Thomas Glasgow Keeper of McDonald's Keys

THE KEEPER OF THE KEYS

When Thomas Glasgow was promoted to Executive Vice President and Chief Operations Officer of McDonald's, Mike Quinlan, chairman of the corporation, called him the "keeper of the keys." No small task when the keys open more than 16,000 restaurants around the world.

The leading food service retailer in the global consumer marketplace, McDonald's serves more than 30 million people daily at almost 11,000 restaurants in the United States and nearly 6,000 in 84 other countries around the world.

Glasgow's responsibilities span both domestic and international operations. He is in charge of all operational aspects, including setting standards for equipment, procedures, cooking methods and food quality. His department also does extensive research in restaurant equipment and menu development and he oversees security functions and Hamburger University, where training procedures are developed and implemented for licensees and employees worldwide.

As a member of the eight-man senior management team, Glasgow, Michigan

State '68, is a key figure in setting company policy and shaping its future. He is a charismatic speaker and often acts as a spokesman in the media and at the bi-annual convention, which hosts 9,000-plus McDonald's licensees, employees and suppliers.

His involvement with McDonald's dates back to his undergraduate days.

"Over the course of my sophomore and junior years, a group of us would head for Florida during spring break," Glasgow said. "The parents of one of my good friends and fraternity brothers, Philip Vineyard, lived near St. Petersburg and these trips often gave us the opportunity to visit with his parents.

"Mr. Vineyard was one of the largest franchisees for McDonald's at the time, with over 20 restaurants in the St. Petersburg area. I was a hotel and restaurant management major, but had never really thought about going into the fast food business. Mr. Vineyard asked me to call him before I took a job with someone else. I did; he made me an offer I couldn't refuse, and I went to work for him."

It was the beginning of an illustrious career in management. In 1973, Mr. Vineyard retired and Glasgow was absorbed into the corporation. He served as a store manager and as a supervisor. At that time Florida was a growing area for McDonald's and a district office was opened. Glasgow became a business consultant with responsibility for 25 to 50 stores. Later he was placed in charge of the business consultants.

From St. Pete, he moved to Miami which was a region in itself with over 130 restaurants. From there it was off to Atlanta and a position as Regional Vice President. Atlanta was one of six original regions for McDonald's, and in the capacity of Regional VP, Glasgow was responsible for all aspects of the business from marketing, franchise decisions and construction of new restaurants, to human resources and oversight of the regional staff. Glasgow considers that to be one of the best jobs in the company because the person in that capacity is basically in charge of a 350-million-dollar business. In 1983 he was asked to come to the home office as Vice President of Operations and Product Development.

After a stint as a Senior Vice President of Operations, Product Development and Engineering, Glasgow was named to his current position in 1991. His responsibilities are varied and diverse, and he chuckled when asked to describe a typical work day.

"If there is such a thing," he said, laughing. "Not unlike the other top eight executives, I am involved in strategic planning on a daily basis. We are constantly reviewing, coordinating and communicating where we stand.

"We are a customer-based company and therefore, it is important for all of the executives to stay close to the restaurants. I spend two to three days each week in the field making sure everyone knows what we are trying to accomplish and that everyone is on the same page.

"the entire educational experience goes well beyond the books, and the Fraternity played a huge role in that"

"McDonald's is represented in 85 countries and I have accumulated quite a few frequent-flier miles. I try to spend as much time as possible in the field close to our customers," he said.

Glasgow enjoys the challenges that his position provides him every day, and he considers the company's growth to be at the top of the list. The company is growing at the phenomenal rate of about 10% a year and expects to add 2,200 restaurants this year. With that growth comes the challenge of logistics and people development.

"The challenges are positive," Glasgow said. "When many companies are downsizing, we are worried about where we are going to find the people to handle our growth. We are also constantly working to understand the lifestyle changes and to meet the needs of our customers. But that is not enough. Our job is to not just give them what they want, but to be the first to give it to them. Innovation is the key to any industry."

And innovation may not mean keeping things fresh and different, especially for McDonald's.

"Fresh and different are not necessarily what our customers want," Glasgow commented. "They want consistent and reliable. They want to know that the Big Mac they get in Minneapolis is the same as they would get around the world.

However, the McDonald's experience is more than just the food. We try to do some innovative things with our stores.

"The company has a commitment to kids with our playlands. We work with decor packages and are also trying new venues. You will now see McDonald's in airports, Wal-Marts and Home Depots, post offices and gas stations. We will have a strong presence at the Olympics as this is the first time we will be selling food to the athletes in the Olympic Village. Also, three or four times a year we will tie in with a major movie such as Batman or the Power Rangers."

McDonald's customers are constantly changing and Glasgow and his colleagues have to work to meet their needs. These are huge challenges, but with huge challenges come huge rewards.

"The most rewarding thing about my job is that we serve 30 million people a day and have over a half-million employees. As the 'keeper of the keys' I am able to help shape the kinds of products and services we offer and the facilities and environment in which our employees work," he said. "Just the sheer number of people I am able to impact is very rewarding."

He has become a leader in one of the most (if not the most) recognized corporations in the world. And he knows what it takes to advance a career to that point.

"It takes job knowledge. Some you can learn, but you have to bring a certain level of expertise to the table. You also have to have people skills. You have to have integrity, be trustworthy and have good judgment. Management is no longer command and control. It is teamwork and working with people. People expect to be treated differently than they used to be.

"Communication skills are equally important. You have to be able to sell your ideas and sell yourself and be a good listener. People often want to talk before they listen or they try to shape their next comment while the others are talking.

"You cannot overlook the art of compromise. With a smaller company, this may not be as important. With a large corporation, you have to be able to give and take. Also, in order to be successful, you have to have an ability to assess risk taking. You can't be reckless, but you have to take risks and be able to live with and learn from your mistakes.

"Looking back on my career, I understand there is also luck involved. However, you have to prepare yourself so that you can take advantage of opportunities when they arise. And finally, you cannot underestimate the importance of working your butt off. You have to set the pace and have to model hard work and understand the difference between hard work and smart work. These are the things that have helped me."

Glasgow began to develop these skills while still in college. Although he was initiated into Delta Chi on April 1, he believes the valuable impact Delta Chi can have on a young man is no joke.

"There were 40,000 students at Michigan State, which was one of the reasons I went there," Glasgow shared. "However, I kind of got lost in the masses. Delta Chi gave me a home base and a nucleus to negotiate the big environment with. The personal development was important as well. Delta Chi helped me develop my character. You were responsible for the output of your environment, and you are responsible for your own destiny. You decide who you live with and how you live with them and you control the finances. All of that is important when you are 18 or 19 years old.

"I really had no prior exposure to fraternities. After a couple of terms in the residence halls I was leading a bit of a lonely existence. So I took the approach of looking at several different chapters. I looked at their records in academics, social, athletics, etc. and narrowed my choices down to three.

"It simply got down to the brothers themselves. Delta Chi had a persona I felt was me. Most of the guys talked with me and took an interest in me and there were two or three guys I really hit it off with, one of whom eventually became my big brother.

"We were a good, strong group. We were tops in academics, athletics, had a large

ROWAN CHARTERS

After three years of preparation and much anticipation the men of Delta Chi Rowan College of New Jersey shed the status of Colony and received the prestigious title of Chapter on April 28, 1995.

The event was held at the Cherry Hill, New Jersey, Holiday Inn and was attended by numerous notable Delta Chis including past "AA" Greg Hauser, "CC" Bill Williams, our Regent Joe Guarino and the keynote speaker, "DD" Paul Bohlman. Along with various alumni and the undergraduates, everyone was treated to a spectacular evening of fine dining and dancing while basking in the glow of our achievement.

After both amusing and emotional speeches by Brothers Bohlman and Williams, "A" Matthew Roche was presented the chartering proclamation amidst rousing shouts and cheers from all. A highlight from the evening included the "How many Delta Chis does it take to get a picture?" joke as the overly excited brothers struggled to compose themselves for a pose while our dates succeeded in the same task in about a quarter of the time we needed.

We would like to thank all of those in attendance and those who could not join us. A special and sincere thank you goes out to the Headquarters Staff, particularly Steve Bossart and Brett Sherbert for setting us off on this path and for their undying support and faith in us for the entire chartering process and Tom Sheffield and Scott Steenrod for helping with the finishing touches. We also extend thanks to Matty Bernarducci for his countless days of help with typing and formatting the petition.

As the evening came to an end, everyone was filled with a sense of accomplishment and a deeper understanding of being "Proud to be a Delta Chi." This same feeling will undoubtedly carry on and will serve only to strengthen our chapter in years to come.

Chartering "A" Matt Roche and Founding "A" Jack Grossman display the charter, the culmination of three years of hard work.

Mark Drews Awarded Fulbright

Mark Drews, Michigan State '82, a senior audio engineer at the Syracuse University School of Music, won a Fulbright Senior Fellowship to conduct research in music recording engineering education in Stavanger, Norway. The J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board and the United States Information Agency announced the award. Drews assisted faculty at the Rogaland University Center and the Rogaland Music Conservatory in developing Norway's first graduate program in music recording.

A native of Michigan, Brother Drews earned a BM in music engineering from the University of Miami, Florida, in 1983. He completed his degree by interning with the Norwegian Broadcasting Company in Bergen, Norway. He has been active as a music recording engineer, educator and musician in Syracuse, New York. In addition, he is the founding editor and publisher of New Ears: The Audio Career and Education Handbook. Mr. Drews is a member of the Audio Engineering Society, the Music and Entertainment Industry Educators Association, the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, and the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers.

Mark Drews was one of approximately 1,800 U.S. grantees who travel abroad each academic year under the Fulbright Program.

Established in 1946 under Congressional legislation introduced by former Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, the program is designed "to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries." Individuals are selected on the basis of academic and professional qualifications, plus their ability and willingness to share ideas and experiences with people of diverse cultures.

OUR CHALLENGE AS DELTA CHIS:

# 10 should be # 1

As I address you on this Founders' Day, the 105th anniversary of Delta Chi, we have much of which to be proud. Delta Chi now has 122 undergraduate groups at colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada and we will soon initiate our 75,000th member into the Bond. Delta Chi continues to maintain solid financial management and is well respected within the interfraternal world.

Despite these, and many other positives, there is one very disturbing trend that seems to be growing and is threatening our very existence at some campuses. This trend is the increasing number of behavior-related issues that are being reported. These range from some minor altercations to severe incidents that threaten to close down some of our oldest and most prestigious chapters.

I know the temptation among some undergraduates is to say, "National is out to get us." The reality is that every year the International Fraternity devotes more time and resources toward preventing these kinds of incidents.

The general fraternity must be both proactive and reactive. We devote large amounts of time giving seminars, developing programming such as manuals and videos, and educating members about risk management and proper behavior. The second "necessary evil" is the reactive part where we are required to enforce standards and discipline chapters that risk the good name of Delta Chi. Another reality is that during this past year intervention from the International Fraternity is all that prevented some campuses from closing local chapters.

The question is often asked, "Do undergraduates today behave worse than those in past generations?" This is a difficult question to answer and one that depends mostly on subjective opinion.

It is, however, a nearly universally agreed upon fact that tolerance levels toward poor conduct are lower than in the past. University faculties and administrators, politicians, law enforcement officials, and most of the general public is "fed up with it." Society today views many issues, Greek and non-Greek, much differently than they did a few years ago. People are no longer willing to take a boys-will-be-boys attitude.

So, whether the behavior is better or worse than previous generations really is irrelevant. The bottom line is that times have changed and the price paid today is almost sure to be greater. In addition to the personal risks involved, many of our chapters are literally faced with losing their charter.

Every Delta Chi has taken an oath to promote character and advance justice. Do we truly believe that, or did we merely recite those lines without accepting any ownership or giving any true thought to the meaning of them?

I believe most, if not all, fraternities have similar values and stand for scholarship, leadership, integrity, etc. But, in Delta Chi, I believe we subscribe to a higher level of behavior by virtue of our history. Our basis as a law fraternity and our embracement of the ideals of Sir Edward Coke challenge Delta Chi to a higher standard than "just any fraternity." If we truly hold respect for and observance of the law as our cardinal principle then we must live our lives and conduct our organization in such a manner as to reflect this.

In 1988 the Board of Regents adopted The Basic Expectations of a Delta Chi. I'm sure most of you have seen these before, but as a reminder they are listed on page 7. As I review these, one thing strikes me as ironic. The first nine become largely irrelevant unless we adhere to the tenth. When you hear people lament the decay of society or start a sentence with "Kids today . . .", perhaps this is an area that rings true.

"AA" Larry Nothnagel

Personally, I don't think undergraduate behavior, in general, is much different than that of past generations. I do, however, feel there is less accountability for, and less ownership of, the behaviors that do occur. I believe if basic expectation number ten were followed more often, the first nine would automatically receive much greater compliance. Number ten simply says:

I will challenge all my fraternity members to abide by these fraternity obligations and I will confront those who violate them.

I have always been fond of the famous quotation from eighteenth-century British Statesman Edmund Burke who said, "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing."

In fraternity it is not enough to only look out for one's self. Individual members have an obligation to the brotherhood, both locally, and internationally, to see that other members are living up to our oath. "To challenge and confront." These are things Sir Edward Coke had the courage to do to the King of England nearly 400 years ago so that you and I may enjoy many of the rights we have today. These qualities are the mark of a true leader and a true Delta Chi.

BASIC EXPECTATIONS OF A DELTA CHI

1. I will strive for academic achievement and practice academic integrity.
2. I will respect the dignity and worth of all persons. I will not physically, mentally, psychologically or sexually abuse or haze any human being.
3. I will protect the health and safety of all human beings.
4. I will respect my property and the property of others; therefore, I will neither abuse nor tolerate the abuse of property.
5. I will meet my financial obligations in a timely manner.
6. I will neither use nor support the use of illegal drugs; I will neither abuse nor support the abuse of alcohol.
7. I will acknowledge that a clean and attractive environment is essential to both physical and mental health; therefore, I will do all in my power to see that the chapter property is safe, properly cleaned and maintained.
8. I will know and understand the ideals expressed in my fraternity Ritual and will incorporate them into my daily life.
9. I will exercise compassion and understanding in dealing with all persons.
10. I will challenge all my fraternity members to abide by these fraternity obligations and will confront those who violate them.

Adopted July 24, 1988
The Delta Chi Fraternity Board of Regents

Risk Management Violations

Despite the Fraternity's best efforts, chapters continue to violate the risk management policy. Following is a list of chapters currently on some level of corrective action for violations as of 10/27/95. Please note that for every level of corrective action, there is a $5.00 per man surcharge added to the risk management assessment. For example, the Alabama Chapter, on Level 4, was billed $20 extra per man on this year's bill.

WEEKEND LEARNING

"What lies behind you and what lies before you pales in significance to what lies within you."

— Ralph Waldo Emerson

The Senator Henry M. Jackson Leadership College August 4-6 was a weekend to be remembered, and many of the 75 attendees considered it to be the best College ever presented.

The delegation from the Alberta Colony in Canada had a grueling four-day trip to Iowa City while others drove in from Georgia and Florida. Some came from as far away as Long Beach, California. But all participants were excited to be participating in a unique program sponsored by the Delta Chi Educational Foundation.

Friday, August 4

The college began at the Heartland Inn where brothers broke into small groups for an "Into the Streets" plunge experience. There is a belief that if a man is to be successful, his life must include service to others. One group spent several hours at a day care center playing and interacting with the children. Group two went to the Iowa City Housing fellowship where they were able to help with yard work and other chores that city residents may not have been able to do on their own. Group three helped organize and distribute food at the Crisis Center Food Bank. The fourth group assisted some elderly shut-ins with some much-needed yard work. And the last group painted playground equipment for a local day care center for gifted children.

Many brothers considered this to be the highlight of the College. They felt good that in just two short hours, they had been able to make a difference in the lives of others.

After the "Into the Streets" experience, the participants were off to the Iowa Memorial Union for icebreakers and the opening session of the College. Mary Peterson, president of MP Consulting and the associate director of campus programs and student activities at the University of Iowa presented the Leadership Practices Inventory. This is a tool designed to help the attendees understand their leadership style and identify areas which they can work to improve.

Following the LPI, participants gathered at the International Headquarters for a reception and tour of the building. It was an enjoyable evening filled with fellowship, idea sharing and pride. But the programming for the day was not finished yet.

Back at the Iowa Memorial Union, everyone participated in "StarPower," an interactive game in which three distinct societies are created and the best and worst aspects of human nature come out. Understanding human nature makes it easier to be effective as a leader, and we were able to draw many meaningful conclusions from the activity.

After small group meetings to go over the activities of the day and to prepare for the long Saturday ahead, it was back to the hotel for a good night's sleep.

Saturday, August 5

All good leaders are able to adapt to difficult situations, and Saturday morning proved that our participants were able to adapt and overcome. The men awakened only to find that there was no water on one entire side of the hotel (of course it was the side where all of our undergraduates were staying.) Everyone took turns in showers on the other side of the building and this dilemma became a running joke during the rest of the weekend.

Even with the half-hour delay, the day started on the right foot with a presentation entitled "Leading Into the Unknown" by Dennis Howard. Mr. Howard is a contract speaker for the Zig Ziglar Corporation and has his own company called It Can Be Done. A dynamic speaker full of charisma, he motivated attendees to strive for new levels of success.

Paul Picciani, Connecticut '89, followed with a presentation on the First Rule of Human Relations. His was an enjoyable, high-energy session focusing on memory techniques and Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

Mr. Howard returned to the podium to present "I'm Motivated But I Can't Get Up." It was a fun, interactive session that gave participants real tools to help motivate others.

The afternoon program was "Achieving Balance In Your Life." The presenter, Dr. Richard Voorneveld, Dean of Students at the College of Charleston, talked about scholastic achievement and the benefits of working smarter, not harder.

After a session on rethinking leadership presented by Dr. Gerri Perreault of the University of Northern Iowa, Dennis Howard returned for a session on "Visioning and Breaking the Fear Barrier." One of the highlights of the College, this session challenged the men to have a vision and gave them tools for how to go after it. Real life examples inspired the attendees. A standing ovation followed the presentation.

Dr. Voorneveld returned After dinner for part two of his "Balanced Man" presentation. This inspirational and meaningful session encouraged the men to strive for balance in the mental, physical and spiritual aspects of their lives. Dr. Voorneveld was also greeted with a standing ovation at the conclusion of his session.

Two more interactive games, called "Marooned" and "Win as Much as You Can," and one more small group meeting concluded a long day at around 11:00 p.m. Some of the men then enjoyed the night life of Iowa City while another group played a full-court basketball game until about 2:30 a.m.

Sunday, August 6

Sunday started with brunch and was followed by a graduation ceremony and a session on "Taking It All Home." This final session was presented by the Lavon P. Linn Chair, Dr. Richard McKaig, Ball State '66, and Dean of the Jackson College. Dr. McKaig's program brought closure to what had been a magnificent and inspiring weekend.

Brothers headed back to their chapters armed with the idea that you get what you want out life by helping enough others get what they want. Because of the experience they had in Iowa City, they are different and better people. That's what Fraternity membership is all about.

What We Heard From You

WEEKEND TRAGEDY

There is a Beatles' song that starts out with "I read the news today, Oh, boy." Well, I did read the news today, and it was not good. There was a color photograph of a Lambda Chi Alpha pledge being carried out of the chapter house in Iowa City. The headline read: Fraternity Pledge Found Dead.

The young man's name was Matthew Garofalo, and I have met thousands of young men exactly like him as I have traveled across North America visiting Delta Chi Chapters. Excited young men filled with exhilaration at having joined a fine fraternity. Exceptional young men with storied high school careers behind them and fine futures ahead of them. Caring young men with good families who love them and are proud of them. Hard-working young men who will make a difference. Gifted young men with talents to offer our fraternity and our communities. I could go on, but I do not need to. You can look around your own chapter and at your new pledge class and you can see plenty of Matthews.

"There are not many guarantees in life, but I will guarantee that it can happen to you."

Steve Bossart, Director of Alumni Services

It is also not hard to picture the evening he died. It was a Thursday evening before a football Saturday. Maybe the guys would have a party at the house or maybe they would go downtown, which would be hopping. The pledges were excited to be Fraternity men. Fraternity men were excited to have new pledges. Little brothers wanted to hang out with their big brothers, and big brothers wanted to hang out with their little brothers.

At hundreds of fraternity houses, the Thursday night talk in the bathroom as guys are getting ready to go out, often sounds like this:

"Man, I am going to get loaded tonight."

"Yeah, me too. I don't think I'll be making it to my 8 o'clock in the morning."

"I'm lucky; I don't have a class until noon."

So the evening begins. It is not hard to picture this either. The speakers blare out Pearl Jam, Goo Goo Dolls, REM or whatever. There are a lot of young women at the house. Everyone is dancing and having a great time. An often-heard cheer is: "He's happy; he's jolly; he's @#$%$# up by golly, so drink . . ." You can see several heads tip back all at once, as if someone had yelled 'heads up.' The yell was more likely 'bottoms up.' Several attendees become noticeably intoxicated, and everyone laughs with them because many of us have been there. And there is always someone who thinks it would be great to drink another shot with that intoxicated person. Many a Thursday night hundreds, maybe thousands, of college students drink until they throw up. Oftentimes they are laughed at. But sometimes, they do not wake up for their 8 o'clock or for any class ever again. That is what happened to Matthew.

Dreams are shattered. Lives are ruined. Nightmares begin. Loved ones are lost. Grief prevails. And people are never the same again.

In that picture on the front page of the paper, a young man stands in the front yard of the fraternity house as Matthew's body is taken away. He is obviously shaken. His hands are over his face and his hat is pulled down over his eyes.

I truly wish I could bottle up what he is feeling and take it with me as I travel across North America. I would like all of our members to feel what he is feeling without having to actually experience what he has experienced. I firmly believe that if they could feel that, they might think twice before buying one more shot, encouraging someone to shotgun a beer, laughing when someone throws up, setting out to get drunk, and most of all, trying to get someone else just that much drunker.

In the next few days there will be a funeral; Matthew's parents will come to Iowa City to collect his belongings; there will be anger, grief, uncertainty, fear, and overwhelming sorrow. The fraternity chapter will possibly close and life will never be the same for many people. All because some guys wanted to have a "good time." It's not worth it.

All I am asking—no, pleading—for is that every one of our brothers think about the consequences of their actions. College men are not invincible. Know when to say ‘when.’ You do not have to drink until you get sick in order to have fun. In fact, most of the people who do drink enough to get sick would agree that it is no fun at all. It is not funny when someone becomes intoxicated. A chapter climate where it is “cool” to talk about how wasted you were the night before is not a healthy environment. You are your brother’s keeper. Don’t buy shots. Encourage brothers to slow down when they are drinking heavily. You are your brother’s keeper.

Many people believe something like this can never happen to them. Ask Matthew Garofalo if he thought it could happen to him. Oh, wait, you can’t ask him because he is dead. Ask the 19-year-old Sigma Chi from Northern Illinois University, Michael Simkins. Wait, he was killed the same weekend as Matthew in a car driven by a fraternity brother who was charged with drunk driving. Ask the two Wittenburg University students, one a Phi Gamma Delta and one a Beta Theta Pi, who died the previous weekend in an accident suspected to be alcohol-related. Of course, you cannot ask them either.

Okay, ask the young man in the newspaper photograph. Ask the members of the former Delta Chi Colony at Bloomsburg University in Pennsylvania if they thought it could happen to them. It did, in the spring of 1994. Ask me. I had to fly out to Bloomsburg on a moment’s notice and spend a week with those brothers. They were not only feeling immense grief, but they were afraid for their futures. If only they had stopped this from happening.

There are not many guarantees in life, but one thing I will guarantee is that it can happen to you. BUT ONLY IF YOU LET IT!

I never met Matthew Garofalo, but I have met thousands like him in our Fraternity. It is my hope and prayer that we never again have a tragedy like the one Lambda Chi is experiencing at the University of Iowa right now. Only our members can control that. It is up to you.

(NOTE: While final autopsy results are not yet available, preliminary results show that Matthew died from fluid in the lungs. In other words, he got drunk, passed out, threw up and choked to death on his own vomit. The subhead to the story was: Heavy drinking at Thursday night party may be a factor.)

The story above highlights the need for sound risk management procedures at the chapter level. The mentality of “It won’t happen here” and the peer pressure that is prevalent among many college men often leads to lax adherence to the Fraternity’s policies, and can result in tragic stories like this one.

Delta Chi has often been accused of trying to remove all the fun from the chapters with the risk management policies. Nothing could be further from the truth. We are constantly fighting this very peer pressure and “It won’t happen here” mentality, and because of that, members draw the conclusion that staff and volunteers do not want the chapters to have fun.

Fraternity is about fellowship and brotherhood, and with that comes a great deal of fun. But we want the chapters to be responsible for making the fun safe. And, in order to limit the possibilities of a tragedy happening, there have to be solid risk management procedures in place.

Those same staff members and volunteers have seen chapters with excellent risk management procedures still have as much (or more) fun as any chapter in North America. We know it can be done and done well.

So we have established that yes, it can happen to you, and yes, great fun can be had while still following solid risk management procedures. It is extremely difficult to understand why, with those two things established, any of our chapters would allow anything less than full compliance with the risk management procedures of the Fraternity.

The risk management policies are outlined on the following page. It is the duty of every member to read and understand those policies. Take note that the story above touches on only the alcohol and drugs section of the policy. There are also sections on hazing, sexual abuse, fire and house safety and education. Delta Chi and its members have been touched negatively by violations of each and every part of the policy.

Two associate members of the Kansas Chapter had to be hospitalized several weeks ago after alleged hazing activities. The Ohio State Chapter house partially burned several summers ago. Several brothers from various chapters have been accused of rape within the past year.

In fact, in the past six years, more than 75 (and those are just the documented cases) gang rapes have occurred on college campuses; 80 to 90 percent involved Fraternities.

I could go on, but I won’t. If you think it cannot happen to you, PLEASE, PLEASE, PLEASE join us on this planet. It can; it can; it can. And it will if you do not take steps to avoid these problems.

Invite guest speakers to your chapter meetings to speak on each individual section of the policy. Make sure that the education continues on the entire policy each semester. Study the Fraternity’s Risk Management Manual. Once educated on the policy, MAKE CHANGES! Your members will be safer, your guests will be safer and your futures will be in your own hands, not in the hands of some civil or criminal court.

There is not a Delta Chi in the world who can convince this author that those are not good things.

1993-94 Award Winners

The Delta Chi Awards Program is designed to recognize and promote those areas that are critical to the success of a chapter. The oldest award, the "E" Key Award, and the Outstanding "C" Award recognize the performance of two vital chapter officers.

In recognition of a chapter's performance on campus and within the community, the Outstanding Campus Leadership, Outstanding Community Service Program, Outstanding Intramural Program, Outstanding Membership Recruitment Program, and Outstanding Scholarship Program Awards are presented.

Three awards address the alumni programming of a chapter: the Outstanding Alumni Board of Trustees, Outstanding Alumni Newsletter and Outstanding "BB" Awards.

Chapters that have shown a marked improvement in their overall operations are given the Certificate of Achievement. The "AA" selects the winner on the Most Improved Chapter from the recipients of this award.

For the Award of Excellence, the Fraternity is divided into two divisions: Red and Buff. The Red Division contains those chapters with 19 or more fraternities on their campus or whose Greek system has over 40% of the undergraduate student body. The remaining chapters make up the Buff Division. The winners of the Award of Excellence show strength across the board. In most cases they are winners of several programming awards. When they are not, they show consistently above average performance in all areas with no area of weakness.

From the recipients of the Award of Excellence, the "AA" selects the President's Cup winners. There is a maximum of three Cups in each Division but no minimum.

A Year of Challenge

The Greek system has been under a great deal of stress in recent years. Universities have banned it from campus, deferred its rush and restricted its new member orientation programs. In response to its continued risk management violations, it has received increased, negative coverage in the press, been zoned out of housing and focused on by the local police. Its rush numbers are down for the fourth year in a row. Clearly, the system must change. It needs to refocus on living up to its basic principles instead of giving them meer lipservice. Like the character in the movie Network, society is saying "I'm mad as hell and I'm not going to take it any longer!"

This past year, Delta Chi established five colonies: Alberta, Lake Forest, New Mexico State, Radford and West Chester. The Kansas State, Memphis, Rowan, Western Carolina and Wyoming Colonies were chartered. Unfortunately, the Creighton and Union Chapters as well as the Lindenwood and UCLA Colonies were closed.

In the fall of 1995, we visited 107 out of our 126 chapters and colonies (85%) and followed that up by visiting 106 out of our 125 chapters and colonies in the spring (85%). Every group received at least one visit for the school year with 70% receiving two or more visits for the year. That is an average far above the standard among the men's fraternities. A significant amount of staff time was spent on helping struggling groups.

RISK MANAGEMENT

This past year was a busy one for responding to risk management situations. Our Arizona Chapter lost its University recognition due to inappropriate behavior. Delta Chi put the 110-member Chapter through a membership review process and 38 men were reaffiliated. We also placed the Chapter under alumni conservatorship. After numerous visits to our Washington Chapter, we finally placed that Chapter under alumni conservatorship and they inactivated several men. A police raid on the chapter house in August uncovered alcohol being served to minors and the Chapter will probably be faced with vacating the property or not having any alcohol on the premises for the next three years. The Valdosta Chapter was placed under alumni conservatorship for financial mismanagement and the alumni have asked the Headquarters staff to do a membership review in the fall to determine which members will be allowed to return to the Chapter. The Alabama, Eastern Illinois and Northwest Missouri Chapters were all placed on probation for hazing with the Alabama Chapter also being placed under alumni conservatorship. In addition, the Alabama Chapter "A" and associate member counselor were both inactivated for the fall semester. Allegations of hazing at another chapter are currently being reviewed by the Fraternity's Risk Management Commission. Twelve other chapters are under probation for either alcohol or hazing violations.

While many of our chapters say that we only tell them what they cannot do, they seem to know exactly what to try to hide from visiting staff members and what not to tell their parents and potential associate members. Delta Chi has provided them with over 100 social and brotherhood ideas that do not utilize alcohol. Also available are scores of programming ideas for the associate member program to replace any questionable activities. The chapter "F" has been designated the Risk Management officer and has a manual to assist him in helping his chapter provide a safe and enjoyable environment for its members.

HOUSING FUND

As of June 30, 1995, Delta Chi had over $1,298,000 outstanding in loans to 23 different chapters. Over $300,000 was in new loans with nine loans having been retired during the fiscal year. Unfortunately, 12 of the loans were delinquent. The net assets of the fund total $1,918,000. The purpose of this fund is to provide seed money and to help with down payments that will enable the chapters to obtain primary loans from local financial institutions. In some cases, however, it is the only source of financing available. It was started in 1964 and has been primarily financed through a "head tax" that was self-imposed by the chapters at Convention. The rest of the increase in the fund is from interest on outstanding loans. Because the majority of our groups have been started or restarted in the last 13 years and many of the established chapters have houses built in the 1920s or earlier, more is needed but our undergraduates can only afford to pay so much into the fund.

FINANCES

The operating budget for 1994-95 was $920,645 excluding liability insurance. Net operating income was $854,845 (including the $16,645 surplus carried forward from the previous fiscal year) and operating expenses were $813,589 resulting in a $41,256 (4.8%) operating surplus for the year. This operating surplus has been carried forward to the 1995-96 budget. The chapters' fourth year of declining numbers contributed to the shortfall of over $65,000 in Delta Chi's budgeted income. In the face of this shortfall, expenses were cut by not filling a staff position when it became vacant early in the year, delaying certain purchases and an across the board conservative spending policy. Delta Chi's accounts receivable from its chapters declined $6,370 due mainly to writing off over $13,000 in bad debts.

KEEPER OF THE KEYS

base of brothers and had good alumni leadership from the outside. They were always there for us but let us run things and do our own thing.

"I remember when I was kitchen manager, we lost our cook and had a tough time finding a replacement. A number us, including myself, took on the lion's share of the work and did the cooking for 60 to 70 men as well as going to class and all the other activities. It taught us self-reliance. The ability to compromise and the self-discipline that Delta Chi taught have been valuable in my career.

"I believe the entire educational experience goes well beyond the books, and the Fraternity played a huge role in that development. Delta Chi provided an environment where we would take care of each other. We took academics seriously and there was a bit of peer pressure to do well in school. We spent time together, worked on key projects and learned a lot."

It is those experiences of camaraderie or sitting in a room talking late at night that Glasgow remembers, and the friendships that he developed have remained important to him through the years.

"Philip Vineyard is now a McDonald's franchise owner in North Carolina, and he and I have been friends since college. Another friend of mine is David Blunt who works for Fireman's Fund Insurance. It is always enjoyable to come across other Delta Chis," Glasgow said. "I am on the Board of NSF International (which is kind of like Underwriters Laboratory except for water and food equipment devices) and I overheard one of the other Board members, Tom Gable, talking about Delta Chi. It turns out he is a Delta Chi from Michigan State as well. I also enjoy going up to a kid wearing a Delta Chi shirt just to see if I can remember things.

"I have not been able to donate my time to the Fraternity, but I think if you can do it, you should try to give something back to the organization, if not in person, then financially."

Glasgow also had this bit of advice to the undergraduates. "Up until I graduated I wasn't sure what I was going to do, and it is not a sin if you do not know exactly what you want to do," he said. "The more you can take advantage of the career days and other opportunities to find out if you like to deal with things, ideas or people, the better off you will be. Take advantage of summer opportunities to test the waters. The last thing you want to do as a life career is something you do not like to do. The network that Delta Chi can expose you to can be very important."

Despite the rigorous schedule Glasgow maintains, he is active in his church, Ronald McDonald Children's Charities and his country club. He is passionate about flying, has his private pilot's license with instrument and instructor ratings and loves to fly his Super Decathlon aerobatics plane on weekends. His other favorite pastimes are boating, fishing, skeet shooting and golf.

Glasgow and his wife, Linda, have a daughter, Kelly, age four. According to Mrs. Glasgow, their daughter is his greatest joy. "Even with his brutal work schedule," she said, "he still finds time to be a loving, involved father."

When asked how his daughter feels about her father working for McDonald's, he responded with a laugh.

"I am her biggest hero," he said. "I work with Ronald McDonald."

ALUMNI NEWSMAKERS

GEORGIA

Ronnie Garrison, '72, was elected president of the Georgia Association for Pupil Transportation (GAPT) for 1995-96. Dr. Garrison, of Griffin, Georgia, is the Director of RESA Academy, the Griffin Regional Education Service Agency alternative school serving Butts, Griffin/Spalding and Lamar County Schools.

GAPT was formed in 1964 to promote the safety of students and to insure effective and cost-efficient school transportation. It is composed of bus drivers, mechanics, driver trainers, supervisors and transportation directors. Georgia Department of Education Transportation Department personnel and members of the Georgia State Patrol School Bus Safety Unit are also actively involved.

GAPT facilitates the sharing of ideas and successful programs for the safe transportation of students.

Dr. Garrison received a BSED from the University of Georgia in 1972, an MED from West Georgia College in 1976 and an EDD from Nova University in 1987. He has been a member of the GAPT since 1980, has served on the Board of Directors, and has held each office in the progressive rotation from Treasurer to President.

ALUMNI CHAPTERS

GOLDEN TRIANGLE

The Golden Triangle Alumni Chapter in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, has been very active with events promoting brotherhood, friendship and Delta Chi fun! In March, we held our popular Walleyball Night. April 13 brought Delta Chi Career Night to the Pitt-Johnstown campus. Alumni and undergrads met to discuss career opportunities and the job market that will face tomorrow's alumni. Alumni from Maryland and Pennsylvania helped make the Potomac Hunt steeplechase on May 13 a huge success. Jim LeVan brought it all together through his efforts, and many alumni attended with their families.

Saturday, August 12, we held our annual Alumni Chapter Summer Family Picnic at Meadow Park in O'Hara Township. Alumni and undergrads attended with their families to enjoy great food, fun and brotherhood. The summer season wrapped up with an alumni retreat on September 15-17 at Raystown Lake, a resort in central Pennsylvania. Water sports, hiking and fishing were just a few of the activities. Lodging was available at a special group rate.

Additionally, we converged on the Pitt-Johnstown campus for Homecoming the weekend of October 13 -15 in conjunction with Founders' Day.

Contact Alumni President Gary Paul at our P. O. box for information on our activities or joining our alumni chapter.

HOUSTON AREA

The Gulf Coast Area Alumni Chapter holds meetings on the second Wednesday of each month. The gathering point is the Rock Bottom Brewery, 6111 Richmond Ave., Houston, Texas. The meeting is at 7 pm on the outside patio.

Proposed fall activities include a bus trip to New Orleans, an NFL football game, Founders' Banquet, and monthly luncheons. For additional information contact Rich Witmer at (713) 974-5313.

Pittsburgh-Golden Triangle Alumni Gathering

Saturday, May 13, many Delta Chi alumni and their families gathered for a charity steeplechase race in beautiful Potomac, Maryland. They came from all around to rekindle friendships and to pursue brotherhood. Everyone had a great time and the proceeds from the Potomac Hunt Races benefited Suburban Hospital, a local hospital. This outing, but one of many, was organized through the Pittsburgh-Golden Triangle Alumni Chapter and the Johnstown Chapter of Delta Chi. This was so successful it may become an annual outing.

this is what we heard from you . . .

Dear Headquarters,

I am writing in regard to the article published in the Summer '95 issue of the Quarterly about Jon Wolff. The article meant a lot to me because I went through a very similar ordeal myself.

During my senior year of high school, right after my final varsity football season, I was diagnosed with Hodgkin's Disease. I was only 17 years old at the time, and obviously very frightened. I was somewhat relieved, however, when doctors gave me a 90% guarantee for cure. I wish I could say that it was that easy.

The first part of my treatment involved removing my spleen, as well as small parts of my liver.

My weight dropped from 205 pounds to 155 pounds in less than 2 months. I then began radiation treatment at a rate of 5 days a week for about 4 months. At the end of the regimen, everything looked great, and stayed that way for about a year. I had my weight back up to a fairly strong 190 pounds, and was getting ready to start my life again. I was even contemplating reviving my football and baseball "careers" at the junior college level. No such luck however.

I developed a cough that at first seemed normal, but it lingered on much too long to just be a cold or allergies. The cancer had returned, this time in my lungs and stomach, and I began chemotherapy almost immediately. Unfortunately, after five months of the treatment, scans showed that it wasn't working well enough. It wasn't killing the cancer, only preventing it from spreading at its normal rate.

It was at this point when I made the most important decision in my life . . . to undergo a bone marrow transplant in an attempt to save my life. Most would assume that would be an easy decision to make, however, considering that for three years I had been fighting the disease, how weak my body had become, the mental strain of the whole ordeal, and the fact that the transplant (if I survived it) only gave me a 35% guarantee to even live five more years, it was a very tough decision. Would it be worth going through hell for only 5 more years of life, if I made it that far?

Well, to make an already long story a little bit shorter, I underwent the transplant at Stanford University in the summer of '93, set a record for recovery time (the average stay is around 4 months, I was gone in 2), came to Sac State only a month and a half after my release from the hospital, and most importantly, became a brother in the Bond of Delta Chi.

The Fraternity has given me back that feeling of accomplishment that was missing in my life. I have always been a fighter, always telling myself, "If something's going to take me out, I'm not gonna let it have me without a fight." But when I came to Sac State, the cocky swagger I had during my days as an athlete was gone. I had no hair, not much meat on my bones, and very little confidence. I debated whether or not I should even think about rushing a fraternity until I had regained some of my looks, etc. My girlfriend, who is a sister of the Sigma Kappa Sorority, was actually the one who gave me the extra nudge I needed and said just to go for it. I'd never let anything stop me from doing what I wanted in the past, so why should I change now.

Needless to say, the brothers of the Delta Chi Chapter immediately accepted me for what I was, not for how I looked. Immediately, I almost completely quit worrying about how I looked, or if I would ever play sports as well as I used to. I knew then that no matter what I did or how I looked, I'd have my brothers there for me. I can't put it any more flatly than to say I don't know how well I'd be doing today, physically and mentally, if it weren't for Delta Chi. I love this Fraternity.

Please excuse my spelling and grammar, as I wrote this article, I was writing on feeling alone and getting things out. I could write this story ten times and it would probably sound different every time, as different things come to mind!

If you know of a way I could contact Mr. Wolff, I would appreciate it. You don't know how it made me feel to see the article and know that not only is there another person out there who can relate to me and my story, but he's a Delta Chi as well.

I'd also like to thank Saul Wisnia, who authored the article, who obviously thought of Jon Wolff as an inspiration, because I certainly do.

Forever I T B,

Joseph W. Crabtree

The longtime "BB" of the Northeast Missouri State University Chapter, Joseph W. Crabtree, 79, died September 16, 1995, in Kirksville, Missouri.

Joe joined the Fraternity in 1978 and served as Northeast Missouri's first "BB". Loved and admired by every fraternity member, Joe was considered the leading force behind the Chapter's successful development and numerous achievements. In recognition of his dedication and service to his chapter and the International Fraternity, Joe was bestowed the honorary title of "BB" Emeritus in 1990.

He was born June 30, 1916, in Kirksville, the son of Joseph W. and Helen M. Crabtree.

Joe was raised in Kirksville and attended the public schools, graduating from high school in 1934. In 1939, he graduated from Northeast Missouri State Teachers College. He taught school in Winfield and Philadelphia, Missouri, from 1940 to 1941. He then served in the United States Army from 1942 to 1946. After returning from the military, he worked for Mackie and Williams Grocery and later joined Burdman Auto Parts as an accountant and credit manager.

An active member of the community, Joe was a member of the First United Methodist Church, Adair Lodge #366, A.F. & A.M., and RSVP-Retired Senior Volunteers. He was also a board member of the Adair County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Though never married, Joe served as a father and grandfather figure for hundreds of young men through the brotherhood of Delta Chi. In his honor, alumni and undergraduate members of the Northeast Missouri Chapter have established the Joe Crabtree Memorial Fund so that his positive influence will continue to guide the organization that he loved so much.
