Founders' Day Message

I am honored to have the privilege of wishing you a happy Founders' Day. One hundred twenty years ago, our Founders set in motion something that would evolve and enlighten the lives of over 100,000 Brothers. Today we celebrate the anniversary of our founding; the birth of an organization that continues to promote friendship, advance justice, develop character, and assist in the acquisition of a sound education. Promote Friendship - these are two obvious words associated with Brotherhood, but occasionally overlooked.

Recently, I called up my Chapter's House Corporation President to discuss the state of our chapter. About halfway through the conversation I realized that I had not done my duty as a Delta Chi. Although I was assisting our local chapter and clearly discussing Delta Chi, I had not done my job of promoting friendship. We had spoken several times a year about Delta Chi, but we had never really paused to talk to one another as Brothers, as people who not only share a common bond, but a common friendship as well. Like anything else in life, we should not take such a treasured gift for granted.

I work hard in my profession, I work hard to be a good husband, and similarly, I need to work hard to be a good Delta Chi. I need to work hard at continuing my friendships with my Brothers. At the end of the day it is about conversations and our ability to laugh, to learn, to listen, and to communicate. That is what keeps our friendships alive; it is the essence of a strong brotherhood. I firmly believe that in order for our Brotherhood to remain strong, and for Delta Chi to grow, we have to work on the fundamentals. We have to work on our ability to reinforce our bonds of fraternal friendship.

So, on this Founders' Day, I have a challenge for my fellow Brothers. Your Founders' Day challenge is to reach out to a Brother from your past with whom you have not spoken to in a few years and have a conversation. As a support alumnus and involved volunteer, I admit that I constantly urge Brothers to participate but seldom to communicate. As your "AA", I ask one simple thing on this Founders' Day: to pick up the phone and call a Brother and catch up on old times. Don't just talk about Delta Chi; be a Delta Chi. We have been blessed with this amazing gift of Brotherhood that should not die when we graduate from college. We have been blessed with a gift that has the ability to reconnect, to revitalize, and to reenergize with the smallest amount of effort a bond rooted in friendship. Enjoy this gift and share your fraternal experience with Delta Chi.

In the next Quarterly, I want to post some of your select quotes and experiences from the Founders' Day Challenge! Please email me at aa@deltachi.org about that Brother with whom you had not spoken to in years and how you were able to pick up where you left off. Email me about that revitalized friendship; Delta Chi wants to hear from you! If you need assistance finding someone, please email Delta Chi's Headquarters at hq@deltachi.org.

Let the conversations begin!
Happy Founders' Day!

“ALL THE WRONG ASSUMPTIONS”

REVISITED

In my opinion, Delta Chi's greatest weakness is the lack of alumni involvement, especially at the chapter level. As a former “BB,” I find it hard to understand. And yet, our chapters still lack for alumni involvement, not only at the “BB” position but on their ABTs, their House Corporations and at their Faculty Advisor position. And where someone is listed, it is all too often in name only. Why?

I attempted to address some of the issues that I believed were involved in an article printed in the Spring 1997 issue of the Quarterly. Now, 12 years later, I see that little, if anything, has changed.

What follows is mainly that same article but with minor editing to bring it up-to-date.

In his book, “Up Your Organization,” Robert Townsend wrote, “There is nothing fundamentally wrong with American business today except for the fact that we are operating under all the wrong assumptions!” I believe that we can say the same thing about fraternity and, in particular, about what we call “Alumni Relations.”

Over the last 30+ years as executive director and even before that as a Regent, Vice-Regent and “BB”; I have heard a countless number of undergraduates bemoan the lack of alumni support at their chapters. I can only assume that it was the same before my involvement as well. The ones to whom I have talked or, more recently, whose postings on the Internet I have read, have claimed that, when they became alumni, they would support their chapters. Well, the current undergraduates are still saying the same things. Are not those countless members, who swore that they would be different and are now alumni, supporting their chapters like they claimed needed doing? Could it be, as undergraduates, that our expectations are unrealistic? Are there other issues? Well, here are some thoughts.

ASSUMPTION: No one tells the chapters what they can do to solve the problem.

To adequately deal with this topic would take more space than is available here. In fact, Delta Chi has four BRIEFs on the topic:

Sample Hierarchy of Interests/Needs:

- Family (wife, children, relatives)
- Job or profession (and related peers)
- Religion
- Local community activities
- Personal leisure
- And then comes Delta Chi—maybe

Once Delta Chi has become a part of the priorities, you need to find out what the basic interests of the alumni are:

- A desire to continue friendships developed in school.
- An interest in the status of the chapter.
- An interest in the institution, higher education and Greek life in general.
- A desire to see and visit fraternity friends on special occasions.
- A willingness to actively serve the fraternity within certain conditions.

If possible, involve these interests in the appeal. In addition, most alumni want to feel needed, useful and appreciated. A skillful use of these concepts will massage his ego especially if the hierarchy of interests, limited time, and conflicting obligations are consistent with the time he has to spare.

Alumni Board of Trustees, Alumni Chapter, Alumni Newsletter and Alumni Relations. We also have a Founders' Day

Manual that details how to plan, organize and host an alumni event. I feel safe in saying that, on average, there are at least three copies of each BRIEF (with the exception of the Alumni Chapter BRIEF) at the various Delta Chi Chapters around the U.S. and Canada and less than two members who have read more than one of those BRIEFs/manuals. Copies of all of these BRIEFs, as well as the rest of our non-esoteric written programming, are available for downloading on our website (www.deltachi.org).

ASSUMPTION: It is the responsibility of the alumni to come back and be involved.

First, “alumni relations” is just that, a relationship. In the eyes of far too many undergraduates, the success of their chapter's alumni relations program is defined by how much money their alumni send them. When asked to describe a “perfect” marriage, undergraduates do a fine job of talking about the partnership, of both parties meeting each other's needs, etc. However, when asked to describe a “perfect” alumni relations program, most talk only in terms of what the alumni can be doing for the chapter. For any relationship to survive, it must be beneficial to all involved parties. Alumni can provide the undergraduates such things as mentoring, sharing of expertise in areas necessary for the functioning of the chapter, and good old-fashioned role modeling. They are a living illustration of the fact that fraternity membership continues after graduation and that the values and principles taught in the chapter have a very real application in the everyday world.

But undergraduates need to improve their hosting skills, must be willing to say “Thank you,” and need to heed the mature advice they receive. The house must be well-kept and clean, no drug usage, no stolen property in the house, etc. In other words, the chapter members need to show that they are worthy of the alumni’s support.

ASSUMPTION: We don’t need alumni support.

A survey by the American College Personnel Association of undergraduate leaders of living groups asked them to rank functions most important for their advisors. They responded in the following manner: 1. Provide advice when called upon, 2. Teach techniques of good leadership and fellowship, 3. Provide continuity with the history and tradition of the group, 4. Help members develop self-discipline and responsibility, 5. Prevent the group from breaking university [and fraternity] rules and 6. Supply the organization with information, expert knowledge, and insight gained through experience. It is a rare undergraduate group that cannot gain from alumni involvement. There is reason to believe that a chapter that doesn’t want alumni involvement is a chapter that needs it the most.

ASSUMPTION: There’s nothing in it for the alumnus.

Alumni can benefit themselves by working with other alumni in helping a group of young men who are at a critical stage in their development. Alumni learn about motivation, working with differing points of view in trying to achieve a desired end and understanding others. They enhance their individual network within the community; oftentimes establishing business relationships with others they meet through their work with a chapter. They can develop or simply enhance close, personal friendships that carry over to their personal lives. The development of a model for a healthy relationship between and among undergraduates and alumni can assist in the personal growth of all involved, while at the same time increasing the abilities of our chapters to more fully achieve their role of providing nurturing environments for our members (of all ages!)

ASSUMPTION: One alumnus can fix everything.

There are simply too many operational areas for one man to be expected to help with and still have time for a job and family! To enhance the potential for more alumni to become involved with our chapters, we need to avoid the appearance of alumni having to fill a “black hole” for the rest of their lives. We need to “cut the pie” into bite-sized pieces with defined parameters, ask for a one-year commitment with an honorable “out” (and an opportunity to “re-up” if they wish!), and talk about their being a part of a team of involved alumni. Too many alumni avoid involvement out of fear of being the only one involved, spending countless hours running from one crisis to the next, and not being able to leave on their own terms if need be. Ironically, some key alumni who bemoan the feeling of being the “Lone Ranger” are actually less than open-armed when it comes to others wishing to help. They resist giving up their “status,” they don’t think they have the time to train the new volunteers, they don’t want to adapt to doing things differently, whatever. And so, they continue to go it alone and the chapter lacks for a full complement of advisors. And when that one alumnus departs, it takes years for a new alumni support system to be developed.

ASSUMPTION: The role of an alumnus involved at the chapter level is understood by everyone.

When you talk to undergraduates about their involved alumni, you often hear, “They aren’t doing their job.”. When you talk to those alumni, you usually hear, “I don’t know what they think I should be doing.” Try the following. Have the chapter draft on one piece of paper a list of what they believe an alumnus in a particular position should and should not do. Then, on a different piece of paper, have them draft a list of what the chapter should and should not do in its relationship with the alumnus in that position. Concurrently, have the alumnus draft his opinions of the same items. Have a meeting where the lists are exchanged and mutually agreed upon lists of both sets of responsibilities are developed. One copy goes back to the chapter for review and adoption while another copy goes home with the alumnus for his, and his family’s consideration.

Once there is agreement, copies should be signed and exchanged. Additional copies might be sent to other involved alumni, the Greek Advisor and Delta Chi Headquarters. Finally, each school year, the “relationship statement” should be reviewed, updated and reaffirmed. As the chapter expands and develops, the agreement will have to evolve with it. It should also be updated if the alumnus has any changes in his life (marriage, children, new job, etc.). This idea can work for an existing “BB”, Faculty Advisor, or even an entire ABT, No

Alumni Turn-Ons

- A clean chapter house and gentlemanly character of the undergraduates.
- Adequate notice of events (4-6 weeks for regular events and 8-10 for special events).
- Events starting on time.
- Acknowledgments (thank you notes, phone calls, mention in the newsletter, etc.) of contributed time and money.
- Old scrapbooks, newsletters and recent awards.
- Being invited and involved with the Ritual.
- Contact by other alumni who they may or may not know. Either way the alumni are more on the same level with each other no matter what the age.
- Improving the image of the chapter/Fraternity.
- Opportunity to help young people develop.
- Pride in being a Delta Chi.
- BEING ASKED! Benjamin Franklin said, “If you want to make a friend, let someone do you a favor.”
- Staying in touch with old Delta Chi friends.
- Making new Delta Chi friends.
- Activities and progress of the Fraternity.
- Enthusiasm of other involved alumni.
- Regular communication through a quality chapter newsletter.
- Personal and professional networking opportunities.
- Reminiscing about Delta Chi experiences.

more “I don’t know what they expect from me/us” or “Why didn’t he/they...?” As a side note here, this concept can be applied to the role of committee chairmen.

Alumni are volunteers, and we must understand the myriad demands on their time.

This is why we need to make it as easy as possible for them to be involved (letting them know of major events two months in advance; holding well organized chapter meetings worth attending and lasting less than one hour; sending copies of chapter meeting minutes when they miss a meeting; sending telephone lists, chapter visitation reports, monthly financial statements; providing with all supplies; etc.). Involve alumni in operations to the extent that both the alumni and undergraduates find mutually acceptable. Match each alumnus’ skills with a specific chapter need (accountant working with the “D”, handyman-house maintenance, lawyer-contracts, etc.) because people enjoy doing what they are good at doing.

I would be remiss if I didn’t caution some alumni to polish up on their coaching skills. There is nothing like doing something for free to make someone feel that they must be obeyed. No one likes to be told what to do and how to do it day in and day out. A well-intentioned alumnus can quickly lose his effectiveness if he doesn’t take the time to get to know the undergraduates as individuals and listen to what they have to say. In the process, the alumnus may learn something as well, and a better decision than either may have reached separately is often the result. It is also important to realize that, many times, the way a decision is reached matters far more than the decision itself.

We need to realize that, when an alumnus gives of his time and resources, there are usually others that are “giving” as well. Every hour he is with us is at least an hour away from his family or significant other. That “gift” should not be ignored or it will cease to be given. Most everyone can accept a certain level of “community service” by an alumnus as long as that alumnus is clearly enjoying the service rendered and is being recognized for it (Often neither of these is the case as alumni plod along in an unhealthy situation simply out of loyalty to a past memory or in hopes that soon things may change.) Where personal relationships with the families of alumni can be fostered there can be direct benefits. Flowers to his wife, a baby-sitting service, a gift certificate to their favorite restaurant, etc. can also be important.

So, what about alumni in general?

The vast majority of alumni will not be in a position to be directly involved with a chapter. This is usually due to their geographical location but sometimes simply due to other demands on their time and resources. Family, career and community work can all play into whether an alumnus, at a particular stage in his life, will interact with his chapter and, if so, to what degree. We must also realize that, given the wide disparity in age between most of our alumni and the current undergraduates, expecting them to stop by for spontaneous conversation on a regular basis is a bit optimistic.

As a minimum, each alumnus should maintain a good address with the Headquarters and his chapter. At any one time, Delta Chi has over 8,000 “Lost” alumni and spends a sizable amount of money trying to track down or keep track of our alumni. Often, we will receive a letter from an alumnus stating that he has not been receiving the Quarterly when we show him as “Lost” at an address that is two years or more out of date. Sending in items for the chapter’s newsletter or the Quarterly (marriage, birth of children, promotion, etc.) is also helpful. Obviously, a donation to Delta Chi Fraternity and another to your local chapter in care of its ABT would be appreciated as well. When possible, just stopping by the chapter to say “Hi” is a big hit with most undergraduates although I have been told of many “horror” stories here. It is the obligation of the chapter members to keep their house presentable. When an alumnus or anyone else for that matter stops by, each and every member needs to walk over and introduce himself. Someone should offer to show the alumnus around the house. Someone should ask if the alumnus needs anything. The “E” should send him a thank you note for spending some time with the chapter. Time and again, I have received letters from alumni recounting where such common courtesies have been neglected, or worse, and stating that they will never again visit their chapter.

If you are involved with an undergraduate chapter, you can help yourselves by having everyone in the chapter and the currently involved alumni read those BRIEFs, and then hold a chapter retreat on how to be the best partner you can be in this relationship. Your alumni will respond, although maybe not at first since they may have been neglected or even mistreated up to now or have had too many false starts at a healthy relationship. This makes them reluctant to believe that this one will be any different. Don’t take a short timer’s attitude about all this. A strong alumni relations program is a way of life and can’t be

Alumni Turn-Offs

- Loud music.
- Dirty and poorly maintained chapter houses.
- Last-minute invitations.
- Sitting or standing around an alumni event with nobody talking to them.
- Requests for money, especially if this is the only contact the alumnus has had with the chapter in a long time.
- Not being thanked for attending or contributing time and/or money.
- Banquets.
- Going somewhere without his wife (perhaps even his children). Note: even if his wife attends, she may do so reluctantly because she will not understand what the Fraternity means and she will not know anyone else. The chapter must take the time and effort to make her feel welcome.
- Meeting strangers at social events.
- Local jokes.
- Foul language/off color humor, especially in front of wives, children and other guests.

established (only begun) while you are in office or even while you are an undergraduate! Don't try to "fix it" for yourself as an undergraduate but for your chapter's future undergraduates. You will personally benefit as an alumnus for a long time to come if you do it right.

ASSUMPTION: "National" doesn't do anything to help.

What does Delta Chi as an international fraternity do to help regarding alumni involvement? The Headquarters does more than most realize. In 1993, we adopted the Alumni Ceremony aimed at "initiating" our graduating members into alumni status. To date, over 3,100 alumni have participated in the ceremony. The ceremony sends a clear message that a member's involvement in Delta Chi does not end at graduation. The Quarterly, probably the number one way alumni stay in touch with Delta Chi, costs more than $50,000 each year to send mainly to alumni. Since 1980, we have waived over $200,000 in revenue from alumni initiations to assist our chapters with limited alumni involvement in increasing their alumni base. We have written those alumni materials mentioned earlier. Every time we do an Alumni Directory, we send a free copy to each chapter. Upon request, we send free mailing labels, alumni printouts and even copies of databases to assist our chapters and alumni groups in contacting the alumni. We have put on alumni training workshops. Through our chapter visitation program, we have discussed alumni relations and programming with countless alumni and undergraduates. Every new "BB" receives a congratulations letter with a handout on how to work with his chapter and an outline of the responsibilities of every officer. We offer several awards for alumni and alumni programming to indicate the value we place on them. Please realize that the concept of a job placement service (usually the first alumni programming idea everyone thinks of) jeopardizes our single gender status, and that is why we have not tried to coordinate such a program.

We would like to do more but we are dealing with limited resources. In every fraternity, undergraduates make up the overwhelming source of revenue. Even in fraternities noted for alumni services this is true. To put it on a chapter level, you will be hard put to get any chapter's alumni, on a year-in-year-out basis, to give to the chapter an amount of money that could touch what the chapter could generate from simply filling its house and collecting its dues. The difficult impact to measure, of course, is the degree to which additional money spent on alumni would increase alumni involvement and, therefore, the strength of programming at the chapters.

There is a thought however that, like recruitment, it isn't the money you spend but the one-on-one effort that counts. Alumni simply don't base their involvement or donations on how much money you spend on them.

There's another point. To start spending money on alumni programming, we either have to stop spending the same amount on the undergraduates and/or raise the fees we charge to the undergraduates. There is no free lunch. Every time we do something for the alumni, the undergraduates get to pick up the tab. What we have been trying to do is to service the undergraduates as much as possible. Expansion and dues increases have been generating the revenues to do this. We have felt that the alumni, if faced with the choice of our increasing services to them at the expense of the undergraduates, would tell us to service their chapters first. That, for the most part, is what we have been doing.

If our undergraduates get what they ask for - involved alumni, then they may be surprised by what is expected of them in return - compliance with their advice for one thing. No one wants to put forth time and effort only to be ignored. Compliance with the law (no under-aged drinking, no drugs, no sexual misconduct, and no hazing) is also expected. No alumnus should have to waste his time or risk his reputation, because someone else is unwilling to comply with the basic principles of Delta Chi. Responsibility is a two-way street. If he has done an outstanding job, nominate him for an award from Delta Chi or make up one, or more, chapter awards yourselves! COMMUNICATE! Thank them for the hours of counsel and the wisdom of experience. Do not assume that they know you appreciate them...prove it.

Impulses & Misconceptions

- Never assume that every alumnus has an abiding interest in Delta Chi.
- Some students want it (whatever "it" is) NOW. Be patient. It takes time to generate and keep alumni interest.
- Do not attempt too complex a program for alumni involvement.
- Do not assume the alumni will drop everything to come running back to the chapter. Timing is everything: never plan an alumni event during the winter holidays.
- Do not be disappointed if only a handful of alumni attend an event—even if you have invited several hundred or there is a low response rate to a solicitation letter (of any type). Average participation is about 4-7%.
- Some students expect the alumni to come to the chapter on their own. While open invitations to stop by anytime are nice, it usually takes a special event and a specific invitation to get alumni to take the time out of their schedule and/or away from their family.

NEW DELTA CHI HEADQUARTERS

DELTA CHI

A GLANCE INTO DELTA CHI'S PAST

1890: Birth Date of Delta Chi and Its New Headquarters Office Building

Delta Chi Fraternity now owns a Headquarters Office Building at 314 Church Street, Iowa City.

A simple statement, a modest acquisition; yet this represents a culmination of a hope held by Delta Chi throughout this Century. Sixteen South Clinton Street mortgage and loan that were executed to make the purchase possible. During June, the house will be refurbished for occupancy as an office. Fortunately no structural changes or major alterations will be required.

Its layout will give the Headquarters Office efficient, relatively low-cost office space. All clerical, accounting, record-keeping, and mailing operations will be on the first floor.

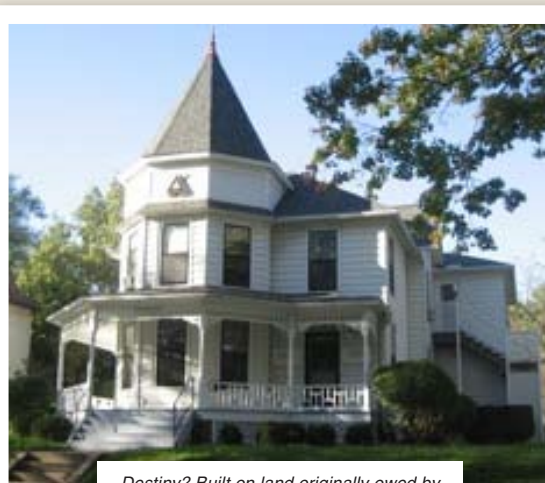

The Delta Chi Educational Foundation, Inc. and the Delta Chi Quarterly will have a separate room for the first time.

has been an address memorized by hundreds of pledge classes since 1929. For many decades, however, the rented space in the old building was recognized as inadequate. Several committees and commissions were appointed during the last thirty years to consider moving the Headquarters Office.

Their various reports had two recommendations in common; first, that the office should remain in the Midwest, since this is the geographic center of our distribution of chapters and colonies, and second, that it should be located in a relatively small city where Delta Chi has a chapter on a nearby campus. Owning was preferred to renting, but there the committees and commissions showed little optimism as to achieving this objective.

Those who attended the 1968 Chicago Convention of Delta Chi will recall that one of the goals set forth for the 1968-70 biennium was a "New Headquarters Office Building in Iowa City." This objective was realized when, on December 23, title for the house at 314 Church Street passed from the Redman estate to Delta Chi Fraternity. The Executive Committee approved the purchase of this property upon recommendation of the Executive Secretary, who had been assisted during the fall by an ad hoc committee in searching for new office space. Serving on the committee were Richard L. Duncan, Iowa '51, Dr. John H. Hogeland, Iowa '48, both of Iowa City, and Mark W. Putney, Iowa '51, Des Moines.

The property will be occupied by the Headquarters Office on July 1, 1969. Meanwhile, it is rented for second semester to help carry the Destiny? Built on land originally owed by a man with the name of "Kimball."

The second floor will have offices for the Executive Secretary, his secretary, and the Field Staff. A combination Library-Conference Room will fill a long-felt need. There will also be one twin-bedded guest room for overnight visitors or field men.

These efficient space utilizations will permit a work flow recommended in a management study made under the Executive Secretary's direction in the spring of 1968.

In the 1966 edition of Margaret N. Keyes' book, "Nineteenth Century Home Architecture of Iowa City," 314 Church Street is pictured as the Michael-Redman House and is described as follows:

"Mrs. Aletha B. Redman's house was constructed in 1890 (the year of Delta Chi's founding) by Joseph Michael and has a three-story octagonal tower as its outstanding Neo-Jacobean feature. The tower roof is of the "candle-snuffer" type and at the level of the main gable of the house is surrounded by a pent roof. The porch which extends across the façade and back on both sides of the house has a balustrade and a grille of turned spindles, and each of the turned posts has two triangular scrolled brackets under the soffit grille."

These original features will be kept intact. A change necessitated by 20th Century living will be the black-topping of a section of the rear yard, with access to a paved alley, providing parking space for ten cars. This still leaves room for a heliport if our visitors advance to this mode of transportation in the year ahead.

We are proud of Delta Chi's first owned Headquarters Office. Y'all come see us!

In 1993, we added a 650 sq. ft. addition which included a conference room and a storage room. If you can't see the building in person, we now have a virtual tour on our website!

ABRACADABRA

Brothers claim the intramural soccer championship.

Our intramural soccer team enjoyed an incredible season last fall under the astute leadership of intramural sport chair Matthew Pfeiffer. In addition to maintaining an impressive 6-0-1 record, we beat Kappa Sigma to claim the championship.

Furthermore, our annual philanthropy, Delta Chi World Cup, is a massive soccer tournament. It was a huge success last year, raising more than $1,000 for The V Foundation.

ALABAMA

Brothers gather for a tailgate before the big football game.

Every Saturday during the fall, we tailgated before the football games. It was an opportunity for us to meet with our alumni and for the alumni to reconnect with some of their classmates and see what we have become. The alumni sat with their classes, and they reminisced about what things were like when they were undergraduates. We also got advice from the alumni about how to become better fraternity men, how to improve the house and, of course, how to keep up with our studies.

Our biggest fall accomplishment was the 22-man associate member class that we initiated.

AMERICAN

Brothers on a trip to Egypt.

The spring semester has brought many new changes. With new leadership and more committee chairs, we are seeing improvements in events like Play for Life, an event with Alpha Chi Omega, where we play kickball to raise money for leukemia research.

We also have a 20-member Associate Member class, which is the largest in our recent history.

ARIZONA STATE

Brothers gather for a fun evening.

The last weekend of February, we hosted the Region II Regional Leadership Conference. More than 200 brothers from 10 chapters attended. Friday evening's keynote speaker, Kim Novak, reinforced our pride in being Delta Chis. Kim Novak speaks about risk management strategies and has been honored nationally for work on risk management.

The next morning began with ritual exemplification followed by workshops on bettering leadership. It was a great honor to have "AA" Tom Horowitz, retiring "AA" Steve Bossart and Donald LaPlante, Secretary of the Delta Chi Educational Foundation, in attendance and as keynote speakers.

AUBURN

Coming off of the greatest success in recent years, we had a record spring class with a remarkable eight new associate members. Every one of us is involved in at least one non-Greek organization on campus, and our standing among other Greek organizations is at its highest in a long time.

The most outstanding improvements, however, have been to the house. The Alumni Control Board recently approved renovations to the kitchen, which will be reopening in fall 2010. Thanks to generous donations from our alumni and parents, we raised the money needed to accomplish this goal.

AUGUSTA

In December we initiated seven men, and we pinned four associate members this semester.

During spring 2010, we participated in Homecoming week, which included activities such as penny wars to help raise money for The V Foundation.

CAL POLY

We collected more than 1,300 community service hours last quarter. Eighty-two active members each volunteered at least 16 hours of service for the community. Services varied widely, from collecting cans throughout the county to gardening in the community with Alpha Omicron Pi.

CINCINNATI COLONY

We obtained a fraternity house for next school year. The house is in a prime location across the street from campus, as well as being located on Greek row. We are looking forward to both our awards ceremony on May 9 and helping set up for a local marathon, "The Flying Pig," in early May.

CLEMSON

Brothers gather after initiation.

The semester started with the initiation of 17 associate members from the Alpha Rho class, bringing our total membership to 69.

Promptly after returning to campus, we found that a new fraternity house was for sale in the area. We did some investigation and quickly entered the race to get the house. We are now situated in the largest fraternity house in South Carolina.

We also stepped up our philanthropy game. We are hosting a FIFA Soccer X-Box tournament to support The V Foundation.

This spring marks our 20th anniversary, and as such, we are having a golf tournament and banquet to commemorate the occasion.

CONNECTICUT

Every February, students from across campus stand and dance for 18 continuous hours in support of the Connecticut Children's Medical Center and Children's Miracle Network. The dance marathon, known as HuskyTHON, teams organizations with children suffering from life-threatening illnesses. We had a quarter of the chapter dancing and several others volunteering. In total, we raised more than $2,600 for the children.

CORPUS CHRISTI

Brothers after winning the Regents Cup at RLC February 2010.

We had an amazing start to the semester by winning the Regent's Top Philanthropy Award for raising more than $7,000 and the Regent's Cup Award at the Region III Regional Leadership Conference in Dallas. Also, Gilbert Morales was awarded as the Region III Delta Chi Man of the Year for being an outstanding Islander and even presenting an opening speech for President Obama during his campaign stop in Corpus Christi.

To top it off, we will be chartering April 3 after being founded in fall 2007 and maintaining our size at 58 members.

CORTLAND

Brothers enjoy a night out on the slopes.

We participated in events that included an indoor winter carnival, an outdoor winter festival and a Red Cross Blood Drive. The indoor winter carnival allowed us to reach out to the community by supervising various games and activities for children.

We also attended "Chill-A-Bration," which is our campus' biggest winter festival. Many of us volunteered to be dropped into an extremely cold dunk tank to raise money for different charities throughout the area.

DAVIS

Andre Lee was voted into student senate during the fall quarter, and Ozzy Arce was voted into student senate winter quarter. The two serve with each other as part of the Associated Students University of California, Davis (ASUCD) senate. This elite group consists of 12 students representing about 24,000 undergraduates and oversees a $10.5 million operating budget. This marks the first time since 2006 that we have had two members serving as ASUCD senators at the same time.

EASTERN ILLINOIS COLONY

Something that we are looking forward to is the upcoming, first ever Moms' Weekend. Starting the weekend of March 24, the matriarchs from our respective families are coming to take in a wonderful spaghetti dinner prepared by their grateful sons. After dinner we will take them out for a night on the town to show them how powerful the brotherhood their sons are a part of truly is.

EMBRY-RIDDLE

We have been hard at work publicizing The V Foundation around campus. Our first act was to design a T-shirt for us to wear that illustrated the foundation and was a symbol to be easily recognized on campus.

Our main event for the spring semester was a Jimmy V Beauty Pageant that doubles as the Delta Chi sweetheart competition. Our goal for the semester is to surpass the $2,500 that we pledged at the 2008 convention in Las Vegas.

FLORIDA

Region VIII Regional Leadership Conference.

We hosted the Region VIII Regional Leadership Conference. On January 29-30, 147 members from 18 chapters and colonies enjoyed fellowship, learned about different aspects of the fraternity and shared ideas of how to improve.

"A" Tom Horowitz, "CC" Miles Washburn, Retiring "AA" Steve Bossart, Order of the White Carnation members Mike Carroll and Russ Driscoll, Regent Bill Tallman and Congressman John Mica were in attendance. Daniel Thompson and his committee were responsible for organizing the conference, which was a great success.

FREDONIA

Over the winter, "Miracle on Main Street" was an opportunity for us to lead holiday-themed activities such as arts and crafts for children in the surrounding area. We were able to dress as elves, reindeer and snowmen to be sure the kids had a great time. We also served more than 50 combined hours this semester in our local soup kitchen in Dunkirk, NY.

FULLERTON

Brothers gather before a big game.

Recently, members were elected to IFC executive positions, including Jose Arteaga as VP of Public Relations and Community Service and Chris Struckoff to Risk Management Judicial. On top of that, Leo Ruffino was elected as GAMMA secretary.

In an effort to contribute to the Greek community, we hosted our annual spring philanthropy, Delta Chi's Greek Goddess. This event entails having a member from each sorority compete in a week filled with events and fundraising in efforts to support The V Foundation.

GEORGE MASON

Brothers and new members at the beginning of the fall semester.

This semester, we primarily focused on congratulating the newly initiated Epsilon class. What is emphasized differs for every group that continues on until initiation. The people in an associate member class are what make a group special. Being able to witness the evolution of these young men was very unique.

GEORGIA SOUTHERN

Showing off our Four Star Chapter Award.

After a year of hard work, determination and diligence, we were awarded as a Four Star Chapter by the Office of Greek Life. The Five Star Chapter program was created to encourage improvements in the areas of management, success, academics and overall chapter image on campus. This is the highest ranking ever received.

GEORGIA TECH

Over the holiday break, 20 members traveled to Breckenridge, Colorado on our annual ski trip for four days. To start the spring semester, we recruited 12 associate members, while the majority of fraternities struggled to recruit any new members. Soon thereafter, we initiated 20 men, 18 from our fall 2009 class and two alumni initiates.

HOFSTRA

This was our fifth year on campus, and we had a large celebration for Founders' Day. We started the year taking second place in Homecoming, making it our third consecutive year placing in the top tier. We held our annual Powder Puff Tournament for The V Foundation, and it again received rave reviews from all groups involved.

Brothers at the annual Greek Week event, after winning the toga event.

IDAHO

Brothers participating in a highway cleanup event.

We have been busy participating in several philanthropies such as the Delta Gamma Anchor Splash, Pi Beta Phi volleyball, Gamma Phi Beta basketball tournament and the Alpha Phi poker tournament, in which we took first place.

We also held a highway cleanup near Troy with full participation. We are currently planning for our "Bowling for the V" philanthropy to benefit The V Foundation.

ILLINOIS

Members of the Illinois Chapter at "D-Chi Ice Out for Cancer Research".

In addition to participating in many different philanthropies this semester including Alpha Gamma Delta's Water Wars, Chi Omega's Tug Fest, and Pi Beta Phi's Flag Football, we hosted our winter philanthropy event called "Ice Out for Cancer Research." There was a large showing at the campus ice arena, and we raised about $1,000.

IOWA

On Feb. 26 and 27, we hosted the Region IV Regional Leadership Conference. There were more than 170 members in attendance from 14 chapters as well as an interest group from Colorado Springs. With the help of Grant Gillon and Wade Scholten, Regent Aaron Otto put on another great conference. Speakers included Iowa alums Larry Audlehelm and Dean Hoppe, along with Executive Director Ray Galbreth and other prominent alumni.

JOHNSTOWN

We have begun to make our new campus location feel more like home with a number of Delta Chi murals. This has been a very successful year for our long-standing Thursday tradition of making and selling cheesesteaks to the student body.

We are also going for nine consecutive Greek Week championships this spring, while remaining triumphant in intramural sports as well; the 3-on-3 basketball team finished in first place. Representing us in the annual Mr. UPJ pageant, Bryan Gindlesperger came in first place.

KENNESAW

Brothers gathering after a big event.

One of our goals is to provide community service to the surrounding area. Last semester, we logged 65 hours of service through the "Keep Cobb Beautiful" Adopt-a-mile program. The mile we adopted is located in front of the university's new intramural fields. The campus newspaper featured an article on our efforts to keep the new campus clean. We are planning to log many more hours as we clean our mile once a month. We are planning to participate in the great Lake Allatoona clean up again as well.

KENT STATE

We have been focusing on bonding with sorority chapters and trying to help whatever cause they might be working toward. This semester, we participated in Alpha Xi Delta's "Xi Man," Delta Zeta's Lip Sync and Chi Omega's Sloppy Joes philanthropy.

This spring marks a huge milestone in our history, as we will celebrate our 20th anniversary in April. Retiring "AA" and alum Steve Bossart is planning what seems to be a fantastic event. We rented out a local country club and will have a catering service.

KETTERING-A

Brothers in the throes of their beloved Gator Dance.

On Feb. 27, we had our 2010 Semi-Formal event. The Carpathia Club was packed with 65 guests, and attendees ranged from a chapter founder, John Melton, to our Associate Members. Also attending were faculty advisor Dr Mark Gellis and family.

Afterward, "BB" Leonard Nieman had a social at his house. The alumni and members were able to meet each other, exchange lore and discuss events and business in a more casual setting.

LAKE FOREST

We had tremendous success fundraising for The V Foundation with two fundraisers this winter, one in December and one in February. The 2nd Annual Ms. Jimmy V raised $1,108.45 that went to The V Foundation, while another $877 was raised at the 12th Annual Date Auction in February, which was co-hosted with Alpha Kappa Alpha.

LEHIGH COLONY

We made major strides in our recruitment program with a four-man alpha class initiation in the fall and a 10-man associate member class in the spring.

LONG BEACH

The Chapter participating in a date party.

We have been going through a "Re-founding" stage this semester, which started with a complete membership review and a chapter restructuring.

Beginning this semester, it's now mandatory that members must join one other student organization. This tack has proven quite successful in getting our members involved and in helping with recruitment. We now have members in every facet of campus life and student organizations. We have recruited a spring associate member class of 14, one of the biggest spring classes we have had in awhile.

LOUISIANA TECH

Three members enjoying a Saints game. Who Dat!

Winter quarter started with the initiation of 15 members. Also, many exchanges were held with various sororities. We also attended the Regional Leadership Conference in Dallas, where we received the Region III Outstanding Scholarship Award.

This spring we will host our annual pig roast and crawfish boil events, participate in Greek Week, and continue to compete in intramural games.

LSU

Our Mardi Gras tailgate on the corner of Saint Charles Ave and Third Street was a success this year. As always, we were glad to have alumni come out and enjoy the parades and beautiful weather. Our tailgate has been a great, informal recruitment tool, and we were able to use it again to attract several Associate Members for the spring semester.

MANKATO

We took part in a dodge ball competition and won first place. We had a very large turnout of 24 people show up for broom ball, which was exciting and very fun as everyone seems to love broom ball.

We initiated seven new members since the beginning of the semester. We also helped the local boy scout troop in scouting for food and are helping to make it a campus-wide event.

We also had parents' day, which turned out to be a great success.

MARQUETTE

In February, we pinned 15 associate members. We also had two active members elected to the Marquette University IFC Executive Board. Freddy Terrazas was elected as the Vice President of Communications, and Alex Smith was re-elected as the Vice President of Finance. Thanks to the generosity of alumnus Steve Michels, we also saw major renovations to our house.

In March we had socials with Alpha Xi Delta and Alpha Phi. We are also looking to host our first spaghetti dinner as a fundraising activity.

MASSACHUSETTS COLONY

Through connections made with some of our alumni at our recent Alumni Homecoming Tailgate, we recovered many of our historical composites and paddles, including our 1969 composite that features several of the Nova Colony founders. Receiving these great pieces of ours has sparked interest from a greater number of our alumni and has inspired us to take pride in our traditions. It has also increased excitement about our first composite that came in late March.

Brothers at our Beta Class Initiation.

MICHIGAN

Brothers braved the cold at the 2nd annual Polar Plunge fundraiser.

In late February, we served as a presenting sponsor for its second annual Polar Plunge fundraiser, benefitting Special Olympics of Michigan. "A" Adam Davis and Philanthropy Chair Matt Jones were instrumental in coordinating the event, raising nearly $3,000.

This semester has also seen tangible progress on the road to a new chapter house. As our house has begun to recently show its age and recruitment efforts have exponentially grown our campus presence, the ABT has commissioned land surveys and building plans in hopes that a new, modern facility can be in place by fall 2012.

MICHIGAN STATE

Three brothers posing at our Mardi Gras celebration.

We are proud to announce our 75th anniversary this year and will be celebrating it with a gigantic event May 21-22.

The event will start Friday night as we open our house to alumni, followed by a gathering at the house with all who attend. Saturday should be a packed day, consisting of golf in the morning at West Akers golf course followed by a dinner and convention at the Marriott in East Lansing.

MISSOURI STATE

We hosted an alumni weekend at a basketball game, and the turnout was much better than originally expected with more than 25 alumni attending. Our team won the game, and we were fortunate enough to take a picture at mid-court after the game. We also had a chapter retreat that weekend, hosted by an alumnus.

MONTEVALLO

We are hosting a philanthropy event called "Greek vs Food," where groups compete in several eating competitions. Our goal is to raise $500 for The V Foundation.

NEW HAVEN

Brothers gather after a successful blood drive.

We have been busy since winter break with community service events such as benefit walks, our annual Jimmy V 3v3 Basketball Tournament, our first Jimmy V Tug-O-War Tournament and the spring portion of our American Red Cross blood drive, where we were again able to provide more than 100 usable pints from students and faculty.

NORTH ALABAMA

Brothers participating in the annual Step Sing to support the United Way.

Participating in the annual Step Sing, which supports the United Way, is one way we give back to the community. Step Sing is a competition between fraternities, sororities and other recognized student organizations. The routine is performed in front of a sold-out audience, and each $5 ticket purchase is donated. During this year's event, we helped raise about $11,000.

NORTHERN ARIZONA

For the longest time, we had been on a losing streak, winning no intramural cups. But the streak ended with our recent championship in Boulderling (aka Rock climbing).

March Madness has begun. This philanthropy event is a tournament we host to see which Greek house has given the most to the community.

Northern Arizona Chapter's house.

NORTHWEST MISSOURI

The year 1989 meant the end of a decade for the United States. It also marked the beginning of an era when on Sept. 2, Hamilton Henderson was elected as "BB". Now, on the 20th anniversary of his service as one of the longest serving "B"s in the history of the Fraternity.

Henderson has generously given his time and efforts for more than two decades. In light of his dedication and sacrifice, he was recently named by the Fraternity as the first Regent Emeritus.

However, his passion and guiding spirit have not been limited to his role as "BB". Henderson served as Vice Regent for Region IV from 1991 to 1993, when he was elected Regent. He served as Regent until 1995 and then returned again to the same status in 1999, serving that term through 2004.

OKLAHOMA COLONY

One of the biggest accomplishments during fall semester was making the cut to have the opportunity to perform in our annual "University Sing." The theme of this year's University Sing was Superheroes. We performed with the ladies of Alpha Omicron Pi to present Iron Man and what happens after Ironman shows his true identity.

OREGON STATE

This year we are proud to say involvement on campus has increased remarkably. For the first time in two years, we are participating in IFC Sing with Chi Omega. The theme is Jackson 5 with such songs as Rockin' Robin and I Want You Back. We also had an alumni luncheon in the Portland area at the Old Spaghetti Factory restaurant. An upcoming event is scheduled for May 15 at Marysville Golf Course. We look forward to such distinguished alumni as Don Hopkins attending.

PENN STATE

We have worked extremely hard in the area of philanthropies and have devoted all of our resources to raising money for The V Foundation and the Four Diamonds Fund. The IFC/Panhellenic Dance Marathon, better known as THON, is a 46-hour dance marathon with proceeds benefiting an organization called the Four Diamonds Fund.

THON 2010 was a huge success, raising more than $7.8 million. Along with our sorority pairing, Kappa Kappa Gamma, we raised more than $120,000 this year through year-round hard work and dedication. We placed fourth among 68 Greek organizations and are proud to have contributed to such a great cause.

Brothers at the IFC/Panhellenic Dance Marathon, better known as THON.

Members gathers for a photo with the fall associate member class.

We have expanded our list of traditional events. Despite being fairly young, we now have an extremely successful Thanksgiving dinner to add to that list. The dinner's success is largely due to its simplistic message of brotherhood during that hectic time just before Thanksgiving break.

We have 12 men in our spring associate member class. We are currently preparing for our 5th-year Chartering Formal in March to mark the anniversary of our first five, successful years.

PURDUE

The highlight of the semester was winning Zeta Tau Alpha's Big Man On Campus philanthropy. It is a competition among fraternities for who can raise the most money benefiting breast cancer awareness. Jim Kauffman put his mind to winning this year, and we rallied behind him in support. We helped raise $127,000 and secured him as the Big Man On Campus.

RADFORD

Radford brothers gather in front of the chapter house for a group photo.

At the start of the semester, we raised $438 to send to the American Red Cross for Haiti Relief. We have begun our first of many fundraisers, and we believe it is going to be a great success.

RHODE ISLAND

Brothers gather in the Spring of 2010.

Eric Fox and Scott Frechette have worked to set up an account with Omega Financial Group.

Keeping in contact with alumni was another issue, but we have worked hard to get back in touch with them. Brendan Hummel stepped into the "BB" role, and Phil Bowers has accepted a position on the ABT.

RUTGERS

Brothers at their annual "DodgeThis!" dodge ball tournament.

We continue to make significant strides in establishing ourselves as one of the premier fraternities on campus. In November, we hosted our annual "DodgeThis!" dodge ball tournament with Alpha Chi Omega. All the proceeds were split between The V Foundation and Woman Aware, a charitable organization aimed at bringing awareness and support to victims of domestic violence. We raised more than $2,000.

SACRAMENTO COLONY

After pinning a founding father class of 24, we continued to grow with the successfully pinning of nine men as our alpha class, despite the university not enrolling any new students for the spring 2010 semester.

We were able to attain highest GPA on campus, beating out all other fraternities.

SOUTH DAKOTA STATE

On Jan. 9, 15 brave men participated in our annual tradition of winter camping. This event occurs at Oakwood State Park during the middle of winter in three small, cozy cabins. Jeff Hughes, Mark York, and Ben Wise built a quintzee hut out of snow to spend the night in. Other activities included a bonfire, story-telling and snow fights.

Tanner Pruess and Jason Bellrichard placed first and second, respectively, in the intramural 8-ball pool tournament.

Brothers gather at a basketball game.

SOUTHEAST MISSOURI STATE

We had our V Foundation Philanthropy on Feb. 6 with the sororities participating in a dodgeball tournament. Alpha Chi Omega came in third, Gamma Phi Beta second and Alpha Delta Pi took home the gold. We were able to raise about $475 from the event.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

The new chapter house basketball court.

During winter break, we invested in a major renovation project in the front yard of the house. The improvements included a sports court complete with a basketball court, a new barbecue patio, a re-created brick walkway leading to the entrance of the house and revamped letters on the house's front exterior.

The sport court was a good recruitment tool. We have created teams of three for 3x3 tournaments among members. We also hosted the 3x3 for Jimmy V philanthropy before spring break.

SYRACUSE

One of our members has been appointed to the IFC Judicial Board, which supervises all Greek disciplines. We have participated in all of the on-campus philanthropies as well as Greek Week.

We will also have our annual philanthropy, the "D-Chi Cup" Broom-ball Tournament, which we expect to be larger than ever.

TARLETON

Our formal is at the end of April, and we plan on having a great alumni turnout. We are going to try to start a new, campus-wide annual Paintball Tournament.

TRI-STATE

Brothers standing in the basement of our new house.

In April, we had our biggest event of the year. It was the 41st annual Alumni Weekend. Our new house was not quite finished, but we received a special permit that allowed us to have a gathering on that Friday night for all of the visiting alumni.

In the fall 2010, we will be changing living quarters. After living for years in houses built in the 1800s, we will be getting our new house. The house will sleep up to 26 with lofts approved by the State of Indiana.

As of the fall 2010, we have decided to institute a new system for deciding who lives in-house. Seniority will be determined by level of chapter or campus involvement. The new system will look at GPA, philanthropy hours, organizations on campus and positions held.

UNLV

This spring, we secured the intramural basketball championship trophy against all other Greek organizations. There was good competition, but none stood up to the challenge we presented.

VIRGINIA COMMONWEALTH

The chapter gathers for a Delta Chi basketball game.

A week after the catastrophic earthquake hit Haiti, AJ Meissgeier and Eugene Bednov traveled to the tragedy-stricken country to help. The two scrambled to devise a plan and raised a little more than $700 in less than four days.

Eight days in Haiti and countless years of medical experience as members of the National Guard led both Meissgeier and Bednov to help more than 1,000 patients at the Centre Du Diagnostic Treatment Ingre-Hospital Sacre-Coeu on the island. They participated in many emergency surgeries that included amputations, orthopedic surgeries and external fixations.

And the money they personally raised helped pay some of the hospital's employee salaries, some of which hadn't been paid in two weeks.

WEST GEORGIA

Last fall, we hosted our third annual Family Day, where we provided lunch and a tour of the house to our parents. The day had a fantastic turnout and was a great experience for everyone.

WESTERN MICHIGAN

In March, we had our annual powder puff football tournament to raise money for The V Foundation. This event is also a lot of fun. We are currently planning an alumni and undergraduate golf outing for this summer. We also decided to volunteer our time at the local Loaves and Fishes food bank.

WILLIAM & MARY

Brothers and sweetheart at our bidding ceremony.

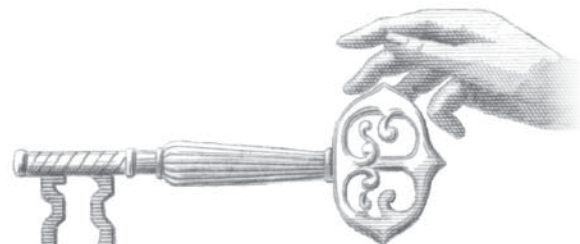

Our winter term began with the annual dance party, Delta Chisland, a tropical-themed party hot enough to melt the blanket of snow covering campus. We held our dance party in our fraternity unit and had about 250 people come.

WINDSOR

Justin Maranger being pied.

In January 2010, we had an event to increase awareness of The V Foundation. "Pie-A-Delta-Chi" was organized to be held over two days, using our members to promote the importance of cancer research. Throughout the day, we were walking through the University commons in search of donors wishing to "Pie-A-Delta-Chi." The event was a success, and we raised money and awareness for The V Foundation on our campus.

ABRACADABRA

Noah Stern speaking to a rally gathered in protest against the budget cuts.

On April 13, Noah Stern became the third Delta Chi to be President of the Associated Students of The University of California since our rechartering. Following in the footsteps of Oren and Jesse Gabriel, Stern ran an excellent campaign with the Student Action party, on the platform of student advocacy, expanding student services, and improving campus community and student life. He won with 5,502 votes, beating his closest competitor by 640 votes.

We are also pleased to have Joey Freeman, one of this semester's associate members, representing us and stepping into Stern's shoes as a senator, continuing the legacy of Delta Chi leadership for future years. Joey ran an excellent campaign in his own right with the aid of his associate member class, who managed to find time during their busy semester to campaign for their new brother.

ALABAMA

Spring was a great term for us as we initiated four new members. We appreciate our alumni for their generosity, as we were able renovate the house to make it look presentable in time for our Indian Party and a band party thrown for our alumni.

Our alumni band party was a huge success, as members from the late 1970's and early 1980's came and enjoyed free food and good music. The event allowed active brothers to meet guys who have been through the chapter and be entertained by their stories of experiences in the fraternity. Some alumni also enjoyed the stories about the active brothers' experiences. A few weeks later, we had the Indian party, our big party of the spring. We gave the annual Indian Princess award to the beautiful Emily Glass, an Alpha Delta Pi sorority member.

We also had academic success. Two brothers were inducted into the Order of Omega honor society, and one of them received the Most Outstanding Junior Award. At the same time, one of our younger brothers was inducted into the Order of Alpha honor society.

ALBERTA

We recently hosted our second annual Delta Chi 500 food drive, where we succeeded in raising more than our goal of 700 pounds of food. The winning team was led by Adam Risling and the ladies of Pi Beta Phi.

Alain Lachappelle nearly single-handedly organized the Region 1 Regional Leadership Conference, which was incredibly successful.

We recently set up a new Housing Corporation, which is being run by the ABT and, specifically, Tony Kurian. Marcus Erlandson was a recipient of the Borelli Family Leadership award with distinction this year. Zahir Shivji and Guillermo Recinos-Melendez entered into the Order of Omega.

APPALACHIAN STATE

We have gone through some tough times during the past few semesters. However, we have overcome these struggles and are making a strong comeback on campus. We were forced to have a late rush due to our probation, yet we still initiated five new members. This semester, we coordinated a successful Alumni golf tournament, a date auction benefiting The V Foundation and started a new philanthropy event similar to Earth Ball that we adopted from the Florida Chapter.

ARIZONA

Over the summer months, many changes occurred at the chapter house, as the main bathrooms were completely remodeled. The remodel included new tile, shower restructuring, new stalls, toilets, urinals, sinks, faucets, countertops, mirrors, windows and more. Some members who stayed in Tucson for summer classes helped with the demolition process to help cut costs and put individual pride into the house. The remodel was funded through a small group of alumni who wanted the house to improve. The bathrooms were original to the house, which was built in the 1960's. We hope the new bathrooms will allow for a cleaner and more functional facility. Future house projects are expected to take place in the coming years with the continued help of the alumni and active dues.

We have grown to more than 130 members, which helps make us one of the biggest on campus. Homecoming is set for October 22, and we anticipate a sizable gathering of alumni to see the updated house for the first time.

ARIZONA STATE

We participated in multiple community service events. At Relay for Life we not only participated, but also helped coordinate the event. We also helped set up a dinner for the Special Olympics. According to the head manager, we were the best aides they have had in their Arizona group in the past 16 years.

AUBURN

We were successful in recruiting nine new associate members in the spring, which is our personal best in recent memory and the second largest among all Greek letter fraternities. All of our members are involved in at least one student or professional organization on campus. The bottom floor of the house was just completely remodeled by the brothers, with funding from the Alumni Control Board, and brings a fresh look to a house that has been in Delta Chi for the last 29 years.

However, our progress shone most brightly when it came to philanthropic efforts. We participated in Relay for Life, the Delta Zeta Skeet Shoot, and Philanthropic challenge. Our largest event of the term however was the third annual Delta Chi Casino Night. The Casino Night raised more than $2,500 with more donations still coming in. More than 120 people attended the fundraiser, making it the largest event in recent years.

BINGHAMTON

We again had our annual philanthropy event, Miss Aphrodite. Alpha Xi Delta co-hosted the event with us and, with their help, we raised $600 for The V Foundation.

This was also the first year we participated in Greek God, an annual bodybuilding competition between fraternities. Participating in the event required us to pool our resources and time in order to put forth our best effort.

CAL POLY

We had a successful Alumni Weekend turnout with more than 50 brothers partaking in the events. We also had our annual golf tournament at the five star Cypress Ridge Golf Course in Arroyo Grande. Others enjoyed wine tasting at three popular wineries in Paso Robles. In the evening, we had a dinner party with a live music performance by some of our Alumni and their band, which were a big hit.

As for philanthropy, we revived our all-sorority kick ball tournament where all proceeds went to The V Foundation. The event was a great success, and everyone had a lot of fun participating in the competition. With a strong spring rush, we initiated 13 quality members.

This fall we have an assortment of brotherhood, alumni and philanthropy events planned. We look forward to supporting our Aggie football team take on Cal, one of the biggest games in the program's history. We hope to see all our alumni come out to the Second Annual Founder's Day Dinner, which will be at the same time as Homecoming.

We will finish the quarter by brightening the holiday season for many children with our fourth annual Toys-4-Tots Philanthropy, which has turned into our largest philanthropy over the past few years.

Davis brothers on a hiking trip.

EASTERN WASHINGTON

We recently celebrated our fourth anniversary and things have never looked better. Alumni involvement has increased, we've raised more than $350 for The V Foundation and some other small organizations, and are working hard to meet and surpass the benchmarks set by headquarters.

FLORIDA

Brothers participated in a Dance Marathon for The Children's Miracle Network.

Robert Wiggenghorn received the Interfraternity Council Merit Scholarship, Daniel Dean served as an Election Commissioner for student government elections, Daniel Thompson was a member of the General Council for the Unite Party (the dominating political party on campus), Antonio Renda was elected president of Chi Epsilon, the honors engineering society, Tuan Nguyen was elected to serve on the Executive Board for Florida Alternative Breaks, and Zach Fyne was elected to serve on the Executive Board for the Gator Sports Management Club. Alumnus Don Turk, Florida '68, was tapped as an alumnus into Florida Blue Key, one of the most prestigious societies on campus.

Philanthropically, we won first place in both Greek Week and the Greek Blood Drive. Also, many of us stood for 26.2 hours for Dance Marathon, which ultimately raised more than $517,000 dollars for The Children's Miracle Network. We also worked with Christians Concerned for the Community to complete a service project for the betterment of the Gainesville community.

FRESNO COLONY

Newly initiated Fresno brothers.

Last semester was the first for Delta Chi on campus. We succeeded with 15 dedicated Founding Fathers who were initiated by members from the Cal Poly chapter.

We had the privilege of having Delta Chi alumni close to us to aid us in our way to success. Another large accomplishment was finding a property to start our house. We also worked diligently in planning everything for fall 2010 recruitment, along with our first philanthropy to raise money for The V Foundation.

FULLERTON

Spirited brothers celebrating their hard work after a successful Greek Week!

Philanthropy, one of our main concerns for the semester, ended on a high note. We participated in Relay for Life, raising more than $1,400, and we won the Mrs. Relay challenge. In the same week, we raised more than $2,500 for our school's philanthropy, Camp Titan, placing third among fraternities. We also had our second annual dodge ball tournament, where all sororities participated and competed in an effort to raise money for The V Foundation.

We also hosted an alumni event in an effort to try to establish an official ABT and House Corporation by the end of the year. It was a very successful barbecue with more than 20 alumni in attendance.

GANNON

We were involved with a few community service functions such as Greek Service Day and Greek Day of Caring, giving us a great opportunity to give back to our community.

Our main philanthropy event was Relay for Life, and we participated in the event from 1 p.m. to 1 a.m. and helped raise money to continue the fight against cancer. We are currently planning the celebration for our chapter's 40th anniversary and are hoping for a lot of alumni support to make this a wonderful event.

GEORGE MASON

For Relay for life, we walked laps for 24 hours and raised more than $700 dollars to contribute to the fight for cancer. At Mason Day, we are known for traditionally providing the dunk tank for the day-long festivities. The focus of the dunk tank this year was to collect quarters for every pitch thrown to raise money for The V Foundation.

GEORGIA TECH

Chris Quintero and Brian Meier proudly pose with the NIC Award of Distinction.

We won the NIC Award of Distinction for the second time, the first and only Greek chapter to have won this prestigious award twice. In addition, we recently hosted an etiquette dinner at the house for brothers and alumni, and everyone enjoyed the event and found it very helpful. The following weekend, we had our 19th chartering banquet. The weather was beautiful, and we had a low country boil on our deck. For our hard work this year, we won the Greek campus scholarship and leadership awards. To conclude the semester, we hosted our annual three-day party, "Reggae." As the biggest party on campus – and with band Fly By Radio – it was a phenomenal party as usual.

HUNTSVILLE

We graciously helped former "BB" Joe Pickett with the St. Stephens Bistro. We also threw the famous Pirate Party. White Carnation was a huge success as well. We also donated money to a scholarship created to honor the people affected by a campus shooting. We also had a small group participate in the Delta Zeta Golf Tournament.

IDAHO

We were busy last semester with participation in several philanthropies: Delta Gamma Anchor Splash, Pi Beta Phi Volleyball, Gamma Phi Beta Basketball tournament and the Alpha Phi poker tournament, in which we took first place. We also had a highway cleanup near Troy with full house participation. We held our 'Bowling for the V' philanthropy to benefit The V Foundation and raised $540.

We worked hard and initiated 25 new members. On top of excelling in the associate member program, the new members helped move our house GPA above the all-Greek average on campus.

Our "BB", Fred Jessup, has done a magnificent job with operating and organizing our house. Going above and beyond the "BB" duty, Jessup did things such as fixing electrical problems, organizing a great financial budget, motivating everyone to strive for excellence and helping the transition of new officers.

KETTERING-A

We initiated five new members and three alumni. A visit from the leadership consultant helped us shore up our gaps, and Grant Gunther has been extremely committed to exponentially expanding our philanthropy program. Our capable and eager underclassmen have already stepped into leadership positions. The ice cream bar built by our associate members will attract even more members to the events of our rapidly-expanding chapter. Tried-and-true events like the famous LAN Party and Kokomo's, and new events like the Alumni Zoo trip, will build strong bonds between new members and old.

MARSHALL

Brothers on a weekend ski trip up to Canaan Valley Ski Resort.

Brotherhood chair Ryan O'Dell planned some great activities for us during the spring semester, such as dinner and a movie nights and poker night. Our highlight of the semester was a weekend ski trip up to Canaan Valley Ski Resort in Davis, WV. It was a nice way to ease our minds and get a chance to really connect and learn about each other as brothers. Several older brothers were new to the sport, so it gave the new members a chance to teach them something. By the end of the trip we were all exhausted from the slopes but we left with some unforgettable memories.

LEHIGH COLONY

Spring semester began with an infusion of new leadership into key positions. We set out to establish a strong initiative to recruit our first freshman Associate Member class, improve our community service and establish traditions for the future of the fraternity, all in the quest of our ultimate goal to receive our charter.

Our recruitment program was in full swing from the first day of the semester. We began with an open house designed to introduce potential new members to the fraternity. We came away from recruitment with 10 new members.

The community service program began with an ambitious goal to surpass 220 hours of service, a feat that would exceed both our previous semester's goals and results. We held many events that ranged from serving as waiters and preparers at the university parish's dinner events to successfully participating in and completing two cleanup initiatives. Our community service hours totaled just more than 300, well ahead of our goal.

MARQUETTE

We welcomed 14 new members and took part in three fundraising activities – hosting two spaghetti dinners and a pig roast with Triangle Fraternity. We also had the pleasure of attending socials with Alpha Xi Delta and Alpha Phi. Formal took place on April 30 with the members ending the school year on a high note.

MASSACHUSETTS COLONY

UMass Colony Beta Class with their impressive class project.

We now have 35 initiated members. Our Delta Chi "Spread The Love" Carnation Sale was a great success, raising $200 for The V Foundation and Hope for Haiti. We participated in Winterfest at the Cherry Hill Golf Course, where we helped with running the community event. We also had an extremely successful Relay For Life 2010, where we surpassed our goal of raising $1,000 and had support from undergraduate members and alumni. The colony also sent seven brothers to the Regional Leadership Conference at Cornell.

MINNESOTA

With more than 118 years of history, we have a massive alumni base. Contacting them has always been a problem, but we have almost tripled our alumni contacts as well as attendance. We initiated 12 new members in the calendar year, bringing our total to 32. We have implemented a summer recruitment program and currently have a goal of 20 new members by the end of fall 2010.

NORTH ALABAMA

Brothers of North Alabama at Associate Member Pinning Ceremony.

We had a successful spring 2010 semester with three major events: Kimball's Crush, Easter Week and Family Day. Kimball's Crush is our annual spring party. The party had excellent attendance from fraternities, sororities and potential members.

Our second annual Easter Week was a series of events to raise money for The V Foundation. We held a week-long Easter egg hunt, a Rock Band tournament and an Earth Ball tournament. Overall, we raised $86 for The V Foundation.

Family Day 2010 was at McFarland Park along the Tennessee River. This day allowed brothers to meet each other's families. Families have the opportunity to gain a better understanding of Delta Chi. The families of 10 brothers attended, with one family driving in from California.

NORTHERN ARIZONA

We are proud to announce the initiation of seven new members this past spring.

For the past months, we have been on a losing streak in sports but recently ended this with a championship in rock climbing. Also, we helped raise more than $900 in the March Madness tournament that supported The V Foundation. Our members are now President of GAMMA (the organization that runs Greek Life) and in charge of Greek Week.

The outside of the house was painted along with other spring renovations.

OHIO STATE COLONY

Brothers perform at the Delta Chi Music Showcase.

On April 29, students joined together for a rocking fight against cancer, helping fund our philanthropic cause, The V Foundation. Delta Chi's Music Showcase to Benefit The V Foundation was a benefit concert of Ohio State musicians to demonstrate their instrumental talents. To fund the night, we asked for a donation at the door and sold food and drinks as well.

This was the first philanthropy event of the quarter. We also put on our quarter toss, which raised almost $400 last year for The V Foundation.

OREGON STATE

The members of the Oregon State chapter have been hard at work from the get go of our spring term. The majority of our efforts have been invested heavily into our school's Mom's Weekend.

The remainder of our time was focused squarely on our spring term philanthropy for The V Foundation for cancer research. Our hard work paid off as we raised nearly one thousand dollars for The V Foundation, the largest our chapter has raised yet! We are excited to be able to contribute to such an outstanding organization, and we plan on raising even more money in the upcoming year.

OSHKOSH

We recruited the largest associate member class on campus. We also participated in many community service events such as Hands on Oshkosh, Alpha Xi Delta Step up to Autism and many Earth Week activities. To end it all, we celebrated those accomplishments at our White Carnation Formal.

PITTSBURGH

We had an excellent semester that included celebrating the Chapter's Fifth Year Chartering Event and winning the University of Pittsburgh's Cathedral Cup for best fraternity on campus.

The weekend of March 27 was a busy, yet fulfilling, time for us. The Fifth Year Chartering Event consisted of a formal dinner with guest speakers including “AA” Tom Horowitz, “BB” Dr. Timothy Corcoran, Greek Life Coordinator Summer Rothrock, Chapter Academic Adviser Cheryl Paul and founders Peter Stopp and John Martin.

As a capstone to the semester, we won the prestigious Cathedral Cup Award for the fourth year in a row, a campus record. The fraternity that wins must be a positive contributor to the Greek and general community while maintaining strong academics and philanthropy. In addition to many other campus awards, we won Best Overall GPA. We have contributed more than 1,000 hours of community service, from Habitat for Humanity to Adopt-A-Block and raised $630 for The V Foundation.

RHODE ISLAND

Two members were elected to the university’s Inter-Fraternity Council. Matthew Finan was elected IFC president, and Nick Mulhern was elected IFC events and programming coordinator. They hope to spread a positive image for Delta Chi by accepting leadership positions in the council and working hard to accomplish the tasks they are given.

On Saturday, May 1, alumni organized a softball game for current members and alumni. Some, including ABT President Greg Markowitz, made the trip from as far as New Jersey to attend. It was a great way for current members and alumni to interact, and all that participated in the game had a great time.

SACRAMENTO COLONY

After initiating eight new members, the Alpha class eagerly aided us during our first Greek Week. Despite only placing in the top three in two events, competing in football, soccer, softball and Greek Sing helped us build brotherhood and made everyone hungry for victory next year.

In an effort to reach our goal to be top chapter on campus, we continued to make our presence felt by placing second in Phi Sigma Sigma’s annual philanthropy, “Rack-em’ Up.” Our first philanthropy toward the end of the semester, “24 Hour Shoot-Out,” caused quite a buzz.

Brothers gather for a group photo.

In the spring we planned three large events. First, the annual Polar Plunge took place on St. Patrick’s Day. Then our annual Canoe Trip occurred on April 17th with eight brave men. The men navigated through difficult obstacles, including barbed-wire and low bridges. Finally, our Spring Formal occurred on April 10th. We traveled to Morton, MN, where the chapter and alumni gathered with awards handed out, including the Borelli Family Leadership Award with Distinction to Michael Kendall.

SOUTHEAST MISSOURI

With our philanthropy, formal, Greek Week, intramurals and Dad’s Weekend, the spring semester was a blast.

Philanthropically, every other year we host a kickball tournament for the sororities around campus. However, this year we changed it up to be a dodgeball tournament. Alpha Chi Omega won the bronze, with Gamma Phi Beta taking the silver and Alpha Delta Pi taking the gold.

We then had our White Carnation Ball in Cape Girardeau, Mo. Although it stormed, the men had a wonderful night with their dates and the alumni who came. With other annual activities that we have, our Dad’s Weekend was a great time with a lot of memories. We had a dinner on Friday night with a pig roast on Saturday afternoon.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

With the final completion of the sports court in the front yard of the house, we paved our way to building the future for another 100 years on the row. The outdoor upgrade includes a sports court complete with a basketball court, a new stainless steel barbecue and patio, a recreated brick walkway leading into the house’s entrance and revamped letters on the front exterior.

This past term saw a rise in the chapter’s GPA for the third straight semester. We excelled academically and ranked toward the top of the Greek system’s fraternity grade point average.

The members and alumni congregated in downtown LA to gather for the Chapter’s 100th anniversary ceremony and dinner. We celebrated our annual formal event in Las Vegas in April. We brought dates to stay at Planet Hollywood on the strip and celebrated in style in luxurious Las Vegas.

STEPHEN F. AUSTIN

We had our first ever Kile West Alumni Challenge on April 24. The Kile West Foundation was created in honor of our fallen brother, Kile West, who died in 2007 while serving in the Iraq War. More than 15 alumni showed up to the event. Both the members and alumni had an amazing time seeing new faces as well as old and competing in a number of team sports. The chapter raised and donated more than $600 to the foundation.

We plan on being completely debt free after the summer and look forward to strong recruitment.

SOUTH FLORIDA

We began the semester by involving ourselves in many road side clean-ups around campus to help clean up the community. In the midst of the road side clean-ups, we participated in Alpha Omicron Pi's annual kickball tournament, where we placed first for the second year in a row. We also participated in Zeta Tau Alpha's Fashion Show, where we placed third and Kappa Delta's Lifestyles of the Greek and Famous, where we won Most Authentic Performance.

This semester was particularly important for us as we had our inaugural Lady of the Leges philanthropy. With the involvement of several sororities, alumni and family members, we were able to raise more than $5,000 for The V Foundation, which put us well over our goal. This was an important day, because it was also the celebration of our 10th chartering anniversary.

UNLV

Jon Goldman was elected Student Body President. Fall semester is going to be intense, and we are concentrating and focusing our energy to make it another spectacular semester.

VIRGINIA COMMONWEALTH

CANstruction, VCU Greek Week 2010. Delta Chi amassed the most cans and won the event.

After initiating 11 men from the fall 2009 Associate Member class, we had the most active members in our 20-year history and were the biggest fraternity on campus.

Despite a January blizzard that buried half of the state, we continued to make spring plans – Homecoming, Greek Week, our annual Jimmy V Week and Chapter Formal – with no delay. Two weekends of “Homecoming” were a result of the snow. We finished in second place during Greek Week. Our second annual Jimmy V “3-on-3” Basketball Tournament saw more teams than last year in VCU's new, state-of-the-art gym. Also, formal brought out the most members at a single event, including current and former “BB”s Aaron Gilbert and Jeremy Rosen.

We closed the semester with the overall best Chapter Management award and saw several individual accolades, including the William R. Auchmoody Chapter Advisor of the Year Award to Gilbert, the University Emerging Leader award to “A” Eliano Younes, and VCU's “Who's Who” award to Member-at-Large Brandon Jeune. With 12 newly initiated members in the Spring – seven Associate Members and five Alumni Initiates – we can now shift our focus to the 20-year anniversary this upcoming October.

WASHINGTON STATE

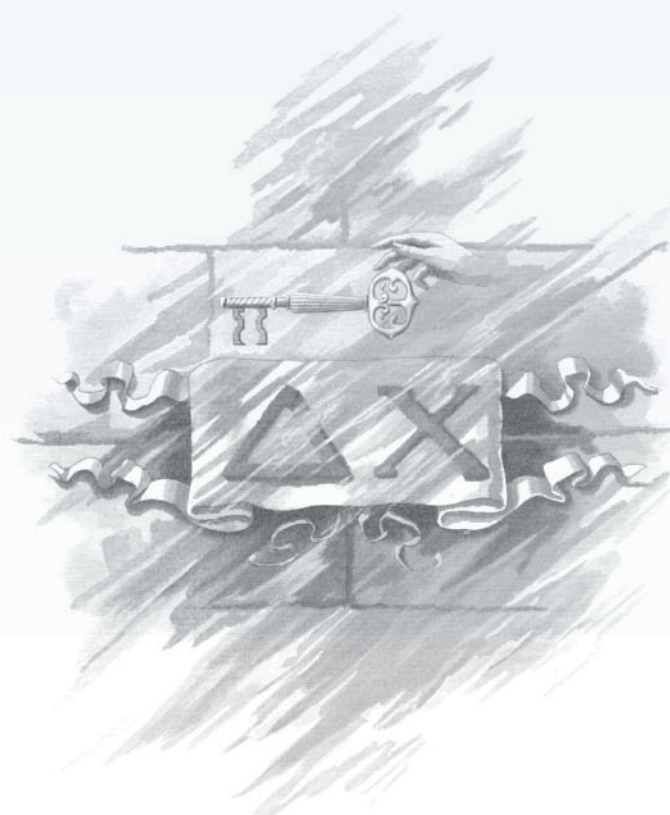

We initiated our 10 fall associate members and are proud of the improvements they helped us make to our house.

Not only has the structure of our house been helped greatly this year, but we have had some dedicated members give our basement a new look by painting the chapter room and other various rooms. Recently many alumni traveled here and have been amazed at the improvements we have made.

During our Mom's weekend events, we managed to raise money from the parents. We plan to use that money for summer recruiting to keep a strong group of men coming in to represent our house.

WEST GEORGIA

This past April, we had our third annual Alumni Day. We initiated four fathers and had a cook out for lunch in our new house in the Greek Village.
