. The Leadership Consultants include Keith Fields, Chico '93; Jim Marascio, Bryant '93; Tom Sheffield, Idaho '94; Andrew Smith, Georgia Tech '94 and Eric Woodworth, Oklahoma State '94. Marge Lee, Delta Chi's Office Manager, is in her 31st year as a member of the staff. Rounding out the Headquarters staff are Debra Bilskemper, secretary (nine years on staff); Tanya Moody, clerk/typist and Terri Rocca, part-time staff person.

DELTA CHI OF THE YEAR

1993 - Charles Marshall

Brother Charles Marshall, Illinois '51, Retired Vice Chairman of the Board of AT&T, joined Illinois Bell in 1953 as a service engineer in Peoria, Illinois. During his early career with the Bell System he held numerous assignments in Illinois and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York. In January of 1975, Mr. Marshall was appointed Vice President of Texas Operations for Southwestern Bell in Dallas and in September, 1976, he was named Vice President and Treasurer of AT&T in New York City. In April of 1977, he returned to his home state of Illinois as President and CEO of Illinois Bell, a position he held until 1981. At that time he returned to AT&T as President of Information Systems.

In April, 1985, Brother Marshall was named Vice Chairman of the Board of AT&T, a position he held until he retired in June of 1989.

He is currently serving as a Director of Control Data, GATX Inc., Grumman, Inc., HARTMARX, Sonat, Inc., Sundstrand, Zenith, Newberry Library and the University of Illinois Foundation. He also serves as a trustee of The University of Chicago.

Brother Marshall and his wife, Millicent, live in Naples, Florida.

1994 - Mel Fisher

Brother Fisher, Purdue '45, The World's greatest Treasure Hunter, has propelled Treasure Salvors, Inc. to success beyond the wildest dreams of other treasure hunting companies. At age 11 in Hobart, Indiana, he attempted to build his own underwater breathing apparatus. While he made it below the surface, it did not work and he came up sputtering. But he did not stop trying.

In 1968, Brother Fisher began to focus his business venture on finding the Atocha, reported to be one of the richest sunken treasure ships in the world. By 1980 he had yet to find the "mother lode," the bulk of the Atocha's treasure. In 1980, he began to bring up treasure from another ship, the Santa Margarita, that sank the same day as the Atocha. He salvaged some $20,000,000 in treasure, but never lost sight of his goal of finding the elusive Atocha. July 20, 1985, the "mother lode" was located and the greatest treasure find in the history of the world was complete.

Brother Fisher and Treasure Salvors, Inc. used persistence, inventiveness and determination to overcome severe financial hardship and personal tragedies in the search for the Atocha. They are now respected and appreciated for their great accomplishments in underwater search and salvage and for their precedent-setting legal actions, all of which have earned Mel Fisher the unofficial title of the world's greatest treasure hunter.

Special Convention awards

CONVENTION HONOREE

Dr. F. Kenneth Brasted, Florida '35, served from 1967 to 1975, as Executive Director of the Fraternity, shepherding Delta Chi through several years of turmoil on the continent's college campuses. He restructured the Headquarters' operation, establishing a higher professional standard. Dr. F. Kenneth Brasted worked successfully to preserve the Fraternity's solvency in difficult times, oversaw the purchase of the building that is still the Fraternity's Headquarters, and actively and ably represented Delta Chi in the interfraternity world.

ORDER OF THE WHITE CARNATION

Christopher W. Johnson, Kentucky '77, was a founding father at the Kentucky Chapter. He served as Chapter "A", "B", "C", served three terms as Vice Regent, three terms as Regent for Region VI, and served as Legal Advisor for the Delta Chi Educational Foundation.

VALOR AWARD

The Valor Award recognizes special acts of heroism by Delta Chi members.

Vincent T. Palmer, Frostburg '94, rushed to the aid of a man on the beach of Ocean City who had been struck by lightning. The victim was in full cardiac arrest when Brother Palmer arrived, and Vince immediately started CPR. Another man arrived and the two did two-man CPR until EMS arrived with emergency care equipment about 10 minutes after the lightning struck. Because of Brother Palmer's actions, a man survived a terrible accident.

MERITORIOUS SERVICE AWARD

This award is given to alumni who have made significant contributions to Delta Chi of a semi-conspicuous nature as a "BB", ABT member, committee member, Regent, Vice Regent or staff member. The award can also be given to undergraduates for their service to the Fraternity in positions such as Regional Conference Coordinator, Undergraduate Vice Regent or as a committee member for the International Fraternity.

Thomas A. Bahr, Northeast Missouri '84 for his service to the Northeast Missouri Chapter.

Raymond F. Borelli, Illinois '58, for his service to the Illinois Chapter and as "AA", "CC" and "DD".

John D. Buschman, Michigan State '78, for his service the Michigan State Chapter.

George M. Flynn, Illinois '77, for his service to the Georgia Tech Chapter.

Edward Fusco, Embury Riddle '77, for service to the North Texas Colony.

James A. McCain, Western Michigan '57, for service to the Western Michigan Chapter.

William C. Morris, Western Michigan FAC, for service to the Western Michigan Chapter.

Kevin Weiner, Maryland '87, for service to the Maryland and American Chapters.

DISTINGUISHED DELTA CHI

This award is given for significant achievement in one's profession, or outstanding civic service, while upholding the values and ideals of the Fraternity.

Gregory C. Jones, Hobart '87, Director of Country Operations of Eastern Europe for the World Bank.

William M. McCormick, Northeast Missouri FAC, Owner, Capital GBS Communications.

Terry D. Snook, Louisiana Tech FAC, Owner, Midas Muffler Franchise Operation.

Dr. George Tiller, Kansas '63, Women's Health Care Advocate in Wichita, Kansas.

John J. Kuhn Award

The second John J. Kuhn Award for Service to the Fraternity Movement was awarded to Durward W. Owen who has served as Chief Executive Officer of the Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity since 1959.

Through the years, Mr. Owen has served the interfraternal world in many capacities, always with a spirit of interfraternal cooperation and communication. In 1966-67, he served as President of the College Fraternity Editors Association. He is also a past president of the Fraternity Executives Association, the Fraternity Insurance Purchasing Group and the Fraternity Insurance Trust. He is a past board member of the National Interfraternity Conference and is involved with the Association of Fraternity Advisors and the Southeastern Interfraternity Conference.

Durward has been fortunate to be recognized by several organizations for his interfraternalism. In addition to the John J. Kuhn Award, he has been a recipient of the Kappa Delta Rho Merit Award, the SEIFC Karlem Riess Distinguished Service Award, the Zeta Psi Interfraternity Service Award, the Triangle Fraternity Certificate of Appreciation, the FEA Award of Appreciation, the NIC Interfraternal Award, The Tau Kappa Epsilon Interfraternity Service Award, the Phi Kappa Psi Interfraternal Award and the NIC Gold Medal.

Durward retired from Pi Kappa Phi this year. He and his wife Connie attended the Convention Banquet where the award was presented and Mr. Owen mentioned members of Delta Chi who have had an impact on him over the years. He stated that had he not been a Pi Kappa Phi, he most certainly would have liked to have been a Delta Chi.

Obear Reaches Martlet Club

With his most recent donation to the Delta Chi Educational Foundation, George W. Obear, DePauw '30, has reached the Martlet Club ($50,000 to $99,999) giving level. He is only the sixth member in Delta Chi history to reach this level of commitment.

Brother Obear was honored for his love and devotion for Delta Chi at the Convention where he was presented with his Martlet Club plaque. He has served Delta Chi as both "AA" (1969 and 1970) and "CC" (1968 and 1969). Brother Obear is an "AA" Emeritus and was inducted into The Order of The White Carnation in 1981. He continued his almost unparalleled run of attendance at Delta Chi Conventions by being present in Atlanta and has been a long-time supporter of the DePauw Chapter.

Brother Obear, at age 86, is Of Counsel for the Law Firm of Obear, Overholser, Huffer and Rider in Delphi, Indiana, and still goes to his office everyday. He is a Delta Chi treasure and the entire Fraternity has benefited from having George as a brother. On behalf of the Fraternity, we thank you, George, for all you have done.

1993-94 Award Winners

The Delta Chi Awards Program is designed to recognize and promote those areas that are critical to the success of a chapter. The oldest award, the "E" Key Award, and the Outstanding "C" Award recognize the performance of two vital chapter officers.

In recognition of a chapter's performance on campus and within the community, the Outstanding Campus Leadership, Outstanding Community Service Program, Outstanding Intramural Program, Outstanding Membership Recruitment Program, and Outstanding Scholarship Program Awards are presented.

For many of us, college represents the first time in our lives where we truly tried to achieve – to broaden our minds. Whether through tutorials, study groups or simply discussions with friends, fraternities help us conquer intellectual challenges.

Fraternities also teach us the art of compromise. Sometimes we have to forfeit our immediate desires for the sake of our brothers. How many times can you remember when someone asked, 'hey, would you get out of my room so I can do a little studying?' Or, 'would you quiet down so I can cram for this test?' Something or someone has to give in those situations and through these seemingly menial interactions with each other, we learn how to compromise. We learn to persevere. It strengthens our character. It builds the individual, and it prepares us for the job of life beyond college.

It would be difficult – nearly impossible – to live together as brothers without a unified commitment to honesty. Practically speaking, most of us never appreciated the significance of honesty until we joined our fraternity. Granted, our mothers and fathers told us about its importance, but human beings seldom understand the truth of such advice until experiencing it firsthand. Living in a fraternity reveals the actual value of traits such as honesty, and it takes an incident such as something missing from a room in the fraternity house for us to appreciate honesty in a practical sense.

Another quality that fraternities nurture in members is loyalty. Loyalty, such as the loyalty of the brotherhood that you first experience in college, continues beyond your academic years. You see it strengthen your family and your job security.

The greatest virtue that fraternities instill is faith because it is faith, both personal and spiritual, that brings all of the other virtues together. It makes the individual a better person, and it strengthens his character. It is not coincidence that the successful people I have met over the years exhibit both a faith in themselves as well as a faith in their God. And I willingly acknowledge that I am a United States Senator because I am a Delta Chi. For that, I thank all of you.

In closing, I want to challenge you, as Delta Chis, to make sure that this fraternity stands as a unique anchor on campuses across America. One that impresses upon its members the value of self-discipline, compassion, responsibility, friendship, work, courage, perseverance, honesty, loyalty and faith. For you see, I believe that our fraternity molds young men who then become the core of this great country's foundation. Whether as a United States Senator, a school board member, a small businessman or a father, you will have the opportunity to influence the lives of those around you. And the qualities that Delta Chi develops in all of its members will assist you – will assist you – will assist us – in answering America's cry for moral leaders. Therefore, in this uncommon unity that we have as fraternity brothers, we must now accept the responsibility of insuring that Delta Chi remains and prospers. In so doing, we will create moral leaders for America and for the twenty-first century.

Thank you all for allowing me to be a part of your evening.

this is what we heard from you a modern knight writes . . .

Dear Brothers,

The power of the Bond is much stronger than most of us know. When I first pledged Delta Chi I felt that I was being accepted for a mystic preceptorship into a group of gentlemen knights and that my service to the fraternity was toward a higher use than self.

I soon learned that the comradeship of the fraternity was stronger than anything in my life up to then. Initiation was an overwhelming emotional experience I still remember in detail.

Long after graduation, the brotherhood that filled all of us then is almost as powerful to me as it was more than 36 years ago.

This is not to say that I have become a "brooder over those golden days" or live in the past, far from it. Yet, I find that many of my chapter members have kept in touch over the years and although our letters and cards may be infrequent, we are concerned with each other and are interested in lives that have gone far differently from ours.

I have been in battle, seen men die and felt that kinship with comrades in arms which some thinkers believe to be the strongest tie among men. Yet, in spite of all my experiences, the passage of time, success, failure, and happiness I still remember the fraternity, not only the "things" we did, but the deep affection and respect we had for one another. Of all the people I've met and interacted with in adulthood, my fraternity brothers, even those unseen all these years, are still my deepest friends.

To those who are active today, many of the things we did and thought must seem as quaint as three-cornered hats. Life has changed and the fraternity has changed with it as it should. Dry, useless tradition always must give way to youthful vigor, change is the one great constant of life.

Yet never changing is the tradition of the Bond, the Code of the modern knight, who lives life according to the principles charged to us as Delta Chis. Styles and fashions come and go but the meaningful things in life grow with us.

In spite of the differences in age, dress, style and political views, I believe we all share the same feelings of brotherhood which is the essence of Fraternity. Without it, Delta Chi and all other fraternities would shrivel and die. We will always be strong within the Bond.

In the Bond,

Neil Slocum, Iowa '54

& a mom speaks up

Dear Delta Chi National Officers, Regents and Headquarters Staff,

With Greek beginnings as a collegiate at Western Michigan University in the early 60's it was my fortune to be close to many of the Delta Chis at that time. Today I still maintain close relationships with some of these men. No doubt you will understand how very proud I was when my son, Jeff, chose to become a part of your brotherhood.

The Bond has been very strong and rewarding to him. As a mom it has been a pleasure to be associated with the men of your WMU chapter for the past 4 years. I have seen their highs and lows. As an active Alpha Chi Omega alumna working with collegiate chapters in the state I am aware of the many societal factors picking away to the detriment of all Greek organizations. May all of you responsible for awarding the Most Improved Chapter to the Delta Chis as WMU pat yourselves on the back! They are very beautiful individuals who together have overcome much recently. As they continue, with your support, I have confidence that Delta Chi will be very proud of the character of men exemplifying your ideals through their Bond.

Congratulations to your Fraternity, thank you for the gift you have given my son, and Happy Founders' Day!

Sincerely,
Mary King

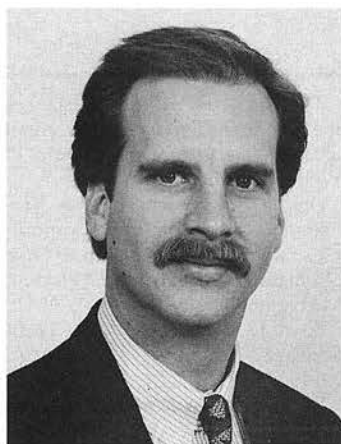

Calling All Delta Chi Fraternity Alumni

Beginning 01/09/95, representatives of Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company Inc., will start telephoning alumni for the verification phase of our Delta Chi Fraternity Alumni Directory project.

Much of the information to be verified on each individual's listing will be going into the Directory. Specifically, current name, academic data, residence address and phone, number, current occupation, and business address and phone number (if applicable). The scope of this information is an indication of the comprehensive quality of the entire volume. The Directory will sort this data by name in alphabetical division, and by class year, and geographical location in separate sections of the book. There will also be a special message from the Alumni Office / Association with photos of and information about the school.

Soon locating fellow alumni will be as easy as turning a page with the Delta Chi Fraternity Directory. You may reserve your personal copy when your Harris representative phones, but don't delay because only prepublication orders received at that time will be guaranteed.

Why did you decide to serve as "BB"?

I am now living 400 miles from my home chapter where I was active as the "A", "B" and Rush Chairman when I was in school. When the Memphis State Colony contacted me, I saw a prime opportunity to help out Delta Chi and at the same time continue my involvement, all while giving something back to Delta Chi.

What do you enjoy most about serving as "BB"?

Being able to return something to the very thing that was such a positive influence on me. My values and ethics were strongly shaped during my Delta Chi experiences. I now have an opportunity to help these young men in the Fraternity achieve the same thing.

Why did you decide to serve as "BB"?

Delta Chi meant a lot to me as an undergraduate, and a chance to give something back to has always existed. The Chapter was going through some tough times when they asked me to serve, and I believed that with a little hard work and proper guidance, this group of young men could be one of the premier chapters in the Fraternity.

What do you enjoy most about serving as "BB"?

Seeing how much the chapter has changed. We are returning to leadership in sports, civic activities, social events and most importantly, academics. Our ABT has been re-established and the alumni are pleased with us. All this has made being "BB" a wonderful experience.

ALUMNI CHAPTERS

Alumni in the Toronto area are busy planning several events for the upcoming year for all Delta Chi alumni in the area. The first event planned is a holiday gathering December 2 at the Burlington Golf and Country Club. Plans are also underway for a formal dinner next summer at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club and a Founders' Day dinner next October. For more information on any of these events, please call Bill Curry at 905-844-7479.

Donald R.
Lash
Indiana '37

From the September, 1936, Quarterly:

Don Lash, Indiana, earned for himself the title

"The most talked about athlete in the United States" given him by Time magazine, by running two miles in 8 min. 58.3 seconds in the Princeton Invitation Track meet last June, and on a rain soaked track

In 1931, Paavo Nurmi ran the two miles in 8:59.6 which was the fastest time ever recorded for a human runner for that distance. . . .

Time describes the race as follows: "In the two mile run, a filler on the program, Lash took the lead in the first lap, set a blistering pace of 62.9 for the quarter. When he turned the mile in 4:26.9, faster than Nurmi's first mile in either of his records, the crowd glued its eyes to the huge seconds clock at the end of the stadium. . . .

"Trackmen who saw it last week rubbed their eyes and spoke of 'the best race, all things considered, ever run'."

His feats earned for him a place on the 1936 U.S. Olympic Track Team.

Donald R. Lash passed away last summer. He was national cross-country champion seven times and won the Sullivan Award as the nation's outstanding amateur athlete. He is a member of the United States Hall of Fame in Track. He held the world's indoor and outdoor records in the 2-mile run.

He retired from the Federal Bureau of Investigations in 1963 after 21 years. He then became a regional director for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He was also a real estate broker and served for 10 years in the Indiana House of Representatives.
